WRECK KILLED TWENTY-NINE

Sixty Others Also Hurt by Railroad Collision in Missouri.

EN ROUTE TO FAIR

Freight Train Crashes Into a Passenger Going to St. Louis.

BUTLER COUNTY MAN DEAD

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WARRENSBURG, MO., Oct. 10.—Twenty-nine persons were killed and 60 injured, by a head-end collision of Missouri Pacific trains, three miles east of Warrensburg today. The trains were the second section of a passenger train from Wichita for St. Louis, and an extra freight train. Most of the dead were residents of Missouri and Kansas, as are the injured.

THE DEAD:

MRS. A. J. DARSK and 12-year-old son Gilbert, Dexter, Kan.
W. H. ALLEN and two sons, Baird and Francis, Pittsburgh, Kan.
DORSEY GREEN, Pennsboro, Mo.
T. F. DORRES, Bronaugh, Mo.
A. D. Kane, Pittsburgh, Kan.
DOLLIE SULLIVAN, Cedarville, Kan.
T. H. ALLEY, Cedarville, Kan.
G. A. WEBER, Forestville, Butler county, Pennsylvania.
DICY REAM, Bronaugh, Mo.
CAL REAM, Bronaugh, Mo.
GERTRUDE LOUD, Bronaugh, Mo.
CLARENCE, OLLIE AND JESSIE HERRING, Coffeyville, Kan.
DR. H. P. M'ILHENEY, Kingman, Kan.
BESSIE M'ILHENEY, Kingman, Kan.
MRS. SUSAN COOPER, Kingman Kan.
MISS NELLIE SULLIVAN, Cedarville, Kan.
PHIL WRAGEL, wife and son, Edna, Kan.
HARRY CARR, Sedan, Kan.
JOHN SEIDL, brakeman, Jefferson City, Missouri.
MRS. J. J. CASSMENT, Sedan, Kan.
JOSIE GREGG, Sedan, Kan.

The passenger train, consisting of two day coaches, a Pullman and a caboose, was loaded with world's fair excursionists from southeastern Kansas and southwestern Missouri. The Wichita passenger train had been cut in two at Pleasant Hill, on account of the heavy load, and a locomotive attached to the front car without a baggage car as a buffer. The extra freight had been sidetracked at Moutserrat for the first section of the Wichita train, which carried signals that a second section was following. A local passenger train passed and the freight crew took the local for the second section of the Wichita train, and pulled out of the sidetrack. Three miles west the freight met the second section.

The impact telescoped the tender of the passenger locomotive and the front car, which was full of passengers, and it was here that the sacrifice of life took place. The passenger conductor, E. L. Barnes, ran all the way to Warrensburg to report the wreck. Every physician in Warrensburg and hundreds of citizens hastened to the wreck to assist the wounded. Twenty persons were killed outright and nine died within a few hours.

The dead were placed on flat cars and brought to Warrensburg. A coroner's jury is now seeking the person responsible for the wreck.

T. C. Dressel, postmaster at Eastonville, Kan., was taken out from under a heap of seven bodies suffering only a broken leg. F. N. Cunningham of Mannington, W. Va., was lacerated about the head.

PARKER DEMOCRATS' MOSES.

Bryan Hopes Man So Slow of Speech Will Lead Democrats Out of Wilderness.

CHILLICOTHE, MO., Oct. 10.—William J. Bryan addressed a meeting here this afternoon. Having been introduced as "The man who would some day be president of the United States," Mr. Bryan said he used to think he would be president, and that he was the Moses of the Democratic party.

"But I don't think so now," he said. "Moses, you know, was as slow of speech, and the Lord selected Aaron as His speechmaker. I believe I am the Aaron rather than the Moses of Democracy. I am willing to be the Aaron of the party, if our Moses, who has been so slow of speech, will but lead the people out of the wilderness."

AL. ADAMS FREE TODAY.

His Son Declares the Father Is Done Forever With All Forms of Gambling.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(Special.)—After having served one year and a half in prison for being a common gambler, Albert J. Adams, the former "policy king," who through the help of his friends has accumulated more than $1,000,000 by his real estate operations during the time he has been in prison, will walk out of Sing Sing prison tomorrow a free man.

His son, Alfred J. Adams, Jr., who is a lawyer, says his father will live in New York and devote his whole time and energy to developing his property interests. He is forever done, his son declares, with all forms of gambling.

President Receives Pittsburgh Woman.

Washington, Oct. 10.—President Roosevelt today received Miss Anna Kruse, principal of the Brommer school of Stockholm; Fröken Lilian Solomon of Stockholm and Mrs. C. M. F. Reed of Pittsburgh. Miss Kruse is studying educational conditions in this country as a representative of the Swedish government.

Roosevelt Will Carry Connecticut.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Representative Burton of Ohio, chairman of the house committee on rivers and harbors, has returned to New York from a speaking trip in Connecticut. Said he: "You may remove Connecticut from the list of doubtful states."

Ripping Up a Boulevard That Cost Over a Million

ROBERT J. WYNNE SUCCEEDS PAYNE

UNEARTHED POSTAL FRAUDS

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 10.

Robert J. Wynne was appointed postmaster general by the president today, to succeed the late Henry C. Payne, being promoted from the office of first assistant. He will hold the office until Chairman Cortelyou is ready to take the place. He will probably then return to his old position. This advancement to full cabinet honors is the outgrowth of the great postoffice scandal of a year ago, and a direct recognition of Mr. Wynne's boldness and persistence in demanding the investigation.

Early in the spring of last year Mr. Wynne, having become thoroughly convinced and firm in his position, laid the matter before Postmaster General Payne and then went to the White House and said to Mr. Roosevelt: "Mr. President, I am at the head of the most corrupt bureau, official or unofficial, in this country. I doubt if there is one more corrupt in all the world. It must be investigated. I have seen the documents to convince me and I do not take a position too strong when, as head of the bureau, I demand an investigation."

The president at once gave his famous "go to the bottom" order. Mr. Bristow, the department "sleuth," was put on the trail and a thoroughly organized body of official corruptionists was unearthed, removed from office and brought to trial.

Robert J. Wynne, although born in New York, is credited to Pennsylvania, having lived in that state before he came to Washington as a newspaper correspondent. He is the third newspaper man to serve as postmaster general, the others being Frank Hatton and Charles Emory Smith. Mr. Hatton was also promoted from the first assistant's office.

CARNEGIE DOES NOT APPEAR TO TRY A LABOR LEADER

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Ten of the 12 men who are to decide on the guilt or innocence of Philip Weinseimer, a labor leader who is on trial on a charge of extortion, were seated in the jury box when Judge Newburger adjourned his part of general sessions court this afternoon.

Andrew Carnegie's name was on the list of special talesmen who had been drawn, and in response to a notice sent to his house his secretary wrote to Judge Newburger that Mr. Carnegie was in Scotland and would not sail for this country until next Friday.

THOUGHT IT REAL ROBBERY.

COLORADO SPRINGS, COL., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—W. N. Selig of Chicago was shot at several times and finally struck in the arm by a tourist, who thought a stage robbery was being committed, while a moving picture outfit was taking pictures of a stage coach robbery, using an old Leadville coach filled with men and women.

At a turn in the road near the suburbs a wagon with several tourists came into view. While the mail bags were being handed down, one of the tourists opened fire with a small pistol. The stage occupants tought the tourists belonged in the play and paid no attention to them, until Mr. Selig felt a bullet striking his arm.

DELAWARE REPUBLICANS REACH AN AGREEMENT

WILMINGTON, DEL., Oct. 10.—The Regular Republicans and the Union or Addicks Republicans this evening agreed upon Preston Lee of this city as their candidate for governor, in place of the men nominated by their respective conventions. The two factions will attempt to agree on the remainder of the state ticket on Wednesday.

BEIT IS TO RIVAL ANDREW CARNEGIE

Will Give Millions of Pounds for Schools in South Africa and England.

IS RICHEST SELF-MADE MAN

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Alfred Beit, the great South African diamond and gold king, and the richest self-made man in the world, will follow the example of Andrew Carnegie, and devote a portion of his wealth to the people.

He will devote his efforts to education, mainly in South Africa and England. The first donation has been made to Johannesburg, where Mr. Weit has presented the government an estate valued at $500,000, which is to be devoted to educational purposes. It is said he purposes giving millions of pounds sterling toward the perfection of an educational system in British South Africa, from whence his enormous wealth is drawn. He has also offered Lord Rosebery $1,000,000 toward the foundation of a great technological institute in London, and this will be followed by other gifts.

Alfred Beit.

Mr. Beit was born in Hamburg in 1853 and has made his fabulous fortune in the last 25 years. He was a merchant's son in Hamburg. About the time he was going into the business the commerce with the young South African town of Kimberley promised such development that his firm sent him there to investigate. He was then 22 years of age.

He found a city of madmen. Illicit diamond buying had grown to scandalous proportions. The young German saw a state of affairs which, if not remedied, would compel him to report unfavorably on the credit of the new district.

He undertook a work which is usually attributed wholly to Cecil Rhodes, who did not go into the district until some years afterward—the work of first combining and then systematizing the diamond mining industry.

STARTED RUN ON A BANK.

Commercial Failure Made Some Trouble for a Big Canton Institution.

CANTON, O., Oct. 10.—Rumor that the Dime Savings bank carried a large amount of commercial paper of the embarrassed Aultman company, started a run on the bank at the opening hour today. The bank denies the rumor and says it carries no commercial paper and never held any business relations with the Aultman company.

About 12,000 accounts are carried and individual deposits were about $800,000. All who demanded their money were paid as fast as books could be balanced and at closing time at 8 p. m., the crisis seemed to have passed. At times during the day there were several hundred people lined up in front of the windows.

MANY GOLD DEMOCRATS WILL SUPPORT ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Maj. John Byrne, who in the past two presidential campaigns was president of the Gold Democratic Honest Money league, has just returned from an extended trip through Northern New York. He said: "Roosevelt is very strong among the Republicans and at least 50 per cent of the Gold Democrats of '96 and 1900 will stay with us."

QUAKER CITY IS GOBBLING STOCK

MAY ELECT NEW DIRECTOR

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Press Building.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 10.

The announcement made in The Gazette this morning that Philadelphia capitalists are securing a firmer hold upon the Philadelphia Company of Pittsburgh can be reiterated on the highest authority. The stock of that big corporation is flowing steadily and rapidly to this city.

It is probable the shareholders in Philadelphia will elect another director at an early date. Only recently George H. Earle, Jr., president of the finance company, was made a director of the Philadelphia Company. More recently still, the large amount of bonds of that company owned by the late W. L. Elkins were sold to a syndicate of capitalists here headed by Brown Brothers. It is understood that $2,000,000 of these bonds were taken here. Moreover, the stock of the company, if the Elkins estate owned any, has also been transferred to Philadelphia capitalists.

A banker who is not represented on the Philadelphia Company board has in his office 75,000 shares of the stock. It is this stock that is likely soon to name a director.

United Gas Improvement officials still insist that their company is not negotiating for the lease or purchase of the Philadelphia Company. It is recognized by President Dolan that the Philadelphia Company, which controls a large part of the street railway, natural gas and electric lighting business in and about Pittsburgh, would be a valuable acquisition for his own corporation to make.

The very large block of stock in the Philadelphia Electric Company owned by several United Gas Improvement officials, makes it possible that this is the concern which President Dolan's company is seeking. If Philadelphia Electric were abolished, it would put all the gas and electric lighting business in Philadelphia under one control.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

ELECTED FRICK DIRECTOR.

Pittsburgher Is Made a Member of the Boards of the Three Reading Companies.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Henry Clay Frick of Pittsburgh, was today elected a director of the Reading Company, the Philadelphia & Reading Railway Company and the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company, to succeed the late John Lowber Welsh.

It is believed Mr. Frick is one of the largest individual stockholders of Reading, his holdings being estimated at between 50,000 and 60,000 shares. He is also a large stockholder in Pennsylvania. H. McK. Twombly was chosen a member of the railway company in place of Henry Pratt McKean, who was elected a member of the Coal & Iron Company board to succeed his brother, Thomas McKean.

SON OF CYRUS W. FIELD IS CHARGED WITH THEFT

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(Special.)—With unkempt hair and torn, old clothes, Edward M. Field, a son of the late Cyrus W. Field, whose company in Wall street once failed for $2,000,000, was arraigned in the Center street police court today, before Magistrate Barlow, charged with stealing an overcoat valued at $30, and was held in $1,000 bail for further examination tomorrow.

Pittsburgh Company Incorporated.

DOVER, DEL., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—A certificate of incorporation was filed here today for the J. Kowalsky Engine Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., to manufacture and deal in gasoline engines, gas engines and other like machines. Incorporators: C. R. Brinton, C. L. Drake, Pittsburgh, Pa., J. Kowalsky, Verona, Pa. Capital stock, $50,000.

Will Reaffirm Prices.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(Special.)—The bar iron and nut and bolt associations will hold meetings in this city on Thursday of next week. The old price schedules will be reaffirmed. The American Iron and Steel Manufacturing Company is the largest producers of nuts and bolts in the country.

WORK STARTED ON BOULEVARD

Philadelphia Company Interests Commence New Traction Line.

RAILS READY TO LAY

SETTLE WITH VERNER LATER

Work was started yesterday on the construction of a traction line on the Grant boulevard and before nightfall the excavation for a block had been in large part completed. Rails and ties were delivered at the place and track-laying will follow closely the working of excavation.

The statement was made frankly by President J. H. Reed of the Philadelphia Company last evening, that the work is being done by those interests. Technically the "Grant & Liberty Street Railway Company," the chartered name of the company to which city franchises were freely granted, is the constructing company, but the formality of increasing its capital stock and issuing bonds to meet the cost has never been carried out. The money to do the work is coming from the Philadelphia Company.

"Before the work is completed it is likely that there will have been reached an agreement between the Verner syndicate and the Philadelphia Company, which will be satisfactory," said Judge Reed. "Now that the heat of the discussion is over it seems to be the part of business men to make a settlement of some kind. Our position we believe to be impregnable. We own the company to which the franchises were granted and have accepted the city ordinances so that we can go through with the work."

Connect at Craig and Center.

It is the purpose of the Philadelphia Company to complete the boulevard line with a double track from Sixth avenue and Grant street through to Craig and Center. There is an extension of Craig street running up to a point of intersection with the boulevard. The line will leave the boulevard there and running along Craig reach the present line of the Pittsburgh Railways Company at Center. The cars over the boulevard line will then continue out the present lines.

The work of constructing the boulevard line started at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, when a force of about 50 men began digging up the street at the foot of Washington street. They made an excavation about a foot and a half deep and eight feet wide. They worked steadily all day and had a block's length excavated before they stopped. The Grant boulevard has a roadway of 40 feet width and the double track will take up at least half of the roadway. The inside track, which will be for the out-bound cars, will lie within two feet of the inside curb and the two tracks will take up 18 feet space of the street, bringing the outside rail in the middle of the roadway, and leaving four feet space between the two tracks.

The Grant boulevard franchise was given under the title of the Grant & Liberty Street Railway Company. The franchise is for a double track along the following streets:

Beginning at Oliver and Liberty avenues, along Oliver avenue to Grant street, along Grant street to Sixth avenue, to Dante alley, to Fountain street, to Seventh avenue, diagonally across Seventh avenue to the Grant boulevard, along the boulevard to Dithridge street, to Center avenue and return, also along Cherry alley from Oliver avenue and Cherry to Liberty avenue, crossing Liberty avenue to Tenth street and along Tenth to the Allegheny river and returning; also from Cherry and Strawberry alleys along Strawberry alley to Liberty and return; also along Cherry alley to Fountain street and return.

It will probably be some time before the line along Grant street and Dante alley can be connected with the boulevard as Dante alley is a narrow thoroughfare only about 20 feet wide. But it is proposed by the administration to widen it and make it an extension of the boulevard to Grant street and Sixth avenue.

Will Form New Company.

There are four of the so-called Verner franchises. The purpose of the Philadelphia Company is to build such parts of these as suit their needs. They will not need to build all the lines for which franchises have been obtained in order to make the new roads fit well into their system and serve additional territory.

Definite plans for the permanent financing of the new lines have not yet been announced, but it is expected that this will be accomplished by the formation of a single new traction company to take over the four companies. The stock of this one company will be held by the Philadelphia Company and the bonds, guaranteed by the Philadelphia Company, are expected to be readily marketable at a good figure. This will furnish the additional capital needed to build the new lines.

Another development yesterday in the traction game was the strong but unsuccessful attempt on the part of Murry A. Verner, Director Bigelow, Mayor Hays, and their lieutenants to get a quorum of select council to withdraw the ordinances of the Pittsburgh Railways Company from the special committee in which they are held by the opposition and to pass them. These ordinances are for downtown loops which are badly wanted by the Pittsburgh Railways Company. The Hall traction syndicate representatives say the loops are not needed by the Pittsburgh Railways Company except to keep the Hall lines off these streets.

Hall Interests Active.

Officers of the Hall syndicate were active yesterday lobbying among the members of select council to prevent a quorum. There were 25 members of select council in the City hall, but only 15 answered the roll call. The absentees were nearly all anti-administration members.

Director Bigelow and Verner both kept close tab on the situation in select council yesterday. They held several confer-

STATE MAY BE LOST BY FRAUD

If Democrats Carry Maryland Will of Majority Will Not Prevail.

NEGRO IS THE ISSUE

FREE CITIZENSHIP A FARCE

Special Telegram from
L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 10.—If the Fifteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States, the provision which gives to the colored man the privileges of citizenship, was observed and respected in letter and spirit, there is not the slightest doubt that Maryland would cast her electoral vote for President Roosevelt in the forthcoming election.

But it is equally certain that the Constitution will not be respected; that thousands of negroes will be disfranchised, and the odds are all in favor of Maryland going for the Democratic ticket. There are Republicans here who are hopeful and there are Democrats who are doubtful, but the indications all point to the election of Democratic electors. The will of a minority of the white people of Maryland will thus prevail; the will of a majority of all the citizens of Maryland will be defeated.

Wonderful Spectacle in Street.

I was standing one evening at a corner on Charles street when a most wonderful spectacle came down the thoroughfare. He was a negro of blackest hue, but his raiment was such as to cast Solomon's glory far into the shade. He wore a silk hat and tan topcoat, his suit was fashionably cut and carefully creased, and white spats partially covered his patent leather shoes. As he pranced along, swinging his walking stick and winning smiles and admiring glances from every colored lady that he passed, this black dandy was certainly a wonderful sight.

I was so dazed by his gorgeousness that it was some moments before I came to the realization that the campaign issue in Maryland had just passed by. But it was true. The whole issue in this state was embodied in the dusky dude, who was copying white folks' fashions and aping white folks' manners.

Party Division of Races.

You are told, when you proceed to investigate conditions in this state, that the Democratic party is the white man's party, and the Republican is the black man's party. This is true, although it does not mean that only negroes are Republicans or that all the whites are Democrats. But it does mean that a majority of the white people are Democrats and a majority of the negroes are Republicans.

It also means that the white men, who are Republican from principle, together with the black men, who are Republicans from a sense of gratitude for their freedom, form a majority of the citizens of the state. This is a fact, recognized and frankly admitted by the Democratic organization of Maryland. This being the case, there is but one means by which the Democracy can hope to remain in power, and that is by disfranchising the negro.

Will Swing State This Way.

And that is the means by which Maryland will be swung into the Democratic column this fall.

Down in South Carolina, in Mississippi, and in other southern states, where the negro population equals or outnumbers the white population, there may be a reasonable, if not a constitutional, excuse for keeping down the negro vote. "Negro domination" is the specter which confronts these people continually, and the white citizens of these far southern states will picture in most horrible terms the results that are bound to follow the ascendency of the colored man in politics. It is a picture that fails to move the northerner greatly, for the reason that he is so far distant from the scene that he cannot fully appreciate the situation. But the southerner, who has lived his whole life in a community where the negroes outnumber the whites, feels that the protection of his home and his rights depends upon keeping the negro out of office, and out of power.

Adopt Stringent Election Laws.

Therefore, the whites adopt stringent election laws that have for their sole purpose the disfranchisement of the colored voter. This may be an invasion of the rights granted the negro by the Constitution, but the white southerner does not consider that a sufficient reason for permitting the negro to become a power in politics.

Now, in Maryland, there exists no such excuse, if there can be any excuse for defeating the ends of the Constitution. In this state there is not the possibility of negro domination. Here the negro is disfranchised solely for the purpose of preventing him from voting the Republican ticket. Maryland's drastic election laws were enacted for the exclusive purpose of strengthening the Democratic party. Last year, out of a total of 275,234 registered voters in the state, 223,067 were white and 52,167 were colored.

Over One-Fifth Negroes.

A little more than one-fifth of the voters of Maryland are negroes. In Baltimore city the proportion is not so great. There were 107,580 voters registered last year, of which 90,865 were white and 16,715 were colored. Thus it will be seen that if every colored voter in the state should ally himself with the Republican party the total would not constitute a majority of even that party. While the negro vote is no doubt the "balance of power," as the Democrats claim, yet there is no possibility of "negro domination" in this state, such as is threatened in states farther south, where the negro voters outnumber the whites. I have asked a dozen men, prominent in politics of both parties, this question: "Is there any danger of the negro dominating the politics of this state, even should all of them be given the opportunity to vote by the repeal of the present election laws?"

Answer Virtually the Same.

There are at present four Republican members of congress, out of a total of six, from Maryland and the Republicans are likely to lose one of their representatives. Sydney E. Mudd of the Fifth district and George E. Pearre of the Sixth are practically sure of re-election. Frank C. Wachter, who lives in a normally Democratic district—the Third—in Baltimore city, but who has been elected to three congresses as a Republican, though by a narrow margin, has a very hard fight on hand this year, and William H. Jackson of the First district will pull through only by a mighty effort. These four congressmen are in the same boat with the national ticket; their election depends upon how many colored voters are disfranchised.

Steps Taken by Democrats.

It is interesting to note the successive steps that the Democrats have taken to disfranchise the colored voters. There has been no subterfuge about it. They have frankly stated that their object was to keep down the colored vote. The Democratic state convention last year adopted this plank in their platform, which leaves no doubt as to the attitude of the party: "We believe that the political destinies of Maryland should be shaped and controlled by the white people of the state, and while we disclaim any purpose to do any injustice whatever to our colored population, we declare without reserve, our resolute purpose to preserve in every conservative and constitutional way, the political ascendancy of our race."

This is quite different from the declaration of the Republican convention of the same year, which declared that "We must put an end to the increasing disfranchisement of many citizens, through accident or fraudulent marks on the ballot."

Some years ago, when the Australian or blanket ballot, was first introduced here, the party tickets were printed separately on the ballot, and at the top of each ticket was a party designation. The likeness of Abraham Lincoln was at the top of the Republican ticket and that of Andrew Jackson headed the Democratic ticket. This was easy for the illiterate negro. There isn't a colored man south of Mason and Dixon's line, and probably not one north of it, who doesn't know the portrait of the great Lincoln. Whatever may be said against the negro, the charge of ingratitude for his release from slavery cannot be laid at his door. A new generation, two of them in fact, has sprung up since the emancipation proclamation was issued, and but few of the former slaves survive.

Thankful for Freedom.

But these succeeding generations preserve a sincere sense of thankfulness for the executive act which made them freemen, and in nearly every negro hovel throughout the south, may be found a picture of the great emancipator. Therefore, it required no mental strain for the colored voter to make out a straight Republican ticket. He need not be able to read or write. All he had to do was make a cross in the circle at the head of the ticket where Lincoln was.

"Put the mark right in front of Lincoln's nose," were the instructions to the illiterate voters that went out from Republican headquarters. It was easy to remember and every colored voter, regardless of his educational advantages, was ready on election day to exercise the privileges of citizenship which the fifteenth amendment guaranteed him.

Down in Calvert county there was a hot campaign on one year and things were looking rather blue for the Democrats. Every colored voter was ready for the polls to open and he kept repeating to himself his instructions: "Put the mark right in front of Lincoln's nose," lest he should make some mistake when he entered the voting booth. At the last moment some Democrat had a brilliant idea, which was forthwith put into execution. When the ballots were printed and ready for use it was discovered that the likeness of Lincoln had been reversed and that his nose pointed directly at the circle over the Democratic ticket.

By the time the Republican managers learned of the trick, it was too late. Hundreds of voters were trooping into the booths and placing "the mark right in front of Lincoln's nose," thereby voting the straight Democratic ticket.

Had to Remove Emblems.

It became apparent to the Democratic leaders that in order to reduce the negro vote, the party emblem must be removed from the official ballots. The colored citizens were generally able to distinguish Lincoln's portrait from Jackson's, no matter how much unlike the originals or the accepted ideas of the originals they might be. Of course, there was the possibility of fooling the negro voter occasionally by some such trick as that played in Calvert county, but in the long run he was bound to get his ballot in the box and usually get it counted.

Consequently, another change in the official ballot was demanded to meet the circumstances, and it was made by removing the party emblems and placing "Rep." at the head of the Republican ticket and "Dem." above the Democratic ticket.

This was a hard proposition for the illiterate voter, but the negro met it philosophically. Night schools were held in every part of the state at which those who could not read or write were taught the difference between "Rep." and "Dem." Posters were printed bearing the abbreviation "Rep." in large Roman type and the negroes flocked to the night schools in droves in order that they might impress upon their minds the magic letters that would guide them when they entered the voting booths. But the Democrats soon found that this gun that had been loaded for Ethiopian voters was kicking and threatened to do more damage to the Democrats than to the Republicans. For while the negroes attended night schools and learned to distinguish between "Rep." and "Dem.," the illiterate whites would not go to the trouble of learning, and therefore, had made up their minds to stay at home on election day, rather than go to the polls and expose their ignorance.

Illiteracy Among Whites.

Illiteracy is not by any means confined to the colored people in Maryland. There is a large percentage of white population who have had no educational advantages, either from neglect or necessity, and they were too proud to place themselves on the same mental plane as the negro, or too indifferent to take the trouble. As these illiterate whites were to a large extent Democrats, the result promised to be a Republican victory, if some means were not adopted to thwart the negro vote.

Talbot county come to the front with a novel and efficacious scheme. The ballots were printed with the abbreviations, "Rep." and "Dem." at the head of the respective tickets, as the law prescribed. But instead of them being printed in plain Roman letters, as the Republicans expected, they appeared in quaint Old English type, such as would puzzle a well-educated person to decipher, to say nothing of those who had merely learned to contrast two sets of three letters each.

The negroes walked into the voting booths and began to search for the letters "Rep." that they had learned after such a mighty effort, but they searched in vain. Instead, they found at the tops of the columns some characters which, to them, resembled Chinese laundry checks. They meant nothing to the colored voter, who had learned his lesson in plain Roman type. Some took a chance and marked their ballots hoping that they would vote the Republican ticket, but the great majority preferred to lose their votes rather than risk being caught in this Democratic trap.

As it was expected, the illiterate whites stayed at home, but the confusion of the negro voters more than made up the loss of the whites, and the Democratic ticket was again triumphant.

Perhaps these or similar tactics were adopted in other parts of the state. My informant could only speak for this one county, but, at any rate, Maryland remained Democratic.

The next step in the disfranchisement of the negroes of Maryland was the amendment of the election law, by which the party ticket was done away with. Heretofore, the ignorant negro had only to ascertain which was the Republican ticket and then he could vote it straight by placing a cross in the circle above it. But when the party ticket was abandoned the names of the candidates were arranged alphabetically and after each was the designation of his politics. This necessitated the voter knowing at least the word "Republican," and required him to go down the list and make a mark in front of each candidate whom he wished to vote for.

This was a rather difficult task for the illiterate voter and it resulted in the disfranchisement of thousands of Republicans. The Democrats control the election boards and therefore a little slip of the pencil in hands that are not accustomed to using writing instruments, is made the excuse for throwing out ballots that show clearly upon their face, the intent of the voter.

Soon the screws were put down a little tighter by using the initial of the party after the candidate's name, instead of spelling it in full. The effect of this was not great, but every change adds confusion to the illiterate voter and makes it more difficult for him to exercise the right of franchise. And that is why changes are made.

Then Came Present Law.

Following this came the present election law. I wish I had the space to publish it in full, for it is a wonderful piece of legal mechanism. I am no lawyer and therefore would not have the temerity to raise the question of constitutionality against it. Anyhow, the constitution, federal or state, is not a thing to frighten Maryland Democrats when they are engaged in suppressing the negro vote. But this election law varies for different sections of the state. In some counties the official ballot has no party designation whatever.

The candidates for each office are printed alphabetically under the title of that office, and there is nothing whatever to indicate which are the Republican candidates and which the Democrats. The candidates for presidential electors will appear on the ticket this year in these counties in a bunch, but above the list will be the names of Roosevelt, Parker, Fairbanks and Davis.

The counties which are denied the party designation are Anne Arundell, Prince George's, Calvert, St. Mary's and Charles in southern Maryland, Worcester, Kent, Somerset, Dorchester and Talbot on the eastern shore, and Frederick and Garrett in western Maryland.

With the exception of the two western counties, these are the counties which have the largest negro vote and it is plain to the casual observer, even if it were not frankly admitted by the Democrats, that this newest freak in the election law is for the sole purpose of making Democratic counties out of those which are normally Republican. Frederick and Garrett were included for the same reason, although they contain comparatively few negro voters.

Permitted to Use It.

The remainder of the state, those counties which are either hopelessly Republican or safely Democratic, are permitted to place the party designation on the official ballot. After each Republican candidate is an R and after each Democrat a D.

Down in the "black belt," in those unfavored counties where the official ballot is a complicated guessing contest, there is one ray of hope for the negroes. Attorney General William S. Bryan has ruled that cross marks placed opposite the names of Roosevelt and Fairbanks count as a vote for all the Republican presidential electors. Proceeding upon this ruling the illiterate negroes are attending night school again, learning to distinguish the names of Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

They are learning their lesson well and on November 8 they will be able to mark the crosses in front of the names of the Republican candidates. But there is a fear that this ruling will not hold. G. L. Pendleton, a colored lawyer of Annapolis, and one of the leaders of the negroes in Anne Arundel county, told me that he would not be surprised if the Democrats should go into court and get a ruling to the effect that each elector must be voted for separately. If that is done he admitted that many negroes would be unable to vote.

Hon. Sydney E. Mudd, Republican, represents the Fifth congressional district of Maryland in the house of representatives and his re-election is generally conceded by the Democrats, although a hard fight is being made against him.

Lies in Black Belt.

His district lies entirely in the "black belt," except a few wards of Baltimore city. Mr. Mudd has been able to stay in congress for eight consecutive years, despite the efforts made to dislodge him by the Democrats. His colored friends are active whenever he is a candidate and he also has a strong following among the white citizens of his district. This year the Democrats have hit upon a scheme which they believe will euchre his colored constituency out of a large number of ballots. They have placed in the list of candidates for electors another man named Mudd, Samuel A. Mudd, and they believe that the illiterate negro, in running his eye down the ticket to find the name of the congressional candidate, will vote for the first Mudd he comes to, thus scoring a vote for a Democratic elector and losing a vote for the Republican congressional candidate.

It is also reported that the Democrats have located a negro in Calvert county who rejoices in the cognomen of Sidney Mudd. If this be true and satisfactory arrangements can be made with the colored Mr. Mudd, his name will be substituted for some other as a candidate for presidential elector. This would doubtless result in more confusion and lose more votes for Hon. Sidney E. Mudd.

Another Democratic trick in Maryland politics was the enactment two years ago of a registration law, which provides that a citizen coming into the state and intending to vote there must register before the circuit court one year in advance and declare his intention of voting in Maryland. There are a large number of negroes who have retained their legal residence in the state but who have been working in Washington, and this law was primarily to prevent them from coming back to vote, since one of the provisions is that a citizen who is absent from Maryland for six months of the year loses his right of franchise.

Admiral Schley Registers.

Rear Admiral Schley registered in the Third precinct of Annapolis on Tuesday, October 4, and at that time there was some question as to whether he would not be barred by the new registration law. But he took oath that he had been a resident of Annapolis for 65 years and of the precinct for 40 years, although as a naval officer he has actually been in the state but a very small portion of that time. The registers decided that the admiral's oath was sufficient for them, and they placed his name on the voting list. There is some talk there still of Republicans raising a question against him, and if that is done his name will be placed on the "suspect" list and he will be required to appear before the registers and prove his right to vote.

Those whom I talked with expressed the opinion that there was little likelihood of such action being taken, as it would probably react upon the party responsible for it and lose them votes.

It will be seen from what I have written here that the sole issue in Maryland is the negro question. Not the question of whether the negro shall hold office, for the Republicans do not advocate this; not the question of mixed schools, for no sane white man here would contend for that, but merely the question of whether the negro shall vote. The issue between the two parties is thus plainly drawn. The Democrats insist that affairs of the state shall be run exclusively by the whites, and in order to carry out this policy they do all in their power to disfranchise the colored voters.

On the other hand, the Republican party stands upon the Fifteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which extends to the negro the rights of citizenship. They insist that he should be permitted to exercise the privileges which the Constitution accord him.

Gives Situation as Described.

I have endeavored to present the situation as I learned it from interviews with dozens of citizens in all parts of Maryland and representing both parties. I have purposely refrained from quoting those with whom I talked, although my notebook is filled with the names of men, black and white, who are representatives of both sides of the question.

The only definite conclusion to be drawn from this investigation is that if the Democratic party desires to raise the standard of citizenship in Maryland they should establish an educational test to determine the right to vote. This would apply equally to the illiterate black and the illiterate white, and it would take from the hands of partisan election boards the authority to throw out votes at will on the slightest pretext, thus plainly defeating the will of the people.

However, instead of establishing an educational test, the people of Maryland will next vote on a proposition to amend the state constitution by embodying in it the "grandfather" law, such as is now in force in South Carolina and Mississippi.

It will grant the right to vote to all citizens whose fathers or grandfathers were privileged to vote prior to 1867, and it effectually disfranchises the negro. It is a safe bet that the amendment will carry, regardless of the number of colored voters who oppose it.

Bentsiaputze is 23 miles southeast of Mukden. It was occupied by Kuroki after the battle of Liao-Yang. The Japanese main line north of Mukden extended from Bentsiaputze, southward to Pintaitse, thence westward through Yentai coal mines to a point westward of the railroad. Kuropatkin's success drives in the vanguard. The main Japanese line is still 20 miles away.

PITTSBURGH MAN WAS DROWNED AT PENSACOLA

William G. Foster, Jr. of This City Was Among Seamen Who Lost Lives Last Saturday.

Mrs. William G. Foster of Elgin avenue, East End, was officially notified by the secretary of the navy yesterday that her step-son, William G. Foster, Jr., a first class fireman on the gunboat Vixen, was among the drowned as the result of the capsizing of a sailboat during a squall in Pensacola bay on October 8, when five seamen lost their lives. The body has not yet been recovered.

William G. Foster, Jr., was the son of the late William G. Foster, one of the founders of the firm of Stevenson & Foster Co., printers. He was born in Wellsville, O., 35 years ago, coming to Pittsburgh with his father in 1872.

At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war, while in his father's employ as pressman, he enlisted in the navy, serving on the transport Grant during the war and seeing some service in the Philippines.

At the conclusion of the war young Foster resumed his duties in the office of his father. In June, 1902, the fascination of the sea again caused him to enter the navy, two weeks before the death of his father. He was then assigned to the gunboat Vixen. He is survived by his stepmother, one brother, Charles F. Foster, and one sister, Katheryn Foster.

SECRETARY TAFT TALKS TO WHEELING CITIZENS

He Says It Will Take a Generation to Fit Filipinos for Self Government.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WHEELING, W. VA., Oct. 10.—Secretary of War William H. Taft was the principal speaker at the greatest demonstration of the campaign by the Republicans tonight. The meeting at the Union Wigwam was preceded by a parade by the marching clubs, witnessed by great crowds despite the rain. The wigwam was filled to its capacity, and fully 5,000 heard Mr. Taft, who devoted himself principally to the Philippines.

The Filipinos, he declared, will not be capable of self-government for a generation, and at the expiration of 30 years they may not desire independence. Secretary Taft refuted the charge of extravagance in the conduct of the Philippine government. The civil government, he declared, is self-sustaining. The government of the United States is put to no expense. The speaker mentioned the realization of his prediction that the time would come when only 15,000 American troops would be required in the Philippines, the present number being 13,000, and will probably be still further reduced to a little more than 10,000 men.

LARKIN TAKES APPEAL IN FILTRATION CASE

Controller Larkin took an appeal to the superior court yesterday from the finding of common pleas court No. 2 in the mandamus issued to compel the controller to pay the employes of the filtration bureau. The controller, accompanied his attorney, George W. Guthrie, to the prothonotary's office to see the appeal become a matter of record. The appeal does not act as a supersedeas of the lower court until a further order is made.

Controller Larkin said last night that he expected a decision by the superior court this month; that the court is in session in Philadelphia and that the appeal will be heard there at once. In the meantime the employes of the filtration bureau are being paid their salaries and common council last night approved an ordinance authorizing the employment of additional men in the filtration bureau.

BOULEVARD WORK STARTED

ences during the day with Mayor Hays in the mayor's private office and President Wightman, Select Councilman West and the bureau lieutenants of the administration made their reports to the director there. The following were the 15 members who answered the roll call:

P. J. Barry, Booth, Costello, Edwards, Gallagher, Hermes, Kearns, William McKelvey, Manion, Schlernitzauer, Sweeney, Upperman, Wainwright, West, Wightman.

All Efforts Fruitless.

A recess of 15 minutes was taken, but when the members reassembled they were still without a quorum and an adjournment was taken. There were enough members present in the corridors and in the city clerk's office to have made a quorum.

The loops downtown are along Grant street, from Second avenue to Water street; from Seventh avenue and Smithfield street, along Seventh avenue to New Grant street, and along New Grant street to Liberty avenue; also from Seventh avenue and Grant street, along Grant street to Sixth avenue.

The Hall syndicate members claim to hold charters for these streets and they also claim that the Verner syndicate has no charter for the Grant boulevard, except an extension to the charter for some of the other streets to which the boulevard has been added.

S. H. Leslie, secretary of the Hall traction syndicate, is a secretary of the company which over a month ago applied to the state for a charter over the boulevard. James W. Clark, director of charities, who is also treasurer of the Hall syndicate, stated last night that the state authorities had not yet set a date for a hearing on the application.

Civic League May Go Into Court.

A meeting of the Voters' Civic league will probably be held today to consider the advisability of applying for an injunction to stop work on the boulevard line. Starling W. Childs, president of the organization, stated last night that a committee had been appointed some time ago to take action regarding the boulevard traction line, but that the committee had not yet held a meeting. The members of he committee are President Childs, A. Lee Weil and E. Z. Smith. Mr. Childs said that the Verner syndicate did not have a charter for the boulevard and held no rights to the boulevard except those granted by Pittsburgh councils, claiming the right of way on the boulevard by reason of extensions given by councils to the charters granted by the state for the lines in Grant street, Oliver avenue, Liberty avenue, Strawberry, Cherry and Dante alleys.

If any action should be taken to prevent the occupancy of the boulevard, it will be on the ground that the Grant and Liberty Street Railway Company holds no charter from the state to occupy the street, and also that the boulevard was dedicated exclusively to use as a public driveway.

With a contest on for the occupancy of the boulevard it is claimed that the Verner syndicate or the Pittsburgh Railways Company have sought to strengthen their position by possession and that the tracks will be laid only for a short distance. This is the opinion of George H. Flinn, of the firm of Booth & Flinn, Ltd. It has been common report for some time that Booth & Flinn would build the boulevard trolley line. Mr. Flinn stated last night that his firm was not doing the work on the boulevard and he said he understood that only a few rails were to be laid to enable the present traction company to hold the boulevard.

WANDERING HAND IN HAND.

Two Tramps, Arrested by Railroad Detectives, Escape Handcuffed Together.

Two tramps are wandering somewhere along the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad. They dare not go near a settlement, for railroad detectives are after them, and they had better not try to board a moving freight train, for they are handcuffed together.

The tramps are two of 15 captured by railroad detectives near Coraopolis last night. They were riding in box cars or loitering in the railroad yards, waiting a chance to jump freight trains. The detectives had handcuffs and coupled together each pair of prisoners as they were arrested, but when all were ready to be taken before Justice of the Peace Nicholson, two of them escaped and took to the timber, getting away in the darkness. The others were sent to jail for 10 or 20 days.

RUSSIANS MAKE A SUPREME DASH

Gen. Kuropatkin Is at Last Determined to Fight the Manchurian Campaign.

ARTILLERY ALREADY AT WORK

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST PETERSBURG, Oct. 11.—A battle upon which the fate of this year's campaign in Manchuria depends seems only a few days ahead. Advices from the front are meager. All that is positively known officially is that Gen. Kuropatkin has cast the die at last, about faced his army and is marching resolutely against the enemy as if resolved to do or die.

According to unofficial reports Field Marshall Oyama, at the first sign of Gen. Kuropatkin taking the offensive, began drawing in his line and concentrating upon fortified positions north of Liao-Yang. According to the latest reports, which are contained in a dispatch from Mukden, dated at 6 o'clock tonight, the Japanese outposts are being driven in all along the line.

Private advices from Mukden indicate that the artillery is already at work. An engagement is reported to have occurred yesterday on the Russian right flank, 14 miles southwest of Mukden.

A dispatch from the Russian headquarters at Mukden today says the land blockade at Port Arthur has been weakened, that the Japanese at Liao-Yang have been reinforced by 15,000 men by way of Niuchwang and that they expect three additional divisions in a few days.

After the farewell review of the Baltic fleet at Reval today by Emperor Nicholas, the squadron sailed for Libau, from whence it is declared it will within a few days weigh anchor for the long voyage to the Pacific.

MUKDEN, Oct. 10.—On the western front yesterday a party of Caucasian scouts, while reconnoitering, fell into an ambush of two companies of Japanese infantry, which fired a volley at the scouts. Before the latter could withdraw they lost 10 wounded, including a lieutenant, Kousoff, and one man killed.

TOKYO, Oct. 10.—It is reported here that the Japanese recently centered a fire from the land positions and from the fleet blockading Port Arthur on the west harbor with the object of destroying the Russian fleet, and succeeded in sinking three vessels, the names and character of which are unknown. The failure of the Port Arthur fleet to make a sortie is creating the impression that the Russians intend to destroy their ships just before the fall of the fortress in preference to taking the risk of a sortie.

MRS. PHIPPS SUMMONED TO DENVER BY COURT

Mrs. Cornelia Baxter Tevis Said to Have Captivated McKee for Revenge.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

DENVER, COL., Oct. 10.—Mrs. Genevieve Chandler Phipps has been summoned to Denver by the court which recently granted her husband a divorce and is on her way here. She will have to decide whether she is to make Denver her residence and have the children half the time or live elsewhere and have them but two months in each year.

Denver gossips have found an explanation of the apparent attachment between A. Hart McKee and Mrs. Cornelia Baxter Tevis, who sailed for Europe a few days ago on the same steamer. According to the story current in Denver's smartest set, the Denver-California widow captured Mrs. Phipps' admirer as a neat revenge for a slight placed upon Mrs. Tevis by Mrs. Phipps several years ago.

Mrs. Phipps upon coming to Denver learned of how Cornelia Baxter had jilted a young attorney and as his friend she resented it. Mrs. Tevis was advised why she was slighted by Mrs. Phipps. She concealed her pique, but quietly vowed to get even some day.

HURLED BLAZING TORCH.

An attempt was made early yesterday morning to set fire to the plant of the Canfield Oil Refinery Company of Coraopolis. An employe, Edward Meanor, noticed a light in the barrel storehouse and saw a man carrying a torch walk toward the stairs leading to the second floor. Meanor shouted and tried to prevent the firebug's escape, but the man threw the blazing firebrand in his face.

Meanor was knocked down and the brand struck his shoulder, setting fire to his clothes. Meanor blew the engine whistle, and many came rushing to the scene. A sack of oiled waste cotton was found on the floor. The barrel storage house contained nearly 300 barrels of refined oil.

B. & O.'S DECISION SOON.

M. & M.'s Petition to Remove Headquarters Here Will Go to Murray.

Now that President Oscar G. Murray, of the Baltimore & Ohio, has returned to this country, it is expected that the petition of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association of Pittsburgh to have the headquarters of that system removed from Baltimore to Pittsburgh, will come up for formal action.

When the petition was presented by Manager Wardrop, of the association a month or so ago, President Murray was abroad and Vice President George F. Randolph who received it, said that upon the president's return it would be formally presented to the board. A meeting of the board is expected next week and word will be sent then as to the reception of the petition.

Refer Hospital Matter to Solicitor.

The finance committee of Allegheny councils last night referred to the city solicitor the resolution instructing the committee on appropriations to include in next year's estimates $15,000 for the Allegheny General hospital and $5,000 each for St. John's General and the Presbyterian hospitals. A number of resolutions for exonerations from payment of sewer and water assessments were ordered printed.

OFFICIALS OF P. R. R. ARE MAKING AN INSPECTION

A special train carrying about 200 officials of the Pennsylvania railroad, arrived in Pittsburgh shortly after 8 o'clock last night. They are here to start on the annual inspection tour, which begins this morning from the Union station. The party is in charge of General Manager W. W. Atterbury and Chief Engineer W. H. Brown.

The party will occupy the several inspection cars built by the railroad company expressly for examining the road. The seats are built in tiers, thus giving all occupants a chance to see the line as the train moves.

These annual inspections create deep interest from the general superintendents down to the track supervisor. Prizes are awarded to the man in charge of the track who has the finest and best kept section. Until the prize winners are announced there is much speculation among the employes.

The inspection party will first view the local terminals after which they will be taken over the Pittsburgh division. The program calls for the party reaching Harrisburg tonight. Tomorrow night the party will reach Jersey City.

On the train will be five committees, charged with the inspection of different portions of the work. The first of these will judge the line and surface; the second the freight tracks and sidings; the third, the joints, spacing, ties and ballast; fourth, stations and grounds, road crossings, ditching and policing, and fifth, telegraph lines and fixed signals.

In the party besides General Manager Atterbury are W. H. Brown, chief engineer; A. W. Gibbs, general superintendent of motive power; J. T. Richards, chief engineer of maintenance of way; A. C. Schand, engineer of maintenance of way; G. W. Creighton, F. L. Sheppard, E. T. Brooks, W. H. Myers and R. L. O'Donnel, general superintendents; S. S. Blair, superintendent; R. L. Poe, W. Z. Ekmer, R. F. Snowden, A. W. Preston, assistant engineers; H. H. Mayfield, superintendent of motive power; F. L. Dubosque, assistant engineer of floating department; E. B. Wisemen, G. Latrobe, W. A. MacCart, D. R. Mahaffey, C. K. Shell, W. S. Thompson, E. Summer, assistant engineers, W. F. Taylor, G. W. Revine W. H. Baisley and H. Logan division operators.

PRICE SACRIFICE PIANO SALE

On Account of Complete Rebuilding of the Interior of Their Store, They Are Clearing Out.

PIANOS AT FACTORY COST AND MANY LESS

632 Smithfield St.

We need not tell you that the pianos, organs and piano-players are being taken quickly at this sale. The entire community knows that. For the first time in the history of this house, four large moving vans are necessary to move the pianos that are sold daily.

Even this large number of vans is inadequate for the occasion, long drives have to be made, pianos to be boxed, delivered to depots, etc., and time is consumed. We trust those who have not as yet had their piano delivered will bear with us a little while, as extra effort will be put forth from now on to have the delivery up with the selling department.

You can't appreciate what this sale means to you unless you call, see the fine instruments and get the sale prices. You profit to the extent of the difference between regular retail prices and factory cost prices, and in many instances—odd styles, odd makes, storeworn pianos, etc.—are priced regardless of cost.

We are to practically rebuild the interior of our store and we must not only have the room, but must remove the pianos from the dust and rubbish arising from the work.

From our firmly established and plainly marked retail prices we give you a discount of $75 to $200 on all pianos, comprising the best of makes, Kimballs, Chickering Bros., Hallet & Davis, Sterlings, Steinways, Whitneys and numerous other makes in grands, quarter grands, cabinet grands, parlor upright, cottage uprights.

Cash or easy terms, $5 to $8 monthly.

Handsome upright pianos in the best and highest class makes, former prices $350, $375, $400, $425, $450 to $600, to clear out at this sale for $175, $235, $267, $290, $337 to $387.

Cash or easy terms, $15 to $25 or more down, $7, $10 to $15 or more monthly.

Several Piano Players to close at factory price, and we will include $40 worth of music rolls.

We want to move out our remaining stock of used pianos. Herein lies a fine money saving opportunity for those who can use a second-hand or slightly used piano.

Two uprights, good makes, each	$ 85
One Hardman upright	$100
One Schirmer upright	$125
One F. C. Lieble & Co. upright	$120
One Livingston upright	$135
One Hinze upright	$165
One Whitney upright	$150
One Schiller upright	$150
One Kimball upright	$175
One Steinway upright	$190

Cash or easy payments.

Organs, new and used for $10, $18, $19, $21, $29, $33, $48, $50, $67 to $87 for the best new one in high top cabinets and piano cases in five, six and seven octaves.

Attend the sale today, open evenings until 9 o'clock.

"TEDDY" IS NAME OF SEVENTH SON

Lucky Youngster Born in Allegheny Household Will Be Christened Theodore John.

PRESIDENT NAMED SPONSOR

Theodore John is his name. He is a seventh son and President Roosevelt has been notified that he is wanted to act as one of his sponsors. Theodore John was born last Thursday. With this combination of luck, strenuosity and honored heritage, it is not to be wondered that there is unbounded happiness in the household of Fred Heller up on Spring Hill, Allegheny.

Over in the fatherland the coming of a seventh son in any family, no matter how humble, is hailed as a national event. The kaiser usually delegates a member of the royal family to act as sponsor and the fortunate son invariably receives a beautiful gift from his imperial majesty. In this country the president is reported to have never allowed an occasion of such importance to pass unnoticed, and Theodore John Heller doubtless will receive some recognition bearing the official seal of the American eagle and Uncle Sam's good wishes.

Heller, the father, was born in Alsace-Lorraine, in 1866, and came to this country when 20 years of age. In 1886 he married Josephine Schwerer of Allegheny, who is one year his junior. Nine children have been born to them. The first two were girls, but afterward came seven sons consecutively. These are their birthdays:

Philomena, December 21, 1890; Sophie Elizabeth, June 14, 1892; Frederic George, December 31, 1893; William Jacob, November 30, 1895; Ernest Michael, June 22, 1897; Joseph Alois, March 14, 1899; Alfred George, August 14, 1900; Leo Ambrosius, September 21, 1902, and Theodore John, October 6, 1904.

The news of the seventh son's arrival soon spread throughout Spring Hill and people came from everywhere to congratulate the proud parents. Everybody declared that No. 7 was a hearty, sturdy son and one who would be able to bear the burden of the greatness thrust upon him. A gift of the Lord, Mrs. Heller said, should be called John. The father agreed to this, but asserted that the president should not be overlooked in this lucky son business and claimed the right to make the infant a namesake. So they decided to call him Theodore John and notified the president and John B. Haag, a hotel proprietor of 2701 Penn avenue, that they were wanted as sponsors. But up on Spring Hill people already are beginning to call him Teddy. Mr. Heller is employed by the Pittsburgh Valve Company, and is well known among members of North Side German societies and especially in the Robert Blum Mannerchor singing section of the Allegheny Turnverein. The family lives at No. 50 Woesner avenue.

SHOOP IS AFTER HAGUE.

Springdale Riverman Makes Allegations Against Game and Fish Warden.

Constable John H. Shoop of Springdale is reported to have preferred charges of assault and battery and larceny against John W. Hague, game and fish warden. His allegation is that Hague went to his home, confiscated two nets that he burned and a "fyke" net, which he kept. A son of Shoop interfered and Hague is alleged to have struck him and also to have got into a fight with the prosecutor on the latter's arrival home.

Shoop, who is an old riverman, claims he is permitted to fish in the river with nets by reason of a bond, under the terms of which he throws back into the stream all game fish under a certain size. The "fyke" net, he claims, is used only for lake fishing, he making numerous trips to famous fishing grounds to indulge in his favorite pastime.

HERO MEETING NEXT WEEK.

In preparation for a meeting of the Carnegie hero fund commission, on October 19, the committee which is formulating plans met yesterday for an all-afternoon session. It is expected definite action in outlining the commission's methods will be taken at the coming and will be in shape to announce to the public.

Little probability exists of the commission being ready to make awards for over a year yet. One of those officially connected with the commission said yesterday he would consider it the most rapid kind of work if the commission, having undertaken a project entirely without precedent, would be able to make any decision inside of two years after starting the preparatory work.

MERGER IS APPROVED.

The Fifth and Fort National Bank Stockholders Vote to Amalgamate.

The stockholders of both the Fort Pitt National and the Fifth National banks held meetings yesterday and unanimously approved the proposed plan of merger, as well as the plan of alliance with the North American Savings Company. The merger of the two national banks will be effective November 1, when the Fifth will temporarily move to the Fort Pitt's present quarters. Immediately afterward the work of remodeling the already handsome home of the Fifth will start and by January 1 it is expected this will be completed. That building will then become the permanent home of the two institutions which take the one name, Fort Pitt.

NARROWING THE LIST.

Competitors Still in Race for Carnegie "Tech" First Place, Less Than a Dozen.

The decision as to the architect who will build the Carnegie Technical schools' home has narrowed now to about 10 or 11 of the original 44 competitors. The meeting of the "tech" committee on Saturday produced this result. Members of the committee, with Advisory Architect Laird and Director Hamerschlag, are making a most thorough study of the plans daily.

In all probability there will be no announcement of the winning competition until the limit set in the program, October 22. On account of the awards which are to be made, it will be necessary for the committee to number each of the 44 sets of plans in the order of excellence.

Two Papers for Historical Society.

The Rev. A. A. Lambing, president of the Historical Society of Western Pennsylvania, will read a paper on "The Early History of Salt in Southwestern Pennsylvania" at the October meeting of the society this evening, in the office of the superintendent of the Pittsburgh Carnegie library. City Clerk E. W. Hassler will read a paper on "Washington's Last Visit to Western Pennsylvania," made in 1784.

Thief Was Not Located.

Eight women and six men were sentenced to pay fines of $10 and costs each yesterday by Magistrate Vitchestain for visiting a disorderly house. They were arrested in the home of Myrtle Kane. She said that while she was eating a luncheon Sunday afternoon $1,000 worth of jewelry was stolen from her room. The jewelry was not found on any of the prisoners.

Busy Times at STIEFF'S

Stieff Pianos

By musicians and piano buyers in general is proof that "merit wins." Stieff pianos are becoming the favorite pianos in Pittsburgh. They bear the severest criticism and have made a host of enthusiastic admirers. Being sold through the direct branch of the factory makes the price reasonable. They are undoubtedly the best piano now manufactured, and have received the highest honors wherever exhibited. The Shaw Piano, which we now own and manufacture, is a beautiful instrument and is having a large sale. We can accommodate you with easy payments. Write for catalogues.

It's Time to Get Your Wright's

—Time to get the underwear that not only insures bodily warmth during the winter months, but is also protection against the ill effects of sudden changes of temperature. No other one item of your winter apparel is so important as that goes next the skin. Wear what else you will, but be sure your underwear is right—be sure it is the genuine Fleece of Comfort—

WRIGHT'S HEALTH UNDERWEAR

Fleece lined garments made by a process that gives a fabric of perfect heat-retaining, absorbent and ventilating properties. Ordinary underwear is tightly woven and the fleece soon mats in the wash. Wright's Health garments have both body and fleece composed entirely of tiny woolen hairs that retain their shape as long as the garment last. That is one difference between Wright's and ordinary underwear. No difference in the price. The whole story is told in our booklet "Dressing for Health," sent free to any address.

Special Sale of Electroliers Today

Prices Much Below Half.

Householders who use electricity for lighting purposes should make it a point to be on hand in our Bric-a-Brac Department, third floor, East, early, as there are only 48 pieces in all. It is rarely indeed that opportunity is offered to buy such high-class Electroliers for less than regular prices, while the prices we are quoting today, much below half, are really extraordinary. We are compelled to take this step in view of the fact that our imports from Europe are due, and found it necessary to act at once to make room for the new arrivals.

An Electrolier is not only practical but a handsome piece of household furnishment as well, and those we offer are fine enough to adorn any room in the house, and are especially adapted for the reception hall.

$ 8.00 Electroliers will sell for $ 3.00.
$10.00 Electroliers will sell for $ 4.00.
$12.00 Electroliers will sell for $ 4.75.
$20.00 Electroliers will sell for $ 8.00.
$22.00 Electroliers will sell for $ 8.75.
$25.00 Electroliers will sell for $10.00.
$27.50 Electroliers will sell for $11.00.
$32.00 Electroliers will sell for $13.00.
$37.50 Electroliers will sell for $15.00.
$42.00 Electroliers will sell for $18.00.
$50.00 Electroliers will sell for $23.00.
$75.00 Electroliers will sell for $30.00.
$100.00 Electroliers will sell for $40.00.

And so on up to $150.00 Electroliers, which will sell for $67.50.

The Underprice Sale of Silks.

We announced this sale in our news of last evening, but repeat this morning lest it be overlooked by the housewife immersed in household cares, or she whose social duties are many.

We bought 30,000 yards of new, up-to-date silks from a manufacturer who found it necessary to dispose of his stock before the beginning of another season's business.

It was a piece of great good fortune on our part, as the price he made us was much less than the regular market figure. Equally, of course, as is our habit, we make proportionate low prices to our customers.

Colored Silks—

Fancy Silks, in Persian and Pompadour effects, equally well adapted for waists or linings, $1.50 quality for 75c and $1.00 a yard, according to design.

A new silk just arrived called the Khedive, a homespun silk, rough in finish, very specially priced at $1.75 a yard.

Black Silks—

Black Taffeta Silk, 19 inches wide, good rustle finish, guaranteed to wear. A 75c quality for 58c a yard.

News of Our Book Nook.

During the week the famous Alsatian philosopher and divine, Charles Wagner, now on a tour of this country, will speak in one or more of Pittsburgh's churches.

Naturally interest in his literary productions will be awakened—"The Simple Life," "The Better Way" and "By the Fireside," all pleas for simplicity in life, delivered in the author's earnest, yet pleasing and sympathetic style. In the Book Nook at $1.00 each.

Hugh Black's Books.

"Friendship," popular edition, $1.00.
"Friendship," gift edition, $1.50.

Kipling's New Book.

"Traffics and Discoveries" is the first collection of Kipling tales since "The Day's Work," which reached a wider circulation than any other book of short stories in recent years. It contains one long tale, "The Army of a Dream," not hitherto published. $1.08.

Other Late Books at $1.08.

"Beatrice of Venice," by Max Pemberton.
"The Food of the Gods," by H. G. Wells.
"Falaise of the Blessed Voice," by William Stearns Davis.
"The Mastery," by Mary Lee Luther.
"The Hills of Freedom," by Joseph Sharts.
"A Box of Matches," by Hamblen Sears.
"Debonnaires," by W. F. Payson.

White Waistings for Less Than Half.

As white waists are worn every month during the entire twelve, the chance offered by the prices we quote this morning to get materials for fashionable white waists for less than half price should meet with unusually ready response.

Little to Pay for New Table Linens.

The finest table linens find their way to our Linen Department. We also carry many good grades of inexpensive linens. Necessarily our stock is a very large one. Buying on so large a scale we are able to get and to make lower prices than other houses hereabouts.

$5.50 per set for hemstitched Damask Table Sets, cloth 2x2 yards, one dozen napkins to match.
$12.50 per set for hemstitched Damask Table Sets, cloth 2½x2½ yards, one dozen Napkins to match.
$2.75 dozen for Damask Napkins, 22½x22½ inches, $3.75 grade.
$5.00 dozen for Damask Napkins, 27x22 inches, $6.50 grade.

Do You Need Glasses?

If you are uncertain, determine the matter by coming to our Optical Department and having your eyes examined. The department is in charge of a man who has had years of experience, and there will be no charge for such examination.

If you need glasses, we can sell them to you for much less than exclusive opticians charge, and guarantee you satisfaction.

SPECIAL OFFER TODAY:

10-year filled Eyeglass Frames, fitted with first quality lens spheres, regularly $3.00, specially priced at $2.00.
Finest Aluminum Spectacles, fitted with best lenses and guaranteed satisfactory. Regularly $2.50, specially priced at $1.50.

Queen Quality Shoes for Women.

A Safe Guide.

Reputation is a safe guide to follow. No matter how wise you are, the combined wisdom of the world is better.

The wisdom of the world has given a wide reputation to Queen Quality shoes. That fixes their value without a word from us.

What do you say?

Oxfords, $2.50 a pair.

Berthes of Lace.

Don't confuse them with ordinary berthes, for there's a very great difference. They are laces woven in circular form, that is, they are shorter on the band than on the outer edge, giving a full or flounced effect. In this form they can be used for ruffles or flouncings to better advantage, and are more economical and more effective than straight laces. They are shown in pretty imitations and in real lace.

Imitation Lace Berthes, $2.50 to $10.00.
Real Lace Berthes, $10.00 to $125.00.

NOTE: They measure from 1¼ to 1½ yards on inner edge to 2½ and 2¾ yards on outer edge.

75c and 85c French Flannels, 50c a Yard.

This sale of finest imported Flannel will be the event of the day in the West Basement. You will at once realize how very high in quality this flannel is when we tell you that it is from the looms of that celebrated foreign maker of finest flannels, Gros Roman & Cie.

There are forty different shades and an unlimited range of beautiful patterns, and not one old-style design among them.

Tuesday, October 11, 1904.

A graphic picture of Pittsburgh conditions was presented in the interview of President Wightman of select council, published yesterday. He declared that since $15,000 was transferred from the Point bridge fund to grade the Schenley oval, to be used as a race track, there is not enough of the bridge fund remaining to paint the structure. The old Point bridge rusted out for lack of painting and the renewed bridge is, apparently, to meet the same fate. To provide certain luxuries, necessities and economies are neglected. It is precisely that kind of management that has brought the city to face a high tax rate, while suffering from neglect of the most ordinary functions of municipal government.

There are signs that some new trick is on in the franchise juggling game. The public is so carefully excluded from knowledge of what is being done about its affairs that it has to go by rumor and guesswork in matters that should be submitted to it in exact detail, but there is a significant stir in councilmanic circles, with mysterious movements among members, the upshot of the business being that select council was unable to get a quorum. Work upon the Grant boulevard was begun yesterday, so that the appropriation of that expensive driveway by a company which pays nothing for the enormously valuable privilege is now going on. It appears from Judge Reed's statement that this work is being done by the Philadelphia Company, which emerged from the political shuffle with a batch of franchises which Mr. Verner supposed he was getting. Some new developments in the franchise situation are probably impending.

The engaging of a hired escort to accompany Bryn Mawr students to and from the railroad station has raised the question whether a young woman with sufficient independence to take a college course needs this sort of "protection" by a male escort. The suggestion that such a custom was about to be inaugurated at Radcliffe raised a storm at that annex of Harvard, where the students declared they had no need for such a man, and would refuse to accompany him. There is no implication that the woman college student is masculine in the statement that she needs no surveillance, for she is supposed to have risen above such petty restrictions remaining from the days when she was considered frail and ignorant as well as innocent. Many of the students at woman's colleges are studying for professions where they must compete with men and depend on their personality for defense, rather than any physical force. Escorts suggest the convent idea of education, which does not prevail in the American college.

The announcement that the "stalwart" faction in Wisconsin will withdraw and discontinue its fight against Gov. LaFollette will be received with rejoicing by Republicans generally, for with only one ticket in the field a handsome majority for Roosevelt is assured. When the decision of the supreme court was made in favor of the LaFollette ticket the stalwarts refused to yield, for they claimed this was technical opinion, and that they had been recognized by the national committee, which was the only tribunal which investigated the merits of the dispute. Almost immediately the national committee recognized the LaFollette wing by negotiating with them for speakers to make a tour of the state. Then there was nothing left for the party that claimed loyalty to President Roosevelt but to surrender, for the title of administration faction was absurd so long as they were ignored by the working force of the administration. There will be opportunity enough between national elections for the Wisconsin Republicans to settle their differences.

With such conditions in existence as our staff correspondent describes in Maryland there are strong reasons in favor of an educational suffrage test. Illiterate people have little claim to the suffrage, which is supposed to be an instrument for the expression of public opinion, and illiteracy may be justly regarded as disqualifying a voter from forming an intelligent opinion upon public issues. The fifteenth amendment, by which negro suffrage was established, does not prohibit restrictions upon the suffrage, save that they shall not be based upon race, color or previous condition of servitude. A law disqualifying all left-handed men, or all one-eyed men, or all men who cannot do decimal fractions would be perfectly constitutional. But the Democratic party does not desire suffrage restrictions irrespective of race and color. They will not disfranchise illiterates because there are illiterate whites whose present privileges they wish to preserve, so they raise the race question, and propose measures whose purpose is to disfranchise the negroes without interfering with the whites. This race question is the real issue of the campaign in Maryland. The St. Louis platform cuts no figure at all.

In his speech at Baltimore last night David B. Hill recognized the real issue of the campaign in Maryland when he shouted that "this is still a white man's government." This assured the Maryland Democracy of his sympathy with their efforts to down the black man. In the course of the same speech he pleaded that we should up with the brown man. He held that not only should congress confer political independence upon the Filipinos as soon as possible, but that this country should then protect them in their independence. In effect, therefore, the islands are really to remain under American sovereignty, only we are to renounce rights of control and guidance. They are to do as they please and we are to bear the responsibility of their acts. As the Democratic campaign progresses it goes deeper into absurdity. We regret to note that vice presidential candidate Davis is losing some of that cheeriness which usually makes him such an interesting octogenarian. He says that the time of the full dinner pail is gone, and that wage-cuts, short hours and general depression are the features of the situation. Things are far from that in Pittsburgh, and it is news to us that things are in such a dismal condition in West Virginia, where Mr. Davis lives, and whence presumably he derives his ideas of the business situation.

Vermont's legislature meets before snowdrifts can impede transportation, but the farmer member must suffer some inconvenience because this is his harvest time. Nevertheless the state adheres to its early custom and the newly-elected governor takes his seat promptly after the state election. Democrats will not find much satisfaction in the report of the retiring chief executive that expenses in this conservative state have been increasing. This seems to be a condition of modern growth and prosperity and merely reflects the tendency of the individual to live more comfortably instead of saving money for others to spend. The organization of the lower house so that every little town in the state has a member, often allows the presentation of petty bills which no one representing a large constituency would think of introducing, but these are generally weeded out in committee. State roads, the regulation of automobiles, more power to the railroad commissioners and a provision of the constitution for an attorney general are the principal topics for consideration by the state. When the list of the laws passed is published at the close of the session, however, many of the provisions will be found to be for the payment of bounties and the regulation of matters which would seem too inconsequential for legislative enactment in most states. But the Vermonter has reason to be proud of the simplicity that distinguishes his form of government, for the fewer the laws needed the better is the quality of prevailing citizenship.

Canadian Reciprocity Looming Up.

In his speech before the Massachusetts Republican convention Attorney General Moody made a very important statement, significant of coming events. He held that reciprocity with Canada "should be approached from a different point of view than reciprocity with any other country except the republic of Cuba." After referring to the close political relations existing between the United States and Canada, and the evidence of mutual goodwill and confidence afforded by the neutralization of the great lakes and the absence of fortifications along the border, he argued that "high considerations of national policy join with economic reasons" in favor of closer trade relations. He then made this statement:

> We have made a treaty with Cuba which has proved an advantage to both countries and has sacrificed no American interest. May we not hope to do the same with our northern neighbor? I think I can safely assure you that in the near future this government will again invite Canada to consider in a friendly spirit our trade relations. It is not for me to speak in detail of the concessions which each can properly make to the other. Such considerations arise only at a later stage of the proceedings.

A strong sentiment in favor of Canadian reciprocity has swept through the Republican party of Massachusetts, and finds expression in its recently adopted platform. That, as a Massachusetts man, Attorney General Moody should respond to this sentiment is quite natural, but he is also a member of the administration, and when he speaks of what our government intends to do he is in a position to know what he is talking about. The statement he has made may be taken as evidence that there will be something doing in a practical way about Canadian reciprocity after the election is over.

Frequency of Railroad Accidents.

Public attention has been aroused for some time by the frequency of fatal accidents on railroads, which seem to continue while people are trying to learn the cause of the increase. The wrecking of a train loaded with passengers on the Missouri Pacific bound for the world's fair killed over 25 persons yesterday, and the only explanation offered is the statement that an engineer either forgot or wilfully disobeyed his orders. Yet such is the indifference of Americans to the sacrifice of human life that the shock of this accident will soon pass out of mind, giving place to some new sensation.

The New York Commercial Bulletin has been seeking explanations of the frequency of accidents from railroad officials and insurance managers, who are supposed to give the subject some attention. Naturally, the railroad man devotes his reply to the precautions taken by his own road to prevent accidents, but nearly all of them contain some suggestion that may be of use. A. B. Stickney, president of the Chicago Great Western Railway Company, doubts whether any legislation could lessen the number of accidents. In his opinion the employe who neglects to obey an order usually does it wilfully rather than through ignorance. If he is told to wait on a side track for another train, he often becomes impatient and "chances it" in the hope of making the next siding before he meets the train. It is true he takes his life in his hand, but if he succeeds, this railroad president says that the disobedience is never discovered. There would seem to be some explanation necessary why a man can disobey orders and not be found out and punished.

Perhaps the most interesting letter is that from the manager of a casualty insurance company, who says that public sentiment has as much to do with accidents as any other cause. He finds that we are indifferent to the sacrifice of human life, and that as a result the railroad companies expend their energies to increase the speed and comfort of travel rather than to insure its safety. He argues that this public sentiment should insist on the enforcement of precautions and not on new legislation to prevent accidents. He finds that temporary spasms of indignation which formulate laws are of little use, for we need sustained effort to compel railroad companies to look after the condition of their lines and safety in running trains.

It is generally agreed by all that the worst accidents are expected in the isolated districts, where the track is likely to become deteriorated and the traffic is so light that it receives little attention compared with the line that is congested with travel. The question of speed does not enter into the problem, for the greater the pressure maintained the more the care for the safety of passengers. It is the service that is keyed to the highest state of efficiency that is least liable to disarrangement. But no management can be called efficient that tolerates disobedience of orders or fails to systematize its business so that disobedience is noted if it occurs.

Salaries and Schools.

At the meeting of the central board of education today, the teachers' committee will present the plea for better salaries. We understand the request for more money is to be accompanied by another that promotions shall be determined solely by efficiency and term of service. If so, there should be no hesitation about acceding to the demands. Unquestionably good teachers are worth more than they are paid. Others should be gradually eliminated from the service, and allowed to take up with avocations more to their taste and more in line with their special abilities.

Public sentiment in Pittsburgh favors an increase in the salaries of teachers. An addition of a quarter or half mill to the tax levy for this purpose has no terrors for the people who pay the bills. But, in connection with the higher pay, the majority of intelligent people desire a better system of grading the instructors according to their efficiency and experience. There are teachers in the service who have managed somewhat to scrape through the preliminary examination, and somehow to get a place on the roll, who are not well qualified for their positions, and who make no effort to advance by improving themselves. These are of small value to the school system. As they are not worth even the present minimum salaries it will be the part of wisdom to weed them out as the higher salaries come in.

There is another matter pertinent for consideration in this connection. The schools should be freed from fads. They are overloaded with the multiplicity of things that may be in themselves desirable for a portion of the pupils, but are not essential to the educational development of all. It would be a grand thing if each pupil could have a course exactly suited to his or her individual needs—and an individual teacher. That, however, is impossible, is not contemplated in the basic principle of the public school system, and is not to be thought of. The best plan will be to simplify matters by casting out all except essentials. There is good reason to believe the results will be better and that higher salaries may be paid without adding greatly to the total cost of the schools.

It is common complaint against the public schools of the country and some of the institutions for higher education that they are turning out graduates who are unable to spell common words correctly; that their students of differential and integral calculus have difficulty in adding accurately a column of three figures. The demand in the practical world is for young men and women who are thorough in what they know. A smattering of many things does not compensate for deficiency in that respect.

The chamber of commerce committee is going after the Greater Pittsburgh in earnest, and the sympathies of 500,000 people in this county are with the committee. The remainder are petty officeholders, children too young to understand and a few chronic "pull-backs."

Russian losses aggregate 93,000 men, according to report from St. Petersburg. That is a high price to pay for occupation of Manchuria, and the struggle has but fairly begun.

Money was transferred from the Point bridge fund to construct the Schenley race track. Now there is no money to pay for painting the bridge.

There will be nothing in the Carnegie galleries on founder's day to compare with the splendor of the wooded ridges these autumn afternoons.

While the Japanese are failing back the Russians cautiously recall similar movements that led them into ambush.

Henry C. Frick succeeds John Lowber Welsh on the Reading board. The Pittsburgh influence is always expanding.

Answer to Correspondents.

R. A. S., city—We do not have the figures you want; you might be able to get them at the offices of the different companies. Inasmuch as you are to debate on the question, do you think it fair to your opponent to ask somebody to procure information for your benefit when he is probably relying on his own efforts?

E. C., Allegheny—In the United States and England full age is fixed by law at 21 years for men and women alike. This is considered to be attained on the day preceding the 21st anniversary of birth.

A New Game.

Five Democrats or more, if they can be found, form a ring and join hands and a kicker enters the ring and asks who is the greatest lawyer in Mercer county and they all say, "Will Pettit," without laughing. If they laugh they pay a forfeit of 5 cents. They are raising a large fund in this way—Sharon Telegraph.

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—We can now expect to see the servant girl problem settled in a jiffy. Influential women and society housekeepers have started a crusade for the betterment of household service in New York. Headed by Miss Frances Kellar and the Woman's Municipal league, Mrs. Seth Low, Mrs. Truman J. Backus, Miss Margaret Chanler and others have banded themselves together to try to get at the bottom of conditions which affect the domestic problem, and if possible to find a way to permanently solve the difficulty. A New York household study club will, therefore, soon be established which will be but one in an endless chain of similar clubs started in most of the big cities of the country to learn just what the true situation is. Brooklyn also will have a study club. There will be an inter-municipal committee besides, as well as local committees for each city. Boston has the Household Aid association and Philadelphia a civic club already organized for this purpose. Miss Kellar, who is really the working head of the project, is in a position to know more about the servant question than the majority of women, for the reason that last spring she made a thorough investigation of some employment agencies in Manhattan. She succeeded in exposing the unlawful practices of a number and later secured the enactment of legislation which closed many of their doors forever.

Question of Social Ethics.

Miss Kellar, as a result of this investigation, has some very definite ideas on the subject of household service. First of all, she declares it is a social question, not a financial one. "Girls," said she, "prefer not to be treated as one of the family, but would rather regard their relations to the house as a business engagement. Many girls would rather have an extra evening off than more salary. Because of having their evenings free many girls prefer the factory. Housekeepers must learn to look at the question from the servants' point of view, whether we want to do so or not. Servants must have their hours of leisure, and also it is essential they should have a comfortable place to receive their friends. Every woman should see to it that their comforts are considered to as great an extent as is consistent with the execution of their work." One interesting deduction which Miss Kellar has already drawn from conditions as she has found them is that of the immigrant classes that come to this country for household work now. The housekeeper must look to the Hungarians and Slavs for servants. Comparatively few Irish girls are coming over for service, and very few Swedes of the better class. "You must now look to American women and the negroes largely for help," she said.

Breakfast Food Man's Chance.

Victoria Kopwicz, the young Newark woman who had not tasted food in five weeks, and spent the entire time in prayer in the hope of curing chronic asthma, broke her fast today. Mrs. William Ambrose, a neighbor, who is greatly attached to Victoria, told her this morning that the police had decided to send her to the insane asylum at Morris Plains, having concluded that she was crazy because of her actions. "I am not crazy," cried the young woman, "and if they will not send me to the asylum I will eat. I want to stay here." Mrs. Ambrose jumped at the chance to test Victoria, and soon returned from her own home with a delicious bowl of broth. The young woman sipped it down without a murmur and apparently relished it. Today Victoria received packages of breakfast food from many concerns throughout the country, with a request that she try them.

Love Leads to Insanity.

Suffering from acute mania in Bellevue hospital today is Miss Ida Gross of No. 448 East Seventy-fifth street, who went suddenly insane because from a window of her home she saw her fiance, Moritz Pechek, an artist, walking with another woman. Miss Gross is hopelessly insane, the physicians say, and she has no chance of recovery. Until the minute she looked out of the window and saw the artist walking with another woman, her sister says, the young woman was perfectly sane. The engagement of Miss Gross and the artist was announced only 24 hours before.

Stage Mrs. Woodend's Waterloo.

Jane Woodend, wife of Dr. W. E. Woodend, who went on the stage to help support her family at the time of her husband's failure in Wall street, has broken down and may have to give up her work. She was taken ill during the performance of "Checkers" Friday night, and had to be taken home. She has been unable to appear since.

Suppressing Smoke in Philadelphia.

It did not need the five or six days of actual test in operation as a municipal law to convince the public that the so-called "anti-smoke" ordinance, enacted by the councils a few months ago with such a flourish, was inadequate to accomplish any good results. It was as it was intended to be—not by its author and supporters, but by those who first emasculated it and then permitted it to pass—a brutum fulmen.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

There is so much talk about the Greater Pittsburgh that the people have settled down to the belief that it is surely coming.

It is well to believe that it will be, but to lapse into a settled state of expectancy and to wait for it, and nothing more, is only to court disappointment, if not to merit it.

Who are makers of real greatness?

That is the question.

Knowing the makers of real and lasting greatness it will not be, or should not be, difficult to make a greater city out of one already great in spots.

Men make the city, therefore by making great men we make a great city, and the greater the men greater the city.

It is well known that cities are as the men who control them.

Boston is typical of the men who made it, and is as clearly distinguished from the western city as the western boomer is from the conservative, plodding eastern farmer and mechanic. It is no more like Chicago or Kansas City than the New England small farmer is like the prairie ranchman.

Nor are these differences of disposition inborn, but are largely, if not mainly, due to culture and environment.

Cultured people make a cultured community, or a cultured town or city.

* * * *

The greatness to which Pittsburgh aspires is not possible without culture other than that acquired in rolling mill, forge and shop.

Men must be educated before they can be really great. It is true that men may be great in a sense without much schooling, but those whose greatness comes by chance rarely leave behind them much that is worth while.

The fact of the matter is that culture is about all that is worth while, the culture that forms and determines character.

The man who is money-rich and yet without character is poor indeed, and more of a burden to the city or community than is the pauper.

Character makes the man, and man makes the town and the city.

It is plain, therefore, that those who mold and determine the character of the people are really the makers of not only the great man but of the greater man, and he is in turn the maker of the greater city or town of community. He not only conceives and encourages laudable enterprises, excites his fellows to greater activity and causes the city to grow, but he gives it character as well as reputation.

Who are mainly responsible for the character of those who are to found and develop the Greater Pittsburgh?

Are they not those who control our schools, and those who teach and train the coming man?

* * * * *

The establishment of a really Greater Pittsburgh does not simply mean the indefinite extension of manufacturing plants, with a corresponding increased population, largely foreign and mainly uncultured, but rather the improvement of that which we already have.

As you well know there was no earnest attempt at general culture, or to give to society a better tone until Andrew Carnegie began building libraries, music halls and museums, and then it was a long time before the people began to appreciate his efforts in behalf of the city. Anyone with less faith in his scheme, less perserverance and less cash to back it, would have been strongly tempted to drop it and let the people enjoy their own sweet will.

Thanks to his generous disposition, his Scotch pluck, and to his abiding faith in the people, we have gotten a good start, so good that we are not likely to backslide, although we may not make the most of our opportunities.

The movement for the betterment of schools by bettering the condition of the teachers is most important, for good teachers make good schools, and good teachers are worth good salaries.

* * * * *

Following is a scrap from the Journal of Education written by the editor, Dr. Winship of Boston, who was the star speaker at the recent Carnegie hall mass-meeting of teachers and their friends who favor an increase of teachers' wages:

"The Pittsburgh Teachers' association is a grade teachers' organization numbering 900. On September 30 this organization had a rally in the large Carnegie hall, which was easily filled, there being some 1,500 parents and others aside from the teacher body. The number of men present was noteworthy. That they were in earnest is proven by the fact that the audience stood by till 11 o'clock.

"Think of getting together such a body of persons early in the season on an evening when the one great political rally of the season was whooping up the candidates with orators of national reputation as the attraction! But it was an inspiration to talk to such a body of persons! A more earnest educational audience it has not been my pleasure to meet. County Superintendent Samuel Hamilton made a great plea for the schools, as did Rabbi J. Leonard Levy. Five local men, friends of the teachers, made brief speeches.

"Pittsburgh is the richest city, per capita, in the country, and she pays the lowest salaries. This ought not so to be. But the greatest good comes from the revelation to the teachers of the talent they have among themselves. For leadership, the grade teachers of Pittsburgh, like those of Chicago and other cities, find they are adequately and admirably equipped."

* * * * *

Better pay will bring better teachers, and better teachers will make better schools.

Our schools are not bad now, not half bad, but they must grow better year by year in order to develop a better grade of men and women—men and women with sufficient well-grounded culture to sustain the dignity and to glorify the Greater Pittsburgh.

Merely taking in Allegheny will not make the Greater Pittsburgh of the future. This may come also as a measure of economy and to secure uniformity in school and city government, but the greatness to which we are really aspiring is that which comes from within and is not put on.

It surely is beginning at the beginning to first advance the standard of culture. This means an ultimate advance along the whole line.

Men of thought! be up and stirring night and day:
Sow the seed, withdraw the curtain, clear the way:
There's a fount about to stream,
There's a light about to beam,
There's a warmth about to glow,
There's a flower about to blow,
There's a midnight darkness changing into gray:
Men of thought, and men of action, clear the way.
—Charles Mackey.

Results of Irrigation.

While the actual cost of irrigation will exceed the sum to be received for the lands, the values added to the total wealth of the United States by making farm lands out of deserts, and creating flourishing communities where there are now only waste lands, will be immeasurably greater than any sums the United States may expend on the work. The magnificent results accomplished, and to be accomplished, come from the earnestness of President Roosevelt in bringing the matter to the attention of congress and in urging the question until the needed legislation was enacted.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

How Physicians Charge.

The threatened will give almost anything for insurance against death. They call in the best physicians at command, and beg them to do all that is possible. As a matter of fact, physicians as a rule charge according to the ability of the patient to pay, and in many cases this means nothing. Life seems very joyous to us all, especially when it seems to be fading from our sight. We may be seeking a better land and believe in its approach, but most of us are willing to try this for a while.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Tobacco Stamp.

We are not at all interested in the Cuban monopolists, and very little more in the domestic combination; but it seems to us that in refusing to advertise the imported article so that the purchaser may be able to identify its origin the government has assumed an obligation which it cannot very well ignore. If the consumer is not to be guided by a revenue stamp, certainly he should not be deceived by a mendacious brand. Let us be honest, or at least as honest as we can!—Washington Post.

Harbinger of the Times.

With the great Pennsylvania Railroad Company placing orders for equipment running into the millions there is abundant reason for the return of confidence in the business world.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

The College Grafter

THE STROLLER.

The close associations of graduate life have developed in recent years a new type of swindling. As the diploma is no longer a certificate that the recipient is a gentleman, the alumnus who is deceived is no longer shocked and he has become as wary about such schemes of former associates as of strangers. Class books now contain detailed biographies of members and these have aided in the scheme of designing people who can now familiarize themselves sufficiently with the facts about men and events of a college so as to successfully pursue their games. One of the most adept of these modern criminals is now serving a term in jail. Her husband was graduated from college, but she posed as the widow of a member of the class, whose associates she tried to reach. When she worked an eastern city she represented herself as the widow of "Jack," who had been summoned home from the west and told to call there for some money which had failed to arrive. Now "Jack" was one of the most popular members of his class. He had married late in life and none of his classmates knew his wife, so that her course was comparatively easy. Of course anyone would go out of his way to help "Jack's" widow. Her innocently recounted tale of old college life revived memories of happy days and when she told of "Jim" or "Billy" in old '62 she moved the heart of the cautious old judge, who broke all rules and eagerly handed her $10. She touched an even more tender spot in the heart of Editor Smith, who was also in '62, and he invited her to dinner. She had cleared up at least $200 before she left the city and she would not have been pursued in the next had it not been for a hard-hearted old lawyer who had conferred with the victims and decided that they ought to be willing to expose her for the sake of doing justice to the swindler.

In another case the confidence man who had tired of the ordinary means of approaching victims tried the "college graft." He went to the pastor of a successful church in northern New York with the story of the death of a favorite brother, a fellow alumnus of the clergyman. He wished the pastor to officiate at the funeral on account of the sentiment of his membership in the same college and had come to make arrangements. After a perusal of a newspaper obituary of the deceased the visitor and victim chatted about college ways, with which the stranger was familiar. When the arrangements for meeting the remains, which were to come from another town, were complete and the minister had agreed to meet the train and conduct the services, he was asked about an undertaker. He naturally recommended the church undertaker, to whom the stranger repaired.

The funeral director was cordial and completed arrangements for an elaborate burial for the stranger's brother, when the question of the cemetery was raised. "The most suitable cemetery," said the undertaker, "is the Evergreen, whose treasurer is cashier of the bank across the street." Together they went to the bank where some time was spent in selecting a suitable lot. The price agreed upon was about $100, when the stranger turned to the undertaker and offered to pay for his services. "I do not know what the bill will be; wait until it is all over," replied the burial man. But the stranger needed some change and he proceeded to draw up a check for $300 which he presented to the cashier and cemetery treasurer, expecting the cash in exchange. The bank man had his wits about him and remarked, "I do not know you and it is against the rule to cash checks for strangers." There was an embarrasing pause for a moment when the undertaker came to the rescue, exclaiming, "I will indorse the check for my pastor's friend." The transaction was soon completed and the stranger departed with his balance of $200.

The next day the pastor put on a solemn expression becoming to such an occasion and went to the train. The carriages from the stables of the funeral director were there and the hearse. The minister went forward to meet the weeping family, but saw no signs of mourning or coffin. He inquired of the conductor, but could find no trace of a funeral party, so he waited for the next train. When that arrived and he was again disappointed he went home by way of the telegraph office to send a dispatch to his new found friend. In the evening the messenger boy returned the telegram to his home with the indorsement "No such person in Smithfield." "Well, I have been deceived," exclaimed the clergyman, but his wife reminded him of the obituary notice she had read. To be sure the man who showed him such a notice and he would drop into the editorial rooms and inquire about it. When he confronted the city editor and started to relate his story he got no farther than the name, when the newspaper man sprang up with the inquiry, "Do you know anything about that fake story. Someone has imposed on us," he added apologetically, and we have been trying ever since to find out about it. You see the stranger brought in the obituary just as we were going to press and had no time to verify it. As he signed his name to the death notice we concluded that he was responsible, but we can't find any such man. The minister lost his charge a few months afterward, and it is said that one of his most persistent opponents was the undertaker.

As a contrast to this incident college men delight in telling another in which the result was very different. A rising young lawyer in California loaned an old Yale classmate $50, only to receive a letter a few days afterward warning against the member who had become a professional beggar and was making his old associates his first victims. "I'll never get caught that way again, muttered the lawyer, "and the next classmate who approaches me with a hard luck story will hear a tale of woe that will bring tears to his eyes." In a few weeks the resolution was tested, for one of his old mates appeared. It seemed as if he was seedier than in undergraduate days, if that were possible. He greeted the lawyer cordially and immediately inquired how the world was using him. "This is an opening for a touch sure," murmured the lawyer, "and I'll fix him." "Bad," he replied. "I have not paid my college debts yet. I married and sickness in the family have kept us on the verge of the poorhouse. If I had known life was anything like this I should have gone on to the farm or taken a job as a day laborer. I do not believe I can ever catch up." "Is it as bad as that?" asked the visitor. "I am sorry. But I tell you what I'll do. I'll give you $5,000—and more if you want it. This is for old time's sake, Jack," he continued. "Don't think of paying it back till you are on easy street. To tell the truth I have more money than I know what to do with. You know I never was a good financier and when I received that legacy I was quite broken up as I have no family." —he was arrested by the strange look in Jack's eyes. "There's a club just across the street," interrupted the lawyer, "let's go over and irrigate while we talk over old days at Yale."

TOLD TROUBLES TO THE COURT

Wives of Two Allegheny Doctors Want Divorces on Alleged Statutory Grounds.

MRS. NOLAN IS CONVICTED

The complaints of mis-mated couples occupied the time of Judges Frazer and Shafer yesterday. In the case of Luella B. Keck against William H. Keck the grounds sued upon were unusual, the wife alleging her husband had become an imbecile on account of the use of morphine. She was only permitted to testify as to the marriage, which occurred in February, 1892. A married daughter of the libellant, a child by a former husband, testified to the use of morphine by the respondent, who was an Allegheny physician. He is said to have given up his practice seven months after marrying the libellant.

Judge Frazer heard the troubles of Leila A. Small, who is suing Dr. Stanley G. Small for a divorce. Domestic tranquility was disturbed, she said, when her husband's mother came to live with them in North avenue, Allegheny. She accused the mother of starting stories about her calling up other men on the telephone, which, she said, the husband seemed to believe. Later the doctor stayed out at night, she said, and he finally, she said, established another woman, Alice Watson, in their house. She alleged the doctor struck her and pulled her hair when she asked him where he was at nights.

Mrs. Small alleges that her husband suggested that she attend a dental college which she protested against. She said Miss Watson and herself had several engagements when they tried to evict each other. Her story was long and concluded with a description of a scene in an Allegheny park when her husband encountered her with an escort. She alleges cruel and barbarous treatment.

William Giles asks for a divorce from Minnie Giles, alleging she left him because he could not earn enough money for her. He is 51 and she 24. He said he had "led a dog's life" with her.

Dora Dischner, who is suing Albert Dischner for divorce, detailed a married life in which she claimed she was the subject of great abuse.

Other cases heard were: Roberta A. Gill against Fred W. Gill and Elsie A. Thomas against Reese Thomas, on grounds of desertion.

Lizzie Nolan, a negress, was convicted of voluntary manslaughter for the killing of Samuel Thornhill at Reissing, near Bridgeville, July 10. Isaiah Christian, son-in-law of the defendant, said the shooting was caused through trouble he had with his wife. He had lived with Mrs. Nolan and had left the house. Later he sent Thornhill to the house to get some things he had left behind. The witness did not go to the house, but after Thornhill had been there some time, the witness scented trouble and went after Constable Martin Nugent. When the two returned the witness said he saw Thornhill come from the house, followed by Mrs. Nolan, who fired two shots. The constable corroborated this testimony.

Mrs. Nolan said when Thornhill came to the house he became abusive and threatened to kill the whole family. She said that as he was leaving the house he reached for his hip pocket and she, fearing he was going to kill her, fired two shots.

The commissioner's report in the divorce suit of George D. Goodman against Jennie V. Goodman, has been filed. They were married in September, 1878, and he alleges she deserted him in June, 1901, living with Harry Braxton after that and then marrying a man in Carnegie.

A decree was made in the divorce suit of Nellie C. Durant against Abbott F. Durant, on the grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment.

Mary Sheppard has instituted replevin proceedings against Joseph Beltey & Sons, to recover two diamonds valued at $350. The diamonds, one an inset two and one-half karat stone, and the other a ring setting, she alleges were stolen from her on July 17, 1903, by George W. Miller, and "that on his trial in criminal court it was disclosed that the diamonds were in the possession of the defendant."

In the United States district court Frederick Wick, a manufacturer, of Kittanning, entered a petition in bankruptcy. He gives his liabilities as $8,921 58 and his assets as $55,500.

A like petition was filed by Edward F. Cook, an ice cream manufacturer and dealer, of Homestead. He gives his liabilities as $2,165 35, with his assets as $1,395.

A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed by the Citizens National bank of New Castle against David C. Wallace of New Castle. The petition sets forth that Wallace owed the bank $17,500 on six notes, and that he had paid $1,000, leaving a balance of $16,700.

It is then alleged that Wallace committed an act of bankruptcy by selling some real estate for $8,000, the bank having secured judgment against him.

In the breach of promise suit began by Milka Caban against Joseph Drakulies, the defendant filed his affidavit of defense. He admits the plaintiff was his housekeeper. In August, 1903, but avers that he never promised to marry her nor did he do or say anything that would lead her to believe he would. He says she was a minor when working for him and therefore he believes she was not qualified to enter into a contract.

The following executions were issued yesterday: The Jenkins Drink Cure Company of Pittsburgh vs. D. F. Langton, $63 60; John B. Keenan vs. Jacob P. Nill, $2,144 47; C. Williams vs. Elizabeth O'Donnell, et al., $144 92; Pittsburgh Brewing Company vs. John G. Wisener, $1,500; Robert M. Holland, trustee, use, vs. Jordan M. Pitzins, $4,798 20; same vs. same, $318,75; Isidor Klein vs. John Kertesz, $1,609 50 Charles Semmons vs. Joseph H. Pickford, $411 95; Pittsburgh Trust Company vs. James Stratton, $1,689 71; Ellen G. McCully vs. Frederick Meyers, $62 19.

BISHOP FOWLER TO PRESIDE.

Events of Interest in Connection With Meeting of Pittsburgh Conference.

Bishop Charles H. Fowler, who presided at the West Virginia conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at Grafton, yesterday, will open the Pittsburgh conference at Leechburg tomorrow morning. This evening there will be a reception to visiting pastors at Leechburg.

While the assignment of clergymen for the year will be the usual feature, another matter of interest will be the appointment of a presiding elder for the Washington district, the term of the Rev. Dr. James Meehem having expired. The resignation of the secretary, the Rev. Dr. N. P. Kerr, after a tenure of 14 years, will also be offered. The Rev. W. L. Brown, who has been assistant secretary for the past 10 years, is a prominent candidate for the place.

Browdy Accused of Keeping Funds Entrusted Him by Convicted Murder.

Mrs. Lizzie Kelly of 155 Mayflower street, East End, wife of Ben Kelly, who was sentenced eight years to the penitentiary a short time ago for the murder of Charles Allen, made an information before Alderman James V. McMasters yesterday, charging John Browdy, a friend of Kelly, with embezzlement and larceny. Mrs. Kelly claims that while Kelly was in jail he gave Browdy a check for $60 on a local bank to get cashed, the money to be used in paying his attorney fees. Browdy, it is alleged, cashed the check and kept the money. He was arrested and furnished bail.

Heptasophs' Annual Reception.

The fifth annual reception of Pittsburgh conclave No. 86, Improved Order of Heptasophs, will be held in Syria Temple, Webster avenue, this evening. The committee in charge has issued 2,000 invitations and the affair promises to be an elaborate one.

EXPOSITION VISITORS.

When you visit the great Pittsburgh Exposition do not fail to call at the exhibit of Stieff Pianos and see the beautiful display of instruments which this firm manufactures and which they sell direct to the buyer. Also hear the wonderful AUTOPIANO, the greatest instrument of the kind now made. It is the latest invention in this style of players. Nothing like it is sold elsewhere in Pittsburgh. It is what most people not musicians have been looking for. Any child can operate it. Requires no attaching, as it is always ready for use and in no way interferes with playing the piano with fingers in the usual manner. The STIEFF exhibit is on Main Aisle of Exhibition building, near Music Hall. The STIEFF STORE is located at 618 PENN AVENUE, Known as the FACTORY STORE. E. S. Wallover, Mgr.

SUPREME COURT OPENS FALL TERM

Westmoreland County's New Court House Figured in an Appeal.

TWO IMPORTANT OPINIONS

The October term of the supreme court opened yesterday, but very few opinions were handed down. Nearly 100 young lawyers were admitted to practice before the calendar was taken up. Six cases, five of them from Westmoreland county, were argued during the day.

Westmoreland's new court house figured in an appeal from the superior court. The contract awarded to Wm. Miller & Sons was approved by but one judge, acting under the special law of 1870. The county controller refused to pay the first estimate on the ground that the work should be done under the general act of 1895, which requires the approval of all the judges. The superior court decided that Westmoreland county was governed by the special act of 1870, and the matter was then carried to the supreme court.

The other cases from Westmoreland were D. T. Knappenberger, appellant, vs. J. V. Feirchild, a dispute over a party wall; Lucinda H. Walters, appellant, vs. Mrs. Mary Steele, an action to determine whether a charge against an estate sold at sheriff's sale lays against the land or attaches to a surplus in the sheriff's hands; William W. Swank vs. A. E. Tretts, appellant, an action over an option to purchase coal rights; appeal of John L. Ridingor, assignee, an action to decide the disposition of funds arising from the sale of property.

The cases of the North Side Land Company vs. the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville Railway Company, Westmoreland county, Harrington vs. Stevason and others, Armstrong county, and Summerville and others vs. the Apollo Gas Company, Armstrong county, were non prossed. Several motions to take from the list and to quash were offered, but not decided.

In two opinions in cases against the Nanticoke Light Company, the court laid down some important rulings in relation to the electric light business. While deciding that an electric light company does not insure against damages, it must take reasonable care to not only see that wires are so installed that they can be safely used, but also that they be kept in that condition. In the suit of Eugene N. Alexander against the Nanticoke company, damages were claimed for injuries received. Alexander went to the cellar of his store and when he attempted to turn on the light received a severe shock. In the trial of the case it was testified that an agent of the company had said that the wires were so safe-guarded that they could not give a shock sufficient to kill a mosquito. The Luzerne county court granted a non-suit and from this the appeal was taken. The supreme court reverses the lower court and directs the trial below to proceed, saying that the question for damages was one for a jury. The opinion says the company is bound to deliver light and power in a form and under conditions of safety for the person and property for whose use the company charges and receives compensation, and is also bound to a supervision and diligence proportionate to the peculiar character and danger of the commodity in which it deals.

The judgment in the case of Almira F. Iseminger and others against the York Haven Water and Power Company is affirmed. This was an action to recover damages for personal injuries received by falling into a hole. The old rule that persons walking in city streets are bound to use their eyes and watch where they are going is again quoted but Justice Brown, who wrote the opinion, thinks the question in this case should have been left to a jury to decide.

Juries and jury rooms are given some space in an opinion written by Justice Brown in the case of Lorraine P. Mix vs. the North American Company, Thomas B. Wanamaker and E. A. Van Valkenburg. The appeal contained 222 assignments of error on the part of the court below. There were also alleged corrupt solicitation of jurors and misconduct of jurors. It was charged that the telephone was used in an endeavor to get a juror to stand out for the plaintiff; that a poker game was run in the jury room, and that one of the jurors who went broke was allowed to send out for a new stake. Justice Brown says:

"It has been said that the great object of civil government is to get twelve honest men in the jury box. If this is true after they get there they must be kept there, hedged around not only with their own integrity, but with every precaution against evil communication that may corrupt them." The court was not prepared to say that in itself any one of the reasons assigned ought to have moved the court below to grant a new trial, but taken together they should have done so. The verdict was not a safe one, and was set aside, a new trial being awarded.

LOREE IS OFFERED MR. NEWMAN'S PLACE

Former Pittsburgh Railroad Official May Be President of New York Central Systems.

L. F. Loree, who last week resigned the presidency of the Rock Island and got entirely away from that system, has been offered the presidency of the New York Central system, to succeed W. H. Newman, who is to be advanced to the position of chairman of the board of directors of the same line.

If Mr. Loree should become identified with the Vanderbilts in this capacity he will then be president of the New York Central, the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, the Lake Erie and Western, the "Three I's," the West Shore and the Detroit, Toledo & Milwaukee. Besides being at the head of these lines, Mr. Loree would act in an advisory capacity as director of the Michigan Central, the Big Four and the Nickel Plate and a number of other lines of less importance. A mileage of over 11,000 would be under his direction.

The authority for this statement is a personal friend of Mr. Loree, who is in a position to know something of Mr. Loree's affairs. It is no secret that before Mr. Loree went to the Baltimore & Ohio he was asked to identify himself with the Vanderbilt lines and that the Vanderbilts are now looking for a strong transportation man to succeed Mr. Newman. The fact that Mr. Loree was so willing to leave the Rock Island when he held a contract with that company also tends to strengthen the belief that he has an offer from the Vanderbilts. In some quarters it is thought that he was approached by the Vanderbilts before he left the Rock Island.

"As I understand the situation," said The Gazette's informant, "it is entirely a matter of authority. Mr. Loree has been offered the position, but will not accept it unless he is given full authority to put into effect certain ideas that he has on railway management.

"What Mr. Loree desires, more than the salary connected with an official position, is the power to carry out his plans in the management of a railway system. He is a rich man, even in these days of multi-millionaires. His fortune is estimated at from three to five millions, and if he were not ambitious to make a record in the railway world there is not a position within the gift of any railway that he would accept. If he had been willing to sacrifice his ideas of railroading he might have remained with the Rock Island. If the Vanderbilts are willing to confer upon Mr. Loree the authority that he desires he will accept, but not on any other condition."

OCTOBER AHEAD

Our books—the exact figures—show last week's sales to be $8,375.73 more than the first week of October last year.

These figures, together with other indications, appear to show that prosperity, local as well as national, is returning, and we hope and are confident it will further improve in the near future.

We take occasion to say to the people of this community that we are conducting a store of 67 departments, with unrivalled assortments of the best goods of their respective kinds at prices to distinctly prove it pays to come here, whether for goods or articles for immediate use or wear, or goods to make them.

B. & B.

FRESH ARRIVALS

Two hundred more new Coat Suits came in yesterday.

Perhaps your particular preference is among them.

We get them by hundreds now instead of dozens.

Have twenty tailoring concerns turning out garments for us where we used to have ten.

All working under our specific instructions.

We believe in variety—great diversity of styles and materials—affords you better chance to get what you want.

More than a hundred different models here now for selection—$13.50 to $75.00.

Extraordinary Suits at $25.00—such materials, style and tailoring as will appeal to that large number of critical women who consider Twenty-five Dollars about the right price for a Suit.

It is because so many think so that we have made this $25.00 line so strong.

CURTAINS AND THINGS

There are many different ways of doing the same thing.

Some people pick one kind of Curtains and others another for dressing the self-same kind of a window.

Some stores charge one price and another store charges another price for the self-same kind of a thing.

It all depends upon who is doing it, and what their ideas are.

We think it pays to sell goods as cheap as we can.

We think as so many people have different ideas as to what is the right article for a given purpose that it's necessary for us to have about all or nearly all that's made—at least all that have practical value.

Doing it this way for years past has made this store grow pretty fast.

It will grow faster from now on, as we have, as we might say, emerged from the experimental to the scientific stage.

Will you look at our collection of Curtains from 25c to $50.00 a pair and note how they bear out the statement made above?

Today we will give as many people as care to come as many pairs as they want of certain $2.00 Curtains for $1.50 a pair—just to see how many read and heed this notice.

HATS FOR MEN

Persians wear Black ones.

A Fez, you know, is a rimless hat made of a texture between the stiff and soft Hats of the countries we call civilized—and has a Black tassel on the top.

The best Red Fez is made in Austria—most of those worn in Constantinople come from Austria.

In India the natives cover their heads turban fashion with a continuous length of soft cloth wound round and round.

We have a large complete stock of Men's Hats—the very latest fashionable shapes and colors—Soft Hats and Stiff Hats—and we sell Hats with these necessary qualifications at prices that save money for the men who buy their Hats here.

Men's Hats, $1.50 to $5.00.

ARE CONFERRING WITH PENROSE

Chairman Ford and Secretary Muehlbronner Called to the State Headquarters.

BIGELOW NOT A CANDIDATE

Chairman Ford and Secretary Muehlbronner, of the Republican county committee, are at state headquarters in Philadelphia, today, in conference with Chairman Penrose. Mr. Ford was in New York yesterday and will meet Mr. Muehlbronner in Philadelphia this morning.

Francis J. Torrance will preside over the Republican meeting to be held at the Allegheny Carnegie Music hall next Saturday night. The speakers will be Congressman E. B. Vreeland of New York, Maj. Alex. McDowell of Sharon, the Hon. W. H. Graham of Allegheny and John B. Haymaker of Pittsburgh. The orators will be escorted from the Hotel Duquesne by the Young Men's Republican Tariff club. At the north end of the Sixth street bridge, the P. C. Knox club of Allegheny, will meet the procession and lead it to the hall.

There will be a meeting of the Allegheny Republican city committee at the North Side headquarters on Thursday evening, at which plan for the campaign will be discussed. The North Side members of the county committee will also attend the meeting.

There was a report yesterday that Director Bigelow would be a candidate for city controller to succeed John B. Larkin. He disposed of the story by saying, "I will never be a candidate for that office."

James Francis Burke, John A. Murphy and Daniel Ashworth will speak at an Eighth ward Republican meeting in the Franklin school house this evening. Dr. A. J. Barchfeld and Charles A. O'Brien will be the speakers at a Republican meeting in the Morse school house, Twenty-fifth ward, this evening.

City Chairman Leslie will meet at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, at Republican city headquarters, with Dr. A. J. Barchfeld and Ward Chairman W. A. Larimer, Twenty-fourth ward; Frank Dyer, Twenty-fifth; John Bradley, Twenty-sixth; C. A. Poth, Twenty-seventh; Frank J. Klumpp, Twenty-eight, and Valentine Ganter of the Twenty-ninth ward, to arrange for a Republican mass meeting on the South Side to be participated in by all the South Side wards.

Tomorrow morning Chairman Leslie has a meeting with Ward Chairman L. C. Dilworth, Nineteenth ward; John A. Murphy, Twentieth; A. C. Shafer, Twenty-first; F. P. Booth, Twenty-second, and Thomas H. Tyson, Thirty-seventh, to complete arrangements for an East End mass meeting to be held at Kenwood Lawn on Saturday evening, October 22. Charles Emory Smith of Philadelphia, former postmaster general; Congressman John Dalzell and J. McF. Carpenter wil be the speakers.

In quarter sessions court yesterday petitions were presented, signed by several residents of Chartiers township, asking the court to appoint William A. Stetler tax collector and treasurer of the district. A hearing will be held later. The vacancy is caused by the death of the former tax collector and treasurer, Charles W. Rees.

Two Republican members of common council are candidates for high offices in the city and county. John Lewis of the Twenty-eighth ward will seek the mayoralty nomination. Dr. A. M. Barr of the Eighteenth ward has announced his candidacy for sheriff. Both offices are to be filled in 1906.

The H. C. Frick Republican club, composed of Republicans of the Twenty-second ward, was organized last night in the Linden avenue school building with a membership of 250. It is believed that this will be increased to over 400. The officers of the club are as follows: President, F. H. Langford; secretary, Paul Hyde; treasurer, F. P. Booth; captain D. C. Lee; first lieutenant, J. B. Lyons; second lieutenant, W. M. Louagey. The club's uniforms will be white duck trousers, blue military coats, white caps and black leggings.

A. H. Leslie yesterday handed his resignation as a member of select council from the Seventeenth ward to President J. S. Wightman. His successor will be elected at the November election. Snowdon Lennox is the leading candidate. Mr. Leslie has entered upon his duties as superintendent of the workhouse.

PERSONALS

Col. Thomas M. King, the veteran railroad official, spent yesterday with his many friends in Pittsburgh. During his official career in this territory, in which he filled several important positions, his last being president and receiver of the Pittsburgh & Western, he made many friends. He left last night for St. Louis, and before boarding the train at the Union station said: "During the past few weeks the earnings of the railroads have increased gradually. The many large railroads will soon be in the market for equipment of various kinds. The principal orders will be for rails and locomotives. Most of the roads are sufficiently equipped with cars. From now on I think traffic will increase gradually until all railroads have the prosperity they enjoyed until a few months ago."

D. C. Ripley, president of the United States Glass Company, left last night for Atlantic City. Before leaving he said: "The glass industry promises to enjoy a year of prosperity. The depression in the building industry, due to labor disputes and high cost of building material, affected the glass business to a certain extent. There is still a great deal of glass imported to this country. The cost of production in Belgium and other European cities is so cheap the buyer can at times pay ad valorem duties and still get the material cheaper than it can be furnished in this country."

The $100,000 club, composed of agents of the New York Life Insurance Company who have written policies amounting to $100,000 or more during the past year, are being given a pleasure trip by the company. The party, 100 in number, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday from various pairs of the middle states, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Kentucky. They met at the Hotel Schenley where they took dinner. Later they were given a trolley ride around the city and left last night in a special train over the Pennsylvania railroad for Washington, where the agents of the company will hold a three days' convention.

Patrick Dolan, district president of the United Mine Workers, left last night for Philadelphia, where he was called on account of the death of a relative.

The Traffic club of Pittsburgh held a bimonthly meeting at the Henry Hotel last evening. About 200 were present and discussed plans for a series of entertainments to be given during the winter months.

P. A. Manigen of Philadelphia, inventor of the Manigen preliminary filter system, is at the Hotel Duquesne. Prof. Manigen is on his way home from St. Louis, where he attended a convention of filtration experts. He made a trip from Pittsburgh to Kittanning yesterday, where he inspected a preliminary filter which he built. He will remain in the city today and will probably see Controller Larkin and other city officials to urge upon them the advantage of his system. It is in operation in Philadelphia, and Controller Larkin and others have urged its adoption here. He attended a meeting of common council last night in company with Charles Buchbelt who, with John J. Shaw, are the local agents for the Manigen filter system. Prof. Manigen said that the St. Louis method of purifying water with sulphate of iron and lime had proved a success, but he thought his preliminary filter would be an improvement on the St. Louis method if made a part of it. He said there was a small proportion of iron and lime left in the water and a certain percentage of turbidity, which would be entirely carried off by cleansing the water in the preliminary filters.

Charles M. Schwab is not expected to visit Pittsburgh on his trip to his mountain home at Loretto. His private car has been sent back to Cresson to meet him there and take him to New York. It had been reported that he would come to this city. His business interests, however, are said to demand his return to the metropolis.

Neighbors Visiting Pittsburgh.

Henry—S. O. Blair, Tyrone; T. Sutton, Indiana; E. H. Jacobs, Canton.

Lincoln—C. F. Moore, Bellwood; T. Sullivan, Morgantown.

DEMOCRATS OPEN UP IN MARYLAND

Senator Hill Makes Ferocious Attack on the President and Chairman Cortelyou.

HE WOULD FREE FILIPINOS

BALTIMORE, MD., Oct. 10.—The campaign tour of the Hon. Henry G. Davis, Democratic vice presidential candidate, through Maryland and West Virginia, was begun here tonight by an immense gathering of Democrats in Lyric hall, the concourse being so vast that thousands, unable to gain admission to the hall, were addressed at an overflow meeting, from a stand on the public streets hastily erected for the occasion.

Senator Gorman presided. He introduced Senator Davis "as the young man."

Rants on Extravagance.

Senator Davis expressed his great pleasure in being privileged to address such a vast audience in his native state. He said:

We are now in the midst of a presidential campaign in which the people are called upon to determine whether officers in high places in the government are to be limited in their official action by the Constitution and the laws, or to be governed by a spirit of extravagance, party advantage and dominion.

The Democratic party has been called by its political opponents a party of strict constructionists. No greater compliment could be paid them and no policy is more needed at the present time than one which recognizes fully the restrictions and limitations of executive authority and action. Encouraged by the practice of the party in power, we are fast drifting in the direction of centralization and imperialism.

The people will have to decide whether the policy is to be continued of permitting the partisan participation in the work of the election by the hundred thousand salaried office-holders, including members of the cabinet.

The civil service law, its rules and regulations, are being set at naught and the army of government employes is laboring for the continuance in power of the present administration. This can be done only at the neglect of their duties and to the detriment of the public service.

Mr. Davis concluded his speech as follows:

In the last Bryan campaign we heard a great deal from the Republicans about the full dinner pail. We hear nothing of it this year. Their policy has not only emptied the pail, but has caused a general depression in business, resulting in reducing wages, working on short hours, with many men out of employment altogether.

Mr. Davis was followed by ex-Senator David B. Hill of New York, whose utterances were frequently applauded.

Hill Makes Charges.

Senator D. B. Hill followed Senator Davis. He began by severely criticising President Roosevelt for appointing his private secretary to the department of commerce for the palpable purpose of "acquiring valuable information which might be utilized in obvious ways in the campaign to the political advantage of the party in power," and then making him the chairman of the national committee to especially represent the candidate himself.

"From that date to the present," said Mr. Hill, "Chairman Cortelyou has been diligently soliciting campaign funds from the very corporations whose business operations and secret affairs he had recently been investigating. The motive for this extraordinary action is scarcely disguised. It is a scheme to utilize official information, secured through official power, to compel political contributions. It is a 'stand and deliver' policy addressed to corporate interests, which cannot well resist the appeal for fear of retaliation upon themselves, either directly or by favoritism to their rivals in business. The situation constitutes a grave scandal which cannot be ignored nor condoned. It has no parallel in the history of the country."

Senator Hill declared the St. Louis platform "covered the living issues now before the country." He discussed the tariff question in much detail, defining the Democratic attitude to be taxation for revenue and that of the Republicans, taxation for protection.

As to the Philippines, he said that congress should promptly declare, first, to give independence to the Filipinos as soon as safety will permit; and second, to protect them until they work out their destiny.

Speaking on sectional and race agitation he declared that: "This is still a white man's government and must necessarily largely remain so," and there is no defense for force bills or federal election laws.

Senator Daniel of Virginia, and ex-Gov. William Pinckney Whyte also spoke. The campaign tour will end at Bluefields, W. Va., October 18.

REPUBLICANS ARE JUST WITH TRADE COMBINATIONS

Senator Fairbanks Says Party Has Restrained Abuses Growing Out of Necessary Development.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OMAHA, NEB. Oct. 10.—In a speech at Omaha tonight Senator Charles W. Fairbanks discussed the trust question, the substance of his remarks being as follows:

"Trusts may be strong, but the government is stronger. There is no combination which is not amenable to the public law. The development of our industries and the expansion of our commerce have made combinations of capital necessary. It would be impossible to transact the present business of the country without the use of larger capital in manufacture and in transportation than was necessary a few years ago.

"The Republican party has sought in a wise and effective way to restrain the abuses which have grown out of the development. It has not made war on enterprises engaged in wholesome industry or commerce. Whenever laws have been deemed necessary in the public interst th Republican party has put them upon the statute books, and it has executed them as they were intended and as the public interest required."

CAN DRINK TROUBLE

That's One Way To Get It.

Although they won't admit it many people who suffer from sick headaches and other ails get them straight from the coffee they drink and it is easily proved if they're not afraid to leave it to a test as in the case of a lady in Connelisville.

"I had been a sufferer from sick headaches for twenty-five years and anyone who has ever had a bad sick headache knows what I suffered. Sometimes three days in the week I would have to remain in bed, at other times I couldn't lie down the pain would be so great. My life was a torture and if I went away from home for a day I always came back more dead than alive.

"One day I was telling a woman my troubles and she told me she knew that it was probably coffee caused it. She said she had been cured by stopping coffee and using Postum Food Coffee and urged me to try this food drink.

"That's how I came to send out and get some Postum and from that time I've never been without it for it suits my taste and has entirely cured all of my old troubles. All I did was to leave off the coffee and tea and drink well made Postum in its place. This change has done me more good than everything else put together.

"Our house was like a drug store, for my husband bought everything he heard of to help me without doing any good, but when I began on the Postum my headaches ceased and the other troubles quickly disappeared. I have a friend who has experience just like mine and Postum cured her just as it did me.

"Postum not only cured the headaches, but my general health has been improved and I am much stronger than before. I now enjoy delicious Postum more than I ever did coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason" and it's worth finding out.

SAY THERE IS "SKULLDUGGERY" IN THE ATTEMPT TO HAND TOOLE POSIES

Friends of "Patsey" Toole, select councilman-elect from the First ward, claim there is some "skullduggery" connected with the appearance of flowers on the new member's desk every time there is an attempt to get a quorum of the upper branch of the city legislature.

Toole was elected on September 12 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of George S. Fleming. Two weeks ago a meeting of select council was called and when the young First warder went to his seat, he found it adorned by a handsome basket of roses. As there was no quorum, Toole could not be sworn in. Yesterday a prettier bunch of flowers was sent to the budding statesman, and again there was an absence of a quorum.

The new member says he does not know who sent the flowers and this has aroused the suspicions of "Budsie" Joyce, who is a good deal of a Missourian. He has advised his friend Toole to refuse to receive any more bouquets. "It looks to me like a game," said Joyce, "to bring a rising young First ward politician into disrepute with his constituents. It is only recently that they would stand for flowers at a 'wake' down our way. I told Toole today to peep into the council chamber and if he saw any flowers to have them thrown out, but he got careless and they handed him a bunch of posies which cost at least twenty bucks. He'll be wise the next time.

"When 'Bill' Finnerty took his seat in councils last April, he was wise. He figured that some of the Sixth ward bunch would be sending bouquets. Finnerty stood on city hall steps and watched all streets and alleys leading toward the hill. Finally he saw a man coming with a big bouquet of roses and gave chase. Finnerty drove the fellow back to the Sixth ward, promising to 'put his manners on him' if he tried to land the posies in the council chamber."

LAFOLLETTE COMMITTEE RECEIVES RECOGNITION

Many of the Stalwarts Express the Opinion That Their Ticket Will Be Withdrawn.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct 10.—It was stated at Republican national headquarters that there was no conflict of authority about the Wisconsin Republican organization. As soon as the supreme court decision was announced in favor of the LaFollette electoral ticket, Chairmon Cortelyou directed the western national headquarters to recognize the LaFollette state committee as the regular Republican organization.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 10.—Considerable discussion was indulged in today over the probable outcome of the political situation existing between the two Republican factions in Wisconsin. It seems to be the general opinion that when the executive committee of the stalwart state central committee meets tomorrow or Wednesday that some definite action will be taken regarding their ticket.

Many of the leading stalwarts expressed the belief today that the ticket would be withdrawn. Senator Spooner said that he had no more appointments to make speeches in Wisconsin at present, and Senator Quarles made a similar statement.

THOMAS E. WATSON SCORES OLD PARTIES

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Thomas E. Watson, nominee of the Peoples party for president, tonight, addressed an audience which filled Princess rink overflowing. The politics of both the Republican and Democratic parties were scored bitterly by Mr. Watson, and his declarations were received with enthusiasm. Mr. Watson spoke in part as follows:

The most striking feature of the present campaign is that there was more energy displayed in obtaining nominations than there has been in securing elections. In Judge Parker's campaign, particularly, there was 10 times more industry, earnestness, systematic effort put forth in the effort to have him named as head of the Democratic ticket than is now being used to have him elected president.

How are we to explain it? The corporation influences to which Parker owes his nomination were hell-bent on having him nominated, but it is a matter of indifference to them whether he be elected or not. Standing on the kind of platform that he stands on, controlled by the kind of influences which control him, his election would mean the continued existence of the system, just as the election of Roosevelt would.

AKRON SOCIETY STIRRED.

Deserted Wife of Diamond Match Magnate Makes Her Appearance.

AKRON, O., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Deserted by her husband, spurned by his relatives, and refused admission to her husband's home after crossing the Atlantic to see him, Mrs. Gertrude Willard, wife of Harry A. Willard of the Diamond Match Company, is here on the verge of hysterics. Mrs. Willard called at the home of her husband's parents and asked for information concerning him, but her husband refused to see her.

Willard is a foreign representative of the Diamond Match Company and married an English girl at Liverpool, England, in 1890. She says that he deserted her while she was in a hospital and has brought suit for alimony. Mrs. Willard is the daughter of a prominent English manufacturer.

GROVER CLEVELAND WILL PRESIDE OVER MEETING

John G. Carlisle to Be the Principal Speaker—Announcement from Democratic Headquarters.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The following official announcement of Grover Cleveland's appearance at a meeting in this city was made at Democratic national headquarters today:

The business men's Parker and Davis association has arranged to hold a mass meeting in Carnegie hall October 21. Ex-President Grover Cleveland has so far overcome his disinclination to make a speech during the canvass, that he has consented to preside at this meeting. It is, however, fully understood both by the national committee and by his friends that this appearance of the ex-president will be the only one he will make as a speaker during the campaign.

The principal speech of the evening will be delivered by Ex-Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle, and it is expected that this meeting will be the most important one held by any party in New York during the pending campaign."

JONES & LAUGHLIN ORDER GREAT NEW MILL ENGINE

CORLISS, WIS., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—The Brown-Corliss Engine Company of Corliss has just secured an order for a large Cross compound rolling mill engine for the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company of Pittsburgh to cost $20,000. This is the third large contract that the Brown-Corliss Engine Company has secured from this company within the last 30 days. One of these contracts was for $80,000 worth of engines for American warships.

THE DEATH ROLL

Honors for Dead Veteran.

The funeral of Joseph Steel, a Civil war veteran, who died Saturday afternoon in Braddock, was held yesterday. The members of Maj. A. M. Harper post 181, G. A. R., of Braddock, attended in a body and military honors were accorded the deceased at the Braddock cemetery.

Obituary Notes.

John Dalby, aged 86, is dead at West Middlesex, Pa. He is survived by his widow and five children, Joseph of New Brighton, Mrs. James Farrell and Homer Dalby of Youngstown, Elizabeth and Albert Dalby of West Middlesex.

William Fargher, owner of the most complete Manx library in the United States, and colaborer of Hall Caine in some of Caine's Manx stories, died yesterday of heart disease at Laporte, Ind., aged 73. In the 90s he opened a summer resort at Farghers island on Pine lake, near Laporte.

Hugh McConnell, one of the oldest residents of Lawrence county, died at New Castle yesterday. His wife died only two weeks ago. He is survived by the following children: William J. and Zenas McConnell of this city, James of New Mexico, Mrs. Lydia McClain of Orangeville, O., and Mrs. R. E. Shaw of Sharon.

Henry B. Metcalf, Prohibitionist candidate for governor of Rhode Island, and the candidate of the party for vice president in 1900, is dead, aged 76. The vacancy in the Prohibitionist state ticket caused by the death of Mr. Metcalf was filled by the state central committee of the party by the nomination of William E. Brightman.

George Perkins, Sr., one of the best known residents of Youngstown, O., died yesterday morning after an illness of nine weeks. He served in the Civil war as a member of the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Ohio infantry and was wounded at Chickamauga. He leaves a widow and the following children: Joseph, George and Harris and Mrs. James Hogg. The funeral will take place at 1 p. m. Wednesday at St. John's Episcopal church.

NO CONVICTIONS ON VITAL ISSUES

Democratic Party's Platforms Have Been Made for Campaign Purposes.

ARRAIGNMENT BY MR. SHAW

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OSWEGO, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Oswego gave Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw a most cordial greeting tonight and a large audience listened to his address at Richardson theater. The secretary arrived from the west this afternoon and was met by a number of leading Republicans. A dinner in Mr. Shaw's honor was given at Col. John T. Mott's home tonight, following which a public reception was held and the secretary met hundreds of Oswego's workmen. Many uniformed clubs from surrounding towns held a parade and later escorted the secretary to the theater. Mr. Shaw said:

The last platform on which the Democratic party scored a victory declared it to be a "fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the federal government has no constitutional authority to levy or collect tariff duties except for purposes of revenue only," and also denounced "Republican protection as a fraud and a robbery of the majority for the benefit of the few." It thus declared the principle of protection unconstitutional and its practice vicious.

But the Wilson-Gorman bill, enacted by those elected upon this platform, contained some high protective schedules, more low protective schedules, but enough free trade schedules to insure universal disaster. Since our industries all thrive or languish together, the result was well-nigh as ruinous as though the Democratic congress had considered itself bound by the Democratic platform. Indeed, the bill contained so many protective features that President Cleveland, a constant, free-trader, declared it "full of perfidy and dishonor," and allowed it to become a law without his signature, thus giving evidence that among the personnel of the party there are those who have political convictions and who square their conduct thereby.

Finding in the record of its past nothing for which it had ever declared, and nothing that it had ever declared against, that could be used as the paramount issue in 1896, the Democratic party in that year held its convention in advance of the Populist convention, and demanded the free and unlimited coinage of silver. This had been the Populist issue in the preceding campaign, and it was the property of the Populist party in 1896, as it had been in 1892. Its espousal by the Democratic party was a matter of expediency, and I doubt not a million men cast their votes in its support for the sole purpose of being regarded "whose greatest anxiety was lest they might be successful and the party platform carried out."

Consistent with its policy of expediency, the Democratic platforms of 1896 and 1900 were silent on the principles involved in tariff legislation. The recollection of recent experiences was too vividly in the minds of the American people to make prudent another wholesale denunciation of protective tariffs so soon; but no measure of prosperity or success under a Republican administration need ever be expected to call forth a word of approval of the principles and policies which have logically, irresistibly and inevitably brought the prosperity.

But this year, after a prolonged contest between the antagonistic elements of the party, being unable to agree that the adoption of the gold standard was a wise solution of the money question, and being likewise unable to agree that the free coinage of silver would be a wiser solution, it was deemed expedient that the platform be silent on the money question, and that the experiment be tried of again denouncing protection as "robbery of the many to enrich the few."

But the nominee of the convention, who seems to be an expedientist, when he found the New York papers would no longer indorse silence, sent a telegram to the effect that he considered the money question irrevocably settled. Judge Parker is evidently well fitted for a Democratic party leader. Both Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Bryan gave evidence of having believed something, and therefore each failed to harmonize all elements of his party; but I see no reason why Judge Parker should not harmonize all elements of his party except those individuals who hold actual convictions on vital questions.

Ohio Miners Strike.

MASSILLON, O., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—District President Robert Legg of the United Mine Workers of Ohio has ordered a strike of the 1,500 miners employed by the Massillon Coal Mining Company in its 16 mines in the Tuscarawas valley. The scale of last April called for 3 cents a ton, at all except the two Pocock mines, where 5 cents was to be paid, owing to the hardness of the coal. The miners now demand 5 cents for machine mining at all the mines.

Glad Suicide Attempt Failed.

Wilma Gordon, aged 24 years, who tried to commit suicide last Saturday night by taking a quantity of bichloride of mercury at her home in Woods Run avenue, Allegheny, was discharged from St. Johns General hospital yesterday. The girl says she is glad her attempt at suicide failed.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—(Special.)—John H. Balleridge of Latrobe, Pa., was assaulted and robbed on a train here today.

CAMPAIGN FUNDS ARE COMING SLOW

PENROSE ADOPTS A BADGE

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 10.

Chairman Penrose is having a very busy time in this campaign. He is dividing his time between the state and national headquarters, and Chairman Cortelyou consults him on most important questions. Mr. Penrose says his reports from close congressional districts are that everything is going all right for the Republican candidates.

Advices from New York are that the Republican national leaders are finding it most difficult to secure campaign subscriptions, those who have been prompt and generous in the past now being neglectful for the reason that they consider Roosevelt's election certain. The same financial apathy, I am told, exists in the various states, the chairmen of which meet with much difficulty in raising funds for actual expenses, though they are working on the most economic basis possible. County leaders do not enjoy such reports when made by their state chairman and the condition accentuates the fact that a "sure thing" is not always a tranquilizing proposition.

Among the callers at headquarters today were Lieut.-Gov. Brown, New Castle; Capt. J. M. Shoemaker Johnstown; C. H. Kemp, cashier of the First National bank at Kane; Superintendent of Public Printing A. Nevin Pomeroy, and Congressman Lafean of New York.

"He is good enough for me," is the motto on the official Republican campaign badge, which bears a splendid likeness of President Roosevelt and which has been adopted by the Republican state and city executive committees. Col. J. Wesley Durham designed the badge, and when State Chairman Penrose today saw it for the first time he remarked:

"And that's good enough for me."

The official campaign badge presents the picture of a workingman holding a full dinner pail in one hand and with the other hand jointing to the likeness of President Roosevelt. The badge will be distributed all over the state and in every election division in Philadelphia.

Col. Durham has for years designed the official Republican campaign badges. His latest badge has been pronounced the prettiest and most effective he has ever designed. CHESTER D. POTTER.

Workmen Were in Danger.

Fire at the foot of a scaffold yesterday morning endangered for a time the lives of several workmen who were doing some repairing at the plant of the American Steel and Wire Company, in Preble avenue, Allegheny. An alarm was turned in and the fire extinguished before the flames reached the men.

OPERATIONS NOT ALWAYS NECESSARY.

Doctors Frequently Mistaken.

"I suffered untold agony with piles for over three years. Two doctors told me nothing but an operation would cure me. I tried different remedies, but nothing did me any good until I used Pyramid Pile Cure. I bought six fifty cent boxes at the drug store, and now I can do my work and go out, where before I spent most of my time lying down. I thank God for giving the discoverer the knowledge to make such a cure. I recommend it to all my friends, and if I ever have piles again will certainly use this remarkable remedy. You can use this in any way you wish to make known the wonderful merit of Pyramid Pile Cure." Mrs. Wm. Mucky, 81 Marshall Street, Elizabeth, N. J.

The experience of this lady is that of thousands of others who have been assured that nothing short of an operation would rid them of this distressing complaint. On the face of it, it appears as if too many surgeons operate in order that they may keep their hand in, and lose no portion of their skill; then, again, too many surgeons are anxious to experiment (like the scientific man in Mark Twain's pathetic story of the dog and her little puppy), and do not have proper regard for a patient's physical welfare or condition.

We advise every sufferer to think twice before submitting to an operation for piles, and suggest that those interested write to the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their little book on the causes and cure of piles, which is sent free for the asking.

THE PIANOLA-PIANO

Combining in compact form a high-class Piano and a Pianola Piano Player all in one.

The Piano is of the usual type—of usual size—and first-class. It may be played as any other piano is by those who prefer to play on an instrument by hand.

But here's the advantage:

Now, whether you've ever touched the keys of a piano or not, you can play this piano at once by means of the Pianola. It's merely a matter of working the pedals. The music comes—instantly—irresistibly. All classes of composition are reproduced by this noble instrument.

The celebrated Weber Piano is used in some instances with the Metrostyle Pianola, forming an artistic combination that appeals strongly to music lovers generally.

ARCHBISHOP GETS OHIO LOVING CUP

VOICE FROM WEST VIRGINIA

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—The archbishop of Canterbury and bishops representing various parts of the world addressed a great missionary mass meeting in Tremont Temple tonight. The attendance was so large it was necessary to hold an overflow meeting in St. Paul's church, at which most of the addresses were repeated. The address of the archbishop was probably the last he will make during his stay in America.

The archbishop spoke at three gatherings. He was presented with a loving cup at Bishop William Laurence's residence by St. Stephen's church of East Liverpool, O., and in accepting it spoke briefly.

The principal business transacted by the convention today was the adoption of a resolution naming Richmond, Va., as the place for the next triennial convention in 1907. The house of deputies in executive session voted to confirm the election of the Rev. Edward W. Osborne of Boston superior of the American branch of the Society of Mission Priests of St. John the Evangelist, as bishop coadjutor of Springfield, Ill.

J. Pierpont Morgan offered a resolution to the effect that the addresses made at the joint session last Thursday, when the archbishop of Canterbury was received, be printed in the journal as part of the minutes. The resolution was adopted.

A slight commotion was caused by the Rev. Dr. S. S. Moore of Parkersburg, W. Va., who rising to a question of privilege, criticised the action of the house of bishops in transmitting a message referring to business which was before the house of deputies, but which had not been finally acted upon. The incident was ended by the withdrawal of the message from the proceedings of the house of deputies.

The house of deputies, at the request of the committee on canons, voted to postpone the consideration of the proposed new canon on marriage and divorce until tomorrow.

BASHFUL GROOM SCARED AT WEDDING PREPARATIONS

Their Elaborate Scale Frightened Him and He Has Mysteriously Disappeared.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, PA., Oct. 10.—Too bashful to stand the ordeal of being married, Sylvester C. C. Williams of this city mysteriously disappeared after all the arrangements for the wedding had been made, the invitations issued, the cake baked and the prospective bride's trousseau prepared.

Williams was to have been married last Tuesday evening to Miss Winnie Vaughn of this city, but sent word on Monday the wedding would have to be postponed, making it necessary to recall the invitations and stop all preparations. Williams has since been missing, and his friends are totally in the dark as to his whereabouts. Miss Vaughn is prostrated and cannot explain the mysterious actions of Williams.

The prospective groom is said to be of a retiring disposition and objects to any fuss or display. Being bashful, he was afraid to face the minister before the invited guests and pleaded all along for a quiet wedding. But Miss Vaughn't mother had given all of her other daughters a large wedding and she wanted to do the same for Winnie, her youngest daughter.

Williams is employed as a car inspector in the Pennsylvania railroad shops here and bears the best reputation. He gave no reason in his note to Miss Vaughn, stating that the wedding would have to be postponed.

MAKING NEW CHINESE TREATY.

Secretary Hay and Sir Chen Tung Liang Cheng Laying Foundation—Not to Be So Rigid.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Secretary Hay and Sir Chen Tung Liang Cheng have at last begun to lay the foundation for a new Chinese exclusion treaty, and it is expected the convention will be ready for submission to the senate at the approaching session. The treaty will, it is understood, replace all existing laws on the subject.

It is the intention to continue in full force in the treaty the principle of the exclusion of Chinese coolies, and the Chinese government itself is perfectly willing this should be done. But the treaty will contain provisions regarded as much needed and earnestly sought for by the Chinese government for many years, looking to a more considerate, liberal and kindly treatment of the higher class of Chinese seeking to enter our ports.

PUBLIC FUNDS SHORT.

Governor of Kansas Claims That Many Thousand Dollars Are Missing from Treasury.

TOPEKA, KAN., Oct. 10.—Gov. Bailey today gave out an official report covering an examination of the state treasury and school fund accounts, which says:

"This examination has developed shortages, irregularities and discrepancies amounting to many thousands of dollars in the 12 counties examined. In my judgment the same conditions will be found existing in the remaining counties of the state, not only in the permanent school fund, but in the normal and agricultural funds."

He suggests a thorough investigation.

LAST OF GANG ROUNDED UP.

Secret Service Officer Brought Another Alleged Counterfeiter.

Secret Service Operative John E. Washer arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday with another prisoner, supposed to be the last of a gang of alleged counterfeiters he has been chasing in the mountains of Fayette county. This man was George Craig, who lives in Bullskin township.

The Kelly brothers and Harry Wingrove, who were arrested last week, were given a hearing yesterday before United States Commissioner Lindsay. Craig and Wingrove waived a hearing and were held for the grand jury in $500 bail. The Kelly brothers demanded more time and will be given a hearing next Tuesday.

ADVISES COAL MINERS TO DISCONTINUE STRIKE

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Oct. 10.—National Secretary W. B. Wilson of the miners' union, spoke at Jellico today, advising the miners to discontinue the strike. It is predicted that the joint conference next Friday will agree upon the 7 per cent reduction in wages.

Finney Is Now in Jail.

Joseph Finney was brought from Lorain, O., yesterday and sent to jail in default of $1,000 bail on a charge of larceny. He came without requisition papers. Finney formerly kept a butcher shop in Oakland and later started a drug store in the same building. A lot of watches left in his store by a salesman for a jewelry firm were found buried under a tree on the old Schmertz place in Oakland.

Lutherans Will Hold Rally.

A general rally of Lutherans of Allegheny county will be held tonight in the First Lutheran church, Grant street. All of the Lutheran societies will send delegations. Addresses will be delivered by chairmen of the different committees and devotional exercises will be in charge of the ministers. The gathering is in the nature of a preliminary meeting to the annual convention which will be held in this city next week.

STEEL EXPORTS QUITE LARGE

U. S. Corporation Has Exported Nearly 25,000 Tons This Month.

THE OUTLOOK IS VERY GOOD

The United States Steel Corporation has exported, since October 1, nearly 25,000 tons of iron and steel products. Its total exports for the month are expected to exceed 130,000 tons, including about 30,000 tons of steel rails for Canada.

Representatives of the United States Steel Corporation declare the export business of iron and steel is beyond all expectations. Business in this line has been so brisk that it has been deemed wise to advance certain products for export $1 a ton. One official said that exports to Cuba were exceptionally heavy. "Good service and superior material," said he, "are responsible for the brisk export demand."

It is the consensus of opinion among iron and steel men that the outlook for the first half of the coming year is growing distinctly better. While it is true, they say, that most of the railroads are still holding back their rail orders for 1905 delivery, they are buying freely of all other materials, and it is now only a question of a short time when there will be no longer reason to delay their orders for rails. There appears no likelihood of reduction in the price this year.

WABASH RAILROAD SHOWS INCREASE IN EARNINGS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—The fifteenth annual report of the directors of the Wabash Railroad Company, which will be submitted at the annual meeting tomorrow in Toledo, was given out today. The report is for the year ended on June 30, 1904, and states that while an increase of $1,882,737 69 is shown in the gross earnings, that is offset by a corresponding increase in expenses.

Among the conditions affecting the operating expenses of the road the following are enumerated: A general increase in wages aggregating $400,000; increase in the cost of fuel; preparing the world's fair terminals and the reduction of grades and general improvement for the St. Louis and Chicago line.

The following statistics are given: Gross earnings, $25,025,426, an increase of $1,942,797; operating expenses, $17,683,508, an increase of $1,867,846; net earnings, $5,340,118, an increase of $14,951; freight earnings, $14,064,656, an increase of $737,178; passenger earnings, $7,045,525, an increase of $910,024; total tons freight carried, 11,712,011; total number passengers carried, 8,183,474.

'SQUIRE M'CALL CELEBRATED.

Veteran Tipstaff of No. 3 Court Appropriately Observed Passing Another of Life's Milestones.

'Squire R. S. P. McCall of Tarentum celebrated his 69th birthday last evening by entertaining a number of his friends at the old homestead. 'Squire McCall is the veteran tipstaff of court of common pleas No. 3, having acted in that capacity since the court was organized in 1891. He was born in Freeport, and since his majority has been prominent in Republican politics, for many years holding the office of justice of the peace in Tarentum. He served in the One Hundred and Twenty-third Pennsylvania volunteers, taking part in the second battle of Bull Run, where he helped to stem the retreat; at Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville and Antietam.

In 1860 he married Rachel Euwer, and a son and daughter graced the union. He has three grandchildren living. Tipstaff McCall is a member of Post 135 and a member of the Masonic fraternity, being connected with Pollock lodge 502, and of the Veteran Masonic Association of Pennsylvania. With one exception he is the oldest tipstaff in the county courts. The friends of 'Squire McCall who visited at his home last night wished him many more happy and useful years.

Judge John M. Kennedy of No. 3 court, was Tipstaff McCall's special honor guests at last night's "smoker." Among other presents Mr. McCall received a handsome clock.

The guests, who included prominent business men bankers of Tarentum, were as follows: J. C. Stewart, R. A. Travis, George McWilliams, John P. Crawford, B. S. Sprankle, E. H. Kennerdell, John Duster, Charles Biehl, M. C. Stitt, E. C. Starke, R. O. Stilwell, James L. Waltendaugh, W. N. Wylie, James Calgan, J. K. Stevenson, Jr., H. W. Flick, Nelson McVicar, James Rutherford, August Nelson, William W. Inskep, J. K. Fulton, Jr., C. Goetz, H. Stamm, John P. McCall, W. L. Loucks, A. N. Marvin, T. S. Humes. An address was made by Judge Kennedy.

AID M'CANDLESS CHURCH.

Mission Committee Appropriates $500 to Repair the Building.

The committee of presbyterial missions of the Pittsburgh presbytery of the Presbyterian church met in the office of William C. Lilley, Conestoga building, yesterday and appropriated $500 to the McCandless Avenue church to put the building in repair. The committee also approved the establishment of a mission Sunday school in the Squirrel hill school house in Bigelow street, conducted by the Greenfield church.

The secretary was ordered to issue literature calling attention to all churches in the presbytery that $25,000 will be expected in the annual offering to be taken up on Sunday, November 20.

Mandamus Against Fuller.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 10.—The Dauphin county court today granted a mandamus on Secretary of the Commonwealth Fuller, compelling him to show cause why he refused to accept the certificate of nomination of Abig Smucker and Louis W. Heikes, Prohibition nominees for assembly in Adams county. Secretary Fuller alleges the Prohibitionists failed to poll sufficient votes in Adams county at the election for general assembly to entitle the party to make nominations by certificate.

A Cure for Asthma

Mr. R. M. Spencer, 2380 Vermont avenue, Toledo, O., says: "Asthma has been growing on me for 3 years, until last summer the attacks became so severe that many nights I spent half the time gasping for breath. Doctors seemed to give no relief whatever, and I felt there was no hope for me, when a drug clerk recommended your Asthma Cure. Its effect is truly magical and gives complete relief in from 2 to 5 minutes."

Mr. W. Serenus, Cavalier, N. D., says: "I was troubled with asthma for 20 years, about 8 years ago I started to use your Asthma Cure, and I have not had an attack for six years."

COMMON KILLED BIGELOW'S BILL

Repealer of Second Avenue Widening Is Voted Down Three Times.

BRIDGE FUND AGAIN SUFFERS

Director Bigelow's ordinance to repeal the ordinance for the widening of Second avenue, was killed last night in common council, and cannot be resurrected during the existence of the present councils. The repealing ordinance was passed at the previous meeting of common council and last night, on motion of J. F. Semmelrock, it was reconsidered and indefinitely postponed.

After some further business had been transacted, another motion to reconsider the last action on the bill was made and adopted, and the measure was again indefinitely postponed. This was done the third time by the Republican members, who claim that the ordinance is now "deader than a mackerel" and that Director Bigelow can no longer stop the improvement.

The board of viewers recently made a report to court on the proposed widening of Second avenue, assessing damages and benefits. It is proposed to widen Second avenue from 50 to 70 feet, between Try street and the South Tenth street bridge. The viewers fixed the cost of the improvement at $195,000. Of this amount the city is assessed $107,000 and the abutting property owners $88,000.

Director Bigelow objected to the assessment upon the city and said the burden of cost should have been placed upon the property owners. The property owners, on the other hand, objected to the assessment of $88,000, claiming the burden should have been placed upon the city.

Transfers to Highways and Sewers.

An ordinance prepared by Director Bigelow was introduced in common providing for the transfer of $56,841 26 from the various funds to supply a deficit in the bureau of highways and sewers. The director proposes to take $12,600 more from the Point bridge fund, besides the $15,000 which was taken to rebuild the race track in Schenley park. Of the $12,600 the sum of $9,600 comes from the Point bridge fund direct and $3,000 from the fund for the Monongahela river ferry which was intended to be operated while the bridge was closed for repairs. This $3,000 was originally taken from the bridge fund and this time is transferred to highways and sewers.

There will be a wail of indignation in the Sixth ward because the ordinance transfers the $20,000 voted this year for the Bluff street park to highways and sewers. Last week the Sixth ward people were assured that the money would be used to improve the park.

Other improvements also suffer. From the street repaving fund $20,244 47 is taken; $3,089 70 from the Larimer avenue bridge repair fund; $2,500 from the Bond street bridge and other items. The ordinance was referred to the finance committee.

Highland Avenue Cared For.

Notwithstanding the shortage of money Director Bigelow looks out for North Highland avenue, in which he resides. At the beginning of the year $30,000 was appropriated for the repaving of North Highland avenue, more money than was appropriated for any other street in the city. Not content with this the director introduced in common council last night a bill transferring $6,000 more from the street repaving fund to the fund for the repaving of North Highland avenue. A resolution was also presented for the transfer of $11,000 from the fund to equip gasoline lamps with new mantels to the bureau of light appropriation.

Besides these transfers of money, ordinances were introduced for the employment of a large number of additional city employes—a police and fire alarm inspector and an additional fire alarm operator in the bureau of electricity, each to receive $90 a month; two additional building inspectors at $125 a month each, and additional employes in the bureau of health, as follows: Laundresses at Municipal hospital, each $1 50 a day; cook, $50 a month; assistant cook, $35 a month; chief engineer, $100 a month; two assistant engineers, each $75 a month; two disinfectors, $75 a month; driver, $2 a day; three watchmen, each $2 a day; two additional plumbing inspectors, each $110 a month. An ordinance was also presented for the expenditure of $900 for a retaining wall at the Municipal hospital.

Cecil Alley Widening.

An ordinance for the widening of Cecil alley, between Penn and Liberty avenues, from a width of 20 to 50 feet, was presented. A bill was introduced for the change of the name of Forward avenue, Twenty-second ward, between Murray avenue and Schenley park, to Pocussett street.

The initial step for the letting of the contract for the filtration plant was taken by the introduction of an ordinance authorizing the letting of a contract for the printing of 10 sets of pamphlets containing copies of the contract and specifications, for which $5,000 is appropriated out of the bond fund.

The Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston Railway Company succeeded at last in having passed its ordinance authorizing the company to lay tracks across South Thirtieth street, Jane street, Sarah street and Cecil alley. William Brand protested against laying railroad tracks in streets at grade, and the special committee, consisting of J. J. McKelvey, Richard McNally and C. W. Helmold, which had investigated the vacation, offered no information. The vacation ordinances of the Pennsylvania railroad for the Brilliant cut-off, in the Twenty-first ward, failed of final passage for lack of a legal majority.

Street Vacation Killed.

The McPherson street vacation, between Richland street and Braddock avenue, was indefinitely postponed and cannot be called up during the present councils.

Communications were received from the mayor and corresponding secretary of the American Federation of Labor, requesting the co-operation of councils in encouraging the effect to secure the silver anniversary convention, to be held in 1905, for Pittsburgh. Common council passed a resolution authorizing the mayor to extend an invitation in the name of the city.

The committee on surveys, presented ordinance fixing the grade in Monterama street, Concord, Reimer, Alhambra and Loyal alleys and repealing the ordinance for locating a part of Salway street. They were passed finally.

The resolution for a joint committee of and to prepare a new city digest, the one of 1897 being practically obsolete, was passed.

The ordinances for the widening of Sixth avenue from Grant to Diamond streets and Webster avenue from Seventh avenue to Grant street were passed finally.

Mr. Brand took exceptions to a resolution authorizing the payment of a bill of $1,002 09 for park supplies. The bill contained a number of items all of which were for plants furnished with the exception of one of $400 for boiler compound.

Filtration Bill Passed.

He took the technical stand that a measure could contain but one subject. The bill passed on second reading.

The measure authorizing the sale of the electric fountain in Schenley park to the highest bidder was sidetracked by Mr. Brand. He wanted to know why the fountain had to be sold and why the matter had been considered by the finance committee instead of the committee on public works. Roenigk moved to refer it to the committee on public works. This motion prevailed.

The ordinance for a permit clerk in the bureau of building inspection was passed finally, as was also the ordinance fixing the number and salaries of additional employes in the bureau of filtration. The latter ordinance provides for the following:

One principal division engineer, $226; one assistant engineer, $150; four draftsmen, $100; four transitmen, $85; four levelmen, $75; four rodmen, $60; two clerks, $75; one blue printer, $40. These salaries are not to be exceeded per month.

Present to a Benedict.

Before adjournment Dr. A. M. Barr, in a neat speech, announced that Councilman W. A. Martin from the Sixteenth ward had become a benedict. He then produced a heavy chest of table silver, the substantial indorsement by the members of council of Mr. Martin's act. Mr. Martin responded appropriately.

He Saw the Sketch and Changed the Weather On Us.

A TROLLEY WRECK CLAIMS ONE LIFE

THE MOTORMAN IS KILLED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ROCHESTER, PA., Oct. 10.—A street car on the Monaca division of the Beaver Valley Traction Company was derailed at the end of the Ohio river bridge at 11 o'clock here tonight and crashed into a building, killing one man and injuring two others.

THE DEAD.

THE INJURED.

CHARLES GOEHRING, night policeman of Rochester, both legs crushed; taken to the Beaver Valley General hospital; may die.

WILLIAM HARTMAN, conductor, lives in New Brighton, severely bruised and thought to be injured internally; taken to his home.

The car was on its way from Monaca to Rochester and had just crossed the Ohio river bridge. At the Rochester end of the bridge the tracks curve sharply to the right. At this point the car suddenly left the rails and crashed into the rear of W. F. Workman's wholesale cigar store in the Fred Marquard building.

Motorman Thorne was caught and his body fearfully mangled. Policeman Goehring was riding in the vestibule with Thorne and was caught in the wreckage. It was 30 minutes before Goehring was taken out. During this time, though suffering intense pain, he retained consciousness and directed the work of the rescuers. At the moment of the accident Conductor Hartman was standing in the center of the car and for a time was held a prisoner in the wreckage. There were but three passengers in the car. One of these, William Allerton of Pittsburgh, was standing on the rear platform. He was not injured.

CRUSADERS ARE ON DEFENSIVE

Sunday Observance Association Without Detectives and in No Hurry for Others.

TO EDUCATE FOR A WHILE

There will be little aggressive action on the part of the Allegheny County Sabbath Observance association for some time to come, notwithstanding a paper read by the Rev. Dr. T. J. McCrory on the purposes of the organization, before the Ministerial union yesterday morning, received the plaudits of the members.

At a meeting of the executive committee, held in the parlors of the Central Young Men's Christian association building yesterday afternoon, there was but half a quorum present it being the third successive week that a business meeting was impossible for want of a quorum. The Rev. Dr. S. A. Hunter, president of the association, announced that the associations has no detectives at present, the old officers having resigned for reasons unknown to him, and that while it was the intention to engage others, he had no idea when this could be accomplished.

Agent P. T. Gamble, talking on the same subject, said: "We are not giving our attention at this time toward securing detectives. We are on the defensive and have the Starkey case to look after. We have plenty of time to secure more detectives. There is no rush about that."

The Rev. Dr. T. T. Mutchler of Philadelphia, secretary of the State Sabbath association, conferred with the Rev. Drs. J. T. McCrory and S. A. Hunter and the Revs. C. L. Thurgood and E. C. Lane yesterday on the matter of preparing literature for a campaign of education, which campaign has been deferred "until after election."

The executive committee is arranging for a mass meeting to take place in the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal church next Monday evening. J. I. Buchanan will preside and J. J. Porter will be one of the speakers.

Dr. McCrory in his paper, read before the Ministerial union, scored city and county officials for harboring the disorderly house element and announced he could name six men who could rid the county of the evil. He then dwelt upon the purposes and necessity of the organization and held that when city and county officials were lax in enforcing the law it was the duty of the citizens to compel its enforcement.

Five-minute addresses followed by the Revs. Wallace Tharp, E. L. Davis, Dr. D. S. Kennedy, Dr. E. L. Eaton and A. R. Stark, commending the movement. Mr. Tharp again voiced his resentment against the name Sabbath as representing Sunday and Dr. Kennedy took exception to the argument.

At the conclusion of the addresses, the Rev. S. R. Spahr was elected president of the union, the Rev. W. R. Warren vice president and the Rev. G. H. Ralston, secretary.

RE-ELECT OLD DIRECTORS.

At the second annual meeting of the Monongahela club, held at its headquarters in the Peoples Savings Bank building yesterday, William I. Mustin, H. H. Farren and John B. Barbour, Jr., were re-elected directors for three years. The officers of the club are: President, W. I. Mustin; vice president, George M. McCandless; secretary, W. R. McCarty; treasurer, D. McK. Lloyd.

The board of directors as at present constituted is W. I. Mustin, G. M. McCandless, H. H. Farren, John B. Barbour, Jr., S. M. McElroy, A. R. Neel, A. J. Lawrence, W. A. McCutcheon and Charles A. Painter. Mr. Mustin will be re-elected president at the reorganization meeting of the board.

Rioters Being Gathered In.

HUNTINGDON, PA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Two additional arrests were made today of Italians who participated in yesterday's bloody riot at Pemberton, in which Francesco Ambraski was killed and three were seriously injured. John Tolasi, one of the prisoners in jail here, is not expected to live.

FOUR GIRLS ARE BADLY BURNED

WAS DARED BY COMPANIONS

As a result of young girls daring their companion to smoke a cigarette four girls were seriously burned in a gas explosion in Greenfield last night. The girls are all seriously burned and one of them may die as a result of the prank. The injured are:

BEATRICE ROONEY, aged 10, of Denmarsh street; burned about the hands and face, and hair burned off.

MILDRED MURRAY, aged 11, of 10 Hosack street; burned about the face and hands.

MARIE ROONEY, aged 12, of Denmarsh street; burned about the face and arms.

ELIZABETH SHIELDS, aged 10, of 12 Hosack street; burned about the face, arms and lower part of the body; condition serious.

While the girls were playing in Rupple alley, near Hosack street, the Murray girl exhibited a cigarette to the others and said she had found it in the street. Her companions dared her to smoke it. The girl secured a match and while her companions stood about her she struck it and attempted to light the cigarette. The girls were standing over a manhole leading to a natural gas main and the supposition is that gas had collected there. At all events almost as the flame arose from the match a terrific explosion occured and a flash of flame enveloped the girls.

When their clothing ignited the girls ran through the streets toward their homes like pillars of flames. Their screams attracted people living in the streets in the vicinity and after considerable difficulty the burning clothing was extinguished. The children were taken to their homes and Dr. T. M. McClellehan and Dr. Richard L. Ertzman were summoned and dressed the injuries of the girls. The Shields girl is the most seriously burned and may not recover.

SORRY HE DIDN'T CUT OFF THE HEAD OF HIS VICTIM

East End Italian Arrested for Shooting a Countryman Regrets That the Job Was Incomplete.

"If the police had not arrived when they did, I would have cut off his head with my razor," is the statement the police of the East Liberty station credit Antonio Dallaa with making after he had been placed under arrest for shooting Angelo Sidilia, in Larimer avenue, near Joseph street, at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

The men met near the corner and Dallaa accused Sidilia with visiting his wife during his absence. He fired two shots at him, one taking effect in the left knee and the other in the left thigh. Dallaa was almost immediately placed under arrest. Sidilia was taken to the East End hospital where it was said his chances for recovery are good.

Dallaa, who lives at 31 Poplar alley, stated last night that Sidilia had stolen his wife and all his money in Italy, coming to America. He found them here and recovered his wife, whom he charges Sidilia with visiting yesterday morning. The latter says he sought Dallaa at the house to secure work for him.

SCARED TO DEATH BY SIGHT OF A RACCOON

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 10.—Miss Bridget Sweene died yesterday afternoon from hysteria induced by coming suddenly upon a 'coon in the woods where she was hunting nuts. She was 45 years old. The incident occurred two weeks ago and she never recovered from the shock.

JUMPED 80 FEET TO AVOID ARREST

Soho Russian Said to Have Also Attempted Murder Because of Petty Theft.

LEAP WILL COST HIS LIFE

In an effort to escape arrest on a charge of stealing a package of tobacco, Leon Kurnich, aged 27, a Russian, jumped five stories to the ground in Soho last night, sustaining internal injuries that in all probability will cost him his life.

Kurnich entered the grocery of Mrs. Mary McQuillan, 2430 Forbes street, shortly after 9 o'clock, accompanied by John Koritz, another Russian, both of whom live next door. They each ordered a package of tobacco and, according to Mrs. McQuillan, refused to pay for it and left. Mrs. McQuillan then went to the back porch, which is five stories above the Baltimore & Ohio railroad tracks, although the front of the house is but one-story high. The men are said to have re-entered, Koritz taking a box of soap and Kurnich a five-pound package of tobacco. Mrs. McQuillan rushed in and remonstrated.

Kurnich struggled with the woman until she managed to rush out upon the porch, where he is said to have drawn a knife and attempted to cut her throat. Mrs. McQuillan screamed, attracting the attention of Officer Frank Grada, who arrived upon the scene just as Kurnich was endeavoring to throw the woman over the porch.

As soon as Kurnich saw the officer he released his hold and placing one hand upon the rail leaped over. He dropped fully 80 feet, landing upon a plank, demolishing it and splitting his shoes. When the officers reached Kurnich he was unconscious. He was removed to Mercy hospital, where an examination proved the remarkable fact that not a bone was broken in the man's body, the only sign of injury being a swelling at the base of the spine. It is believed that he sustained serious internal injuries and it is not thought the man can survive. Koritz was detained in the Oakland police station.

COMPLETED THE DETAILS.

Chancellor McCormick Will Preside at Peace Congress in Eighth Street Temple Thursday Night.

Arrangements for the peace congress which will be held in the Eighth street temple on Thursday night are about completed. Chancellor S. B. McCormick, of Western university, will preside at the meeting, which will open at 7:45 o'clock, sharp.

The Rev. S. Edward Young, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, will be among the speakers, and there will also be present a representative from the Catholic clergy. The opening address will be delivered by John Wanamaker of Philadelphia. Invitations have been issued to the judges of the different Allegheny county courts, who, with other prominent citizens, will act as vice presidents. There will be about 40 of the latter.

FATHER DIED WITH CHILD AT HIS SIDE

UNIONTOWN, PA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Charles C. Beck, aged 36, of New Geneva, was found dead Saturday under a chestnut tree on the mountainside, and his 5-year-old daughter, Geneva, was lying asleep by his side. Mr. and Mrs. Beck, daughter Geneva and a smaller child, were hunting chestnuts but the boy became restless and Mrs. Beck took it home, the husband saying he would return later. He failed to appear and at 8 o'clock was found lying under a tree, dead, with the child sleeping by his side. The girl said her father climbed the tree and fell. He asked the child to go for help, but she feared she would get lost and her father finally told her to stay with him. The child sat down by his side and fell asleep.

ONE-TIME FAVORITE AT TRIMBLES LOSES CIRCUS OUTFIT TO THIEF

To look at the pawn sheets and find if his show had been "spouted" by "Bill," the canvasman, was the errand that took "Ed." Hughes to detective bureau headquarters last night. Hughes is an old-time theatrical man who used to do an Irish sketch and dance at Trimble's Varieties long years ago. Recently, in his old age, he embarked on a managerial career. He purchased a moving picture machine, an engine and dynamo, and a tent. When he arrived at the detective bureau he had nothing left of the whole outfit but the orchestra, which consisted of a harmonica, a pair of dancing shoes and the tent. The tent was still in Moon Run, whence Hughes had walked, nine miles, to report the theft of the show.

Hughes said his show "played" at Moon Run on Saturday "to a large and appreciative audience," but on Sunday he discovered the picture machine and engine and dynamo gone. "Bill," the canvasman, was missing, too. The man who operated the dynamo stuck by Hughes, but his occupation is gone until the show is recovered.

Hughes said he heard that "Bill," whose last name he does not know, had fled to Sharpsburg, and he believes that the outfit has been pawned or sold. Hughes lives at McKees Rocks.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Boston vanquished New York on the baseball field here today, winning the American league championship for the second time. It was a sensational finish to a thrilling struggle, which has been going on for several months, and while Boston won, the New York representatives were not disgraced. In fact they almost shared the honor with the victors.

At the end of the fifth inning of the opening contest the local men seemed to have the first game well in hand as they had scored two runs, one of which was earned on singles by Kleinow, Chesbro and Dougherty, and the other was forced in by Dineen, who, after giving Keeler a base on balls, did a similar favor for Elberfeld, and allowed Chesbro to walk over the plate. With the bases filled, again Williams was an easy out from Dineen to Lachance.

In the seventh inning a bad throw by Williams to the plate allowed Lachance and Ferris to cross the plate and tie the score for Boston. Each side being equal things went smoothly until the first half of the ninth inning when Criger reached first safely on an infield hit. Dineen advanced him to second by a sacrifice, and Chesbro, losing control at this critical stage made a wild pitch, the ball hitting the press stand, while Criger was running in with the winning tally. New York failed to offset the advantage which Boston had gained and the game and the pennant went to the New England team 3 to 2.

Over 30,000 persons were within the enclosure when the victory was won, and the scene which ensued will not be forgotten easily by anyone of those who were present. The Boston contingent, some 300 strong, which, headed by a brass band, had accompanied the champions from their home city to the park, was noisily enthusiastic and were helped along by thousands of local enthusiasts, who quickly forgot the sting of defeat in their excitement.

Pitcher Orth Winter were the opposing pitchers in the final game which went the full nine innings without a run being scored. It was a battle between these two and were it not for a wild throw by Lachance which gave Conroy the looked-for opportunity to tally in the tenth inning, the game might have gone on until darkness set in. The scores:

WON IN THE TENTH.

Grady's Home Run Scored Victory for the Cardinals.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—A home run by Grady of the St. Louis National league team in the tenth inning today, won the first of a series of seven games to be played by the St. Louis National and American league teams, for the championship of the city. The teams will meet each day this week, finishing the series Sunday. Attendance, 1,500. Score:

RAIN STOPPED THE FIRST GAME

Score Was Tie When Contest Was Called—Flaherty Was Wild Owing to Wet Ball.

WAGNER OUTSHONE LAJOIE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, Oct. 10.—Through the generosity of Pat Flaherty Cleveland was able to tie the score in the first game of the series between the Pirates and the Napoleons at League park this afternoon. Had it not been for his passes to first Cleveland would not have scored. Notwithstanding the black clouds, nearly 4,000 people turned out to see the game, which was called in the sixth inning on account of the rain, after Bransfield had doubled and Leach had flied out.

Manager Armour selected Otto Hess, Cleveland's only southpaw, to do slab duty. In the first inning Clarke walked and Beaumont and McCormick fanned and Wagner forced his captain. In the second Bransfield doubled, but could get no further. With two gone in the third, Wagner knocked out a home run, scoring Beaumont, who had walked, and himself. Cleveland tied the score in the fourth, when Flaherty gave free transportation to Bradley and Flick, both of whom were advanced on Lajoie's sacrifice. On Stovall's out Bradley scored. Flick scored later when Phelps missed the third strike on Turner.

The crowd was interested chiefly in Wagner and Lajoie, the star batsmen of the National and American leagues, respectively. The German did himself proud, while the Frenchman was unable to get a Wagner's home run would have been only a double had the ball not sailed through a slab in the left field fence. Klein's umpiring was satisfactory. The infield work of Pittsburgh was excellent. The Pittsburghs also led in base-running. Score:

MISS DOD IN A TIE.

English Champion Played Even in Women's Tourney at Haverford.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—Eighty-one contestants took part in the stroke play qualifying round in the tournament for the women's golf championship of the United States which began today on the links of the Merion Cricket club at Haverford. Greater interest than is usually manifested in the women's championship obtains this year because of the presence in the contest of Miss Charlotte Dod, Great Britain's champion golfer. This is the first time that an English champion has participated in American premier golfing event for women.

Although Miss Dod made several misplays she managed to tie for the first prize in medal play. She made a 93, as did also Miss Harriott Curtis of Essodo county, and Miss L. Vanderhoff of Arlsidy. This is three strokes above the figures made by Miss Rhona Adair, last year's Irish champion, who competed here last fall in an invitation tournament.

Of the 32 survivors for the championship, 13 are from Boston, eight from Philadelphia, seven from New York, two from Chicago and one each from Albany and England. In the qualifying round Miss Charlotte Dod, Great Britain:

Out	5	6	5	6	6	5	5	3	—	44
In	7	5	6	5	6	5	6	4	5—	48—93

Miss Harriott Curtis, Essod county:

Out	5	6	6	5	5	4	8	3—		48
In	5	6	5	5	5	5	6	3	5—	45—93

Miss L. Vanderhoff:

Heinz Home from Cumberland.

Carl Heinz, a local young righthander, who had a fine season with the Cumberland independent team, is home. It was Heinz' first season out and he was Cumberland's winning pitcher. Cumberland will be in the business again next year and wants him to return. Memphis of the Southern league and Dallas of the Texas league have made him offers. Heinz says Hugh Tate, who captained Cumberland, and Harry Tate of the Homestead and Johnstown teams will open a business in Cumbeland this winter.

California May Lose Field.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—The Southwestern State Normal school at California has been ordered by the court to open the streets blocked up by its athletic field. C. W. Yarnell, owning land near the field, had no outlet and asked for the decree. The case will probably be appealed.

YALE VARSITY CAUSES MIKE MURPHY TO SWEAR

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 10.—So poor was the Yale varsity eleven on defense today that "Mike" Murphy, trainer, was constrained to use picturesque language to express himself. The scrubs carried the ball 35 yards and lost it only by fumbling.

Cartwright, center on the varsity today, was unusually lively and picked up the ball, scoring a touchdown, which his team had not earned. Edgar T. Glass, of whom Yale has strong hopes that he will develop a strong center trio, today made the veteran Kinney look like a novice in practice. He is considered the weakest man in the center of the line. Roraback is on the sick list with a heavy cold, but Rockwell, Hoyt and Stillman were able today to run through signals. The hot weather told upon the big men, but the practice was kept at high speed, nevertheless.

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—In this afternoon's scrimmage the work was rather loose and careless, while fumbling constantly exasperated the coaches. A kicking game was played by both teams, which was remarkable for its accuracy. The scrubs scored a touchdown on the varsity as the result of a very cleverly-blocked punt. Tooker kicked a field goal for the varsity. As the climax to a succession of excellent drop kicks, he brought down the stand by making one very long one from very near the middle of the field. Flaherty and Dutcher are still playing center and left guard, respectively, so it looks as though the recent changes in their positions were to be permanent.

Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Harvard began her fourth week of training in football on Soldiers field this afternoon with a practice that was full of features. A new formation was tried on the kick-off; a new formation on the offensive, a large coaching squad out, and a number of additions to the squad, as well as a number of cripples returning. The formation on the kick-off has the novelty the placing of the two ends and a tackle side by side about 20 yards in front of the backs. These men did not advance until a signal was given by the back with the ball. This new interference worked fairly successfully in the scrimmage. The new rushing formation was a shift from Harvard's formation, where an end is taken over and played inside the other end. On the shift the inside end and the tackle from the same side took the places of the fullback and one of the halfbacks in the tandem formation, while the two backs went to the opposite side of the line from which these men came. This play was good for long gains in the scrimmage.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Coach Warner sprung a surprise today when he ordered the varsity squad to report tonight in the Cornell armory on the campus for secret practice. The men assembled behind closed doors. The evening drill will continue in the armory supplementary to each day's work on Percy field, and it will be hedged around with the utmost secrecy.

U. of P.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Football prospects at the University of Pennsylvania took on a brighter hue today, when three new players, Folwell, Stevenson and Greene, reported for practice and played a whirlwind game, which has demonstrated to the coaches that they just make room for the team somewhere for this trio. Stevenson was put at quarterback from the start of the practice and easily put up a better game than Corson, whom he supplanted. He showed up brilliantly in running back kicks and running with the ball. Greene and Folwell, the two freshmen, were both put at halfback. Greene signalized his entry into the game by making a 70-yard run for a touchdown on the first play.

W. U. P.

The W. U. P. eleven had light practice yesterday, preparing for the game with Mount Union this afternoon at Epsocation park. The game will be preceded by a parade by the students, who will march to the game in a body.

W. & J.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—The W. & J. team had light practice today. Neills and Wright were in bad shape, but may be able to play hard tomorrow.

BENNETT'S HORSE WON PRIZE CUP

PITTSBURGHER MADE SPEECH

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

LEXINGTON, KY., Oct. 10.—J. G. Bennett of Pittsburgh, president of the Pittsburgh Driving club, won signal honors at the trotting meeting here today, when his good bay gelding, Redwood, captured the Walnut Hill farm cup race in the sixth heat in fast time.

The Walnut Hill is one of the classics of this historic association. It is worth $5,000 and a silver cup valued at $500 given by L. V. Harkness, the New York Standard Oil man, for whose farm the race is named.

Mr. Bennett in receiving the cup made a happy speech and was cheered to the echo by his fellow horsemen. He said only a few weeks ago he had the honor of presenting a number of cups to winners of the Driving club's meet in Pittsburgh, and he assured his hearers that it gave him much more pleasure to receive this handsome trophy than it did to give those. He paid high compliment to Mr. Harkness and to the association and asserted that he believed Kentucky the greatest state in the union.

The 2:16 class, for trotters, was unfinished on account of darkness. The race will be run tomorrow. The 2:12 class pacing was won in three straight heats by The Broncho. Summary:

STILL BREAKING RECORDS.

Lou Dillon Sets a New Mark for a Work Out.

MEMPHIS, TENN., Oct. 10.—Lou Dillon, the world's champion trotting mare, owned by C. K. G. Billings, broke all work-out records for trotting horses today by circling the course at the Memphis Driving park in 2:01½. Millard Saunders, her trainer, drove the mare. She was paced by a runner, driven by "Doc" Tanner. The fractional time was :30, 1:00, 1:29¾, 2:01½.

The former work-out record of 2:02 was held by Lou Dillon, established at Cleveland, September 28, 1904. No wind shield was used.

Slippery Rock Beats New Castle.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—The football season was opened here today in an exciting contest between New Castle High school and Slippery Rock State Normal. The latter won, 10 to 5. Slippery Rock made its greatest gains by mass plays.

HANLON BADLY BEATEN.

McGovern Has Him Hanging on Ropes in Fourth Round When Police Stopped the Bout.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 10.—In a whirlwind fight that was scheduled to go six rounds tonight, Terry McGovern had Eddie Hanlon so badly beaten that the police stopped the contest in the fourth round. At the time the city authorities interfered the former champion was raining blows on the prostrate form of Hanlon, who was hanging on the ropes.

The contest was a terrific one. Up to the fourth round McGovern had a shade the better of it. In the fourth Hanlon, seeing an opening, sent a left hook hard on the chin and the former champion went down for the count, and to many of the spectators it looked as though McGovern was out of it. Hanlon, however, threw discretion to the winds, and tried to put in a finishing blow. He fought so recklessly, however, that it

TO USE 'PHONES ON FLYING TRAIN

M. and M. Excursionists Can Converse from Cars to Any Point in Country.

WILL TAP ALL LOCAL WIRES

The first practical test of the telephone on a Pullman train will be made during the second trade extension excursion of the Pittsburgh Merchants and Manufacturers association on its tour through Ohio next week. Every car on the magnificent train will have a telephone and there will be a private exchange on the train. At every town where a stop of an hour or more is made the train will be connected up with the local and long distance lines, enabling the trade hunters to converse from car to car or anywhere that the telephone is in use. Railroad men are interested in the experiment and it is predicted it will not be long until all the big limited trains in the country will have similar conveniences for their passengers.

J. A. Connell, contract agent for the Central District and Printing Telegraph Company, is superintending the installation of the service for the trade hunters' train. A telephone set will be placed in the steward's room of the two dining cars. Connections will be made which will "cut in" the train wires with the trunk lines of any town where the special train may be stopping.

The scheme has been tried before on special trains used by officers of the big railroads on their tours of inspection, but never before has the passenger been granted the privilege of telephone connection with the outside world. On the coming trade excursion there will be a number of newspaper men and merchants who have need of the long distance lines every hour of the day and the exchange heard on the train will no doubt be busy. The telephones will be connected up after the train leaves Pittsburgh next Monday morning and will be in working order when the train reaches Steubenville. The moment the train reaches the side track at the Panhandle station a "plug" from the Steubenville central office will be inserted and the passengers can talk anywhere in the United States where the long distance lines are in connection, and friends at home can converse with the passengers on the train. The excursionists will have the use of the telephones free of cost.

Similar connections with local exchanges will be made at Uhrichsville, New Philadelphia, Newark, Columbus, Lancaster, Athens, Zanesville, Bellaire and East Liverpool. Arrangements have been made by the Bell company with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and Central Union Telephone Company for use of lines in Central Ohio. With the train telephone the passengers can order their meals in the dining car without leaving their sections. They can talk to merchants in towns which they may be visiting, or summon the porter of railroad employes from any car on the train.

Railroad operators say that it will not be long until all the fast express trains in this country will be similarly equipped. They argue that the barber shop, the bath room and library car features, which are now among the requisites of modern railroad travel, were considered fads when first introduced, and that the use of the telephone on limited trains will soon be considered necessary to up-to-date equipment.

An old-fashioned banquet with country pumpkin pie and hard cider as the staple articles on the bill of fare will be tendered the trade boomers by the merchants of Uhrichsville, where the first night's stop will be made. A big meeting of the citizens of the town was held last night and committees on reception and banquet were named. The people of Uhrichsville are searching for Tuscarawas county's best orators for the occasion.

Travelers Meet Today.

The regular meeting of the Travelers club will be held at the Central Young Woman's Christian association building this afternoon. The literary program includes the "Formation of the English Language," by Miss Isabella Porter Witherspoon; "The Early Bards," by Mrs. James C. Dick, and "Short Talks on Caedmon Baeda, Cynewulf, Aidhelm and Beowulf," by Mrs. A. E. Jones and others.

"The Women of Shakespeare."

George W. Gerwig will give a series of six lectures on "The Women of Shakespeare" in the Allegheny High school on Tuesday afternoons from 4:30 until 5:30 o'clock. These lectures will be free and are open to all who are interested in the study of Shakespeare, club women especially being invited to listen to them.

Entertained Supreme Officers.

Mrs. John Fowler of Hawkins station entertained the supreme lodge officers of the Knights and Ladies of Honor last evening at her home, the guests being those who came to attend the twenty-seventh anniversary of the founding of the order in Braddock. There were 12 guests at the dinner.

THE RIGHT KIND OF UNDERWEAR.

It is now an accepted fact that wool is the most sanitary of all material, for wear next to the skin. It keeps the body warm, absorbs perspiration, prevents sudden chills, and has the elastic quality so necessary to the comfort of the wearer. Yet there is a great difference in woolen underwear. Only the purest of wool, specially treated before spinning, can be fashioned into garments that give the highest degree of satisfaction and service.

The most natural hygienic and comfortable underwear ever devised, is Wrights' Health Underwear, woven on their famous "loop" principle of weaving which makes the "Fleece of Comfort." It is the only Health Underwear sold at the price of ordinary garments. There is no extra charge for their hygienic value. The moderate price places them within reach of all. Wrights' Health Underwear is lighter than any other make, yet it is warmer than other weaves can possibly be. The reason of this is the perfect ventilating qualities of the garments. They are pleasant to the skin, make weighty outer clothes unnecessary, and do not shrink or lose their elasticity after washing. They guard the wearer against sudden changes of temperature, and people who take cold easily, find them a perfect protection from draughts and exposure.

Wrights' Health Underwear is adapted to young and old, to outdoor workers and to men and women who work indoors. They are perfect garments for all climates and seasons.

"Dressing for Health" is a booklet issued by Wrights' Health Underwear Co., 75 Franklin St., New York City. It gives valuable hygienic hints and describes the famous "loop" principle of Wrights' Health Underwear. A copy will be mailed free to all who request it.

SOCIETY AND THE WOMAN'S CLUB

A WEDDING of interest to a large circle of friends and relatives of the bridegroom in this city and Allegheny, is that of Miss Elizabeth Archibald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Archibald of Scranton, Pa., and John C. Kerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Kerr, formerly of Allegheny, but now of Englewood, N. J. Miss Archibald has never visited in Pittsburgh or Allegheny, but many residents of the two cities have met her during their visits to the Kerrs in Englewood.

It is 18 years since Mr. and Mrs. Kerr, with their three children, John C. Kerr, the prospective bridegroom; Miss Lois Kerr and Clarence Kerr moved to Englewood. John C. Kerr is now associated with his father in business, being a member of the law firm of Kerr, Curtis & Kerr of Englewood. The Kerrs have a large family connection in Pittsburgh and Allegheny. Mrs. Thomas Bakewell of Allegheny and her sister, Mrs. Otis Williams of Long Island, are cousins of Miss Archibald's fiance, as is also Mrs. John Follansbee of Wheeler avenue, Allegheny. A relationship also exists between the Kerrs and George T. Robinson of Wallingford street, Shadyside, and the Ormsby Phillips' family is distantly related. Mrs. Wright, wife of the Rev. Elliott Wright, was a Kerr, and in the circle of relatives are numbered the Charles Wharton, Jrs., the George Irwin Holdships and the Campbell Bakewells.

Descended from Patriots.

The marriage of Miss Lulu Anderson Chessrown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel T. Chessrown of Monongahela, to Daniel Stafford Darragh, of Beaver, will be a brilliant church wedding of this evening, in the Methodist Episcopal church of Monongahela. It will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents in West Main street. The Rev. R. S. Ross will officiate. Miss Mary Hart Darragh, a sister of the bridegroom, will be the maid of honor, and Miss Lulu B. Reitz of Charleroi, Miss Sara A. Craig of York, Pa., cousins of the bride; Miss Martha W. Johnson Shafer of Somerset, Pa., a cousin of Mr. Darragh, and Miss Ethel Appleyard of Jamestown, N. Y., will be bridesmaids. Margaret Jenkins, a wee cousin, is to be flower girl. E. Pim Kuhn of Beaver, will serve as best man, and the ushers will be Henry Hice Wilson, Hale Poole, Dr. Dickson L. Singleton of Beaver and Wilbur Harris of New Brighton. Dr. Guiseppe Ferrate of Beaver college, will arrange and play a special composition in honor of his pupils' wedding.

A great deal of interest has been shown in this wedding from the social prominence of the parties. Miss Chessrown is descended from Col. Anderson of the Revolution. She is a Beaver college girl and has been organist of St. Paul's Episcopal church of Monongahela for the past two years.

Mr. Darragh is descended from John Hart, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and is a son of Mr. Scudder Hart Darragh of Beaver. He is an Allegheny college man and served with the Tenth Pennsylvania regiment in the Philippines during the Spanish-American war. Mr. Darragh is connected with the chief engineer's office of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad.

Preceding the rehearsal last evening was a dinner at which the bride and bridegroom presented their attendants with souvenirs.

Several social affairs have been given in honor of the bride, one being a linen shower followed by a luncheon at which Mrs. A. M. Jenkins was hostess; another a kitchen shower given by the St. Margarets Guild of St. Paul's Episcopal church at the residence of Mrs. H. T. Howe, and a handkerchief shower by the King's Daughters of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Mr. Pitcairn With the Jacksons.

Frank Pitcairn, son of Hugh Pitcairn, the American consul general at Hamburg, Germany, who was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. M. Roy Jackson of Sewickley, over Sunday, left for New York last evening. The engagement of Miss Margaret Marcus of Philadelphia, and Mr. Pitcairn, was formally announced by Mrs. Jackson during the summer. Miss Marcus and her mother, Mrs. Margaret E. Marcus, are spending the winter in New York where her wedding to Mr. Pitcairn will take place in January.

Mrs. Hugh Pitcairn, mother of the prospective bridegroom, came to this country from Hamburg a few weeks ago, chaperoning Miss Jean Stone of Allegheny, and Miss Ethel Calder of Harrisburg, who had been visiting her at the consulate for several weeks. Mrs. Pitcairn is now with her brother-in-law, John Pitcairn, in Philadelphia, but is expected in this city during November, when she will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pitcairn, her brother-in-law and sister.

Dr. and Mrs. Jackson expect to have Miss Marcus and Mr. Pitcairn as their guests over the Thanksgiving holidays. Mrs. Jackson is to be matron of honor at the wedding in January, but as she is still in mourning she will not entertain formally for the young people during their visit in Sewickley. She has just returned from New York after placing Miss Rachael Arnold, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Arnold, in Miss Ely's school in New York. She was accompanied by Miss Agnes Arnold who was a schoolmate of Mrs. Jackson's at Miss Ely's.

Abbott-Wooldridge.

The wedding of Miss Susan E. Abbott, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Abbott of Andover, Mass., to Dr. Frederick V. Wooldridge of this city, occured in Andover last evening. The bride is a representative of one of the old families in Andover, one of whose members founded the Abbott academy, one of the best known girls' seminaries in New England. Dr. Wooldridge is a son of the late W. P. Wooldridge and Mrs. Julia W. Wooldridge of South Linden avenue. He was recently graduated with honors at a Boston medical school and is now a resident physician at the Homeopathic hospital in Pittsburgh. It was while in Boston studying that he met Miss Abbott. Dr. Wooldridge is a brother of Charles L. Wooldridge, Norman S. Wooldridge and L. Rousseau Wooldridge of Pittsburgh.

Miss Johnston's Wedding Day.

Miss Helen Johnston has chosen Thursday, November 17, as the date for her wedding to Harry E. Umhey. Owing to the recent death of the bride's father, the Rev. George N. Johnston, the wedding will be a very quiet affair at the home of Miss Johnston's brother, Dr. George Coffin Johnston, Beaniston and Forbes avenues, Squirrel Hill. There will be no attendants and the guests will include only the immediate relatives and most intimate friends of the bridal couple. A brother-in-law of the bride, the Rev. George E. Dohbredt, pastor of the Greenfield Avenue Presbyterian church, will be the officiant. The prospective bridegroom is identified with the Harbison-Walker company of this city.

ALLEGHENY BRIDE WAS GIVEN TO A HARRISBURG MAN BY HER SON

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wickersham.

A quiet wedding took place last evening at the home of Mrs. Lena Kyle, in Liberty street, Allegheny, when her sister, Mrs. Leora Banks, became the wife of Howard Wickersham of Harrisburg. There were no attendants. The bride was given away by her son, Karl Banks, the Rev. Owen Jones of Ashtabula, O., her cousin, performing the ceremony. The bride wore a beautiful gown of pearl crepe de chine, elaborately trimmed with tucks and applique. Mrs. Kyle wore black voile and lace. The house was prettily but simply decorated in green and white. Among the out-of-town guests were Prof. George Clarke of Ashtabula, instructor of languages in Mount Union college; Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Olin, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Olin, Miss Reine Olin of Kent, O.; Mrs. Florence Allen of Cleveland; Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Olin and Miss Blanche Olin of Elmdale, O., and Frank C. Adams of Galesburg, Mich. Mr. Wickersham and his bride left the city last evening for their home in Harrisburg, where they will receive their friends after November 1 and where Mr. Wickersham is chief clerk in the postal department. Both Mrs. Kyle and the bride are members of the Excelsior Reading circle of Bellevue, which presented the bride with a silver spoon tray and a set of silver teaspoons.

Reception for Recent Brides.

Mrs. Thomas McKenna and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth McKenna, of Howe street, East End, issued invitations yesterday for a large afternoon reception at their home on Friday, October 21. The hours will be from 2 until 6 o'clock, and the guests are asked to meet two daughters-in-law of Mrs. McKenna—Mrs. Charles Howard McKenna and Mrs. Frank Shirley McKenna, both of whom were brides of last spring. Mrs. Charles McKenna will be remembered as Miss Jennie Kennedy Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott of Kentucky avenue, and Mrs. Frank McKenna was Miss Katherine Ethel Ogden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ogden of East Liverpool, O. Among those who have been asked to assist the two hostesses are Mrs. William J. Askin, Mrs. H. E. Billington, Miss Katherine Norris, Mrs. Samuel W. Gault, Miss Sayde Gormley, Miss Elizabeth Black, Miss Marie Black, Miss Verde Smith, Mrs. Robert A. McCready, Mrs. Samuel R. Huse, Mrs. Jesse O. Patterson, Mrs. William H. McKeanan, Mrs. Alexander G. McKenna and Mrs. William Van Steenberg of Newark, N. J. Mrs. Steenberg will come to Pittsburgh a few days before the reception to be the guest of Mrs. Thomas McKenna for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander R. Peacock of "Rowanlea," North Highland avenue, will entertain this evening in honor of their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. William Rolland of Dunfermline, Scotland, and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Rolland of Paisley, Scotland. The Rollands came over to America early in July, and after spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Peacock at Alexandria bay, came home with them to remain for a few weeks in Pittsburgh. They will sail for Scotland on the Celtic on October 28. This is their first visit in America. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morrison gave a beautifully appointed dinner of 18 covers last evening in honor of the Scottish visitors. Mrs. Peacock will be at home this season, as in previous ones, on the first Friday of each month, but will omit the third Friday, which she formerly observed.

Will Announce Engagement.

GREENSBURG, PA., Oct. 10.—The engagement of Miss Stella Head, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Head, to Mr. Henry W. Coulter, son of Gen. and Mrs. Richard Coulter, will be formally announced at a dance to be given by Miss Caroline Huff, at Cabin Hill, the summer home of Congressman George F. Huff, near here, tomorrow evening. Miss Head and Mr. Coulter are members of two of the most prominent families of Greensburg. The date of the wedding has not been announced.

Reception in New Church.

A reception was given last evening in the new Baptist church, Bellevue, which was dedicated Sunday, by the pastor and the deacons, with their wives, for the congregation of the church. The following received: Rev. and Mrs. Francis U. Kohler, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Schaffnit, Mr. and Mrs. Christian Kirsch, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Judd. Addresses were made by the pastor and by the Rev. Alonzo R. Stark of Oakland and the Rev. W. E. DeArmitt of Library.

Wiley Van Naten Nuptials.

FRANKLIN, PA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Gen. and Mrs. John A. Wiley have issued 500 invitations for the wedding reception of their daughter, Miss Florence Edna, to Dr. Bert Ketchan Van Naten, also of Franklin, November 2. The reception will take place at the Nursery club, following the wedding ceremony at the bride's home. Dr. Van Naten is a practicing physician of Franklin.

Home from Europe.

Mrs. Alfred E. Clark, Mrs. Harry J. Bailey and Miss Bailey arrived home from Europe last Friday. They were abroad about two months, traveling through continental Europe. Mrs. Bailey, who is a member of the board of directors of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, will go on to Lancaster next week. Mrs. Clark is president of the Pittsburgh Sorosis, which will hold its first meeting and observe president's day on Thursday of this week.

Change of Meeting Place.

The Lawrenceville New Century club will meet this year in the home of the Lawrenceville branch of the Young Women's Christian association in Fortieth street. The opening meeting of the year was deferred from October 4, the day announced in the year book, until today because of the absence from the city of the president, Mrs. J. J. Covert. Mrs. Covert came home last week. The New Century club this year will take up the study of early American history.

Dinner and Wedding Rehearsal.

Mr. and Mrs. William McGilvray Shiras, of Wightman street, Squirrel Hill, gave a small and informal dinner of six covers last evening for Miss Eleanor Turnbull Gibson and William McIlvaine Robinson, whose marriage will be solemnized tomorrow. Following the dinner the rehearsal for the wedding took place at Miss Gibson's home, Forbes and Wightman streets.

The Dalzells Are Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Dalzell and Miss Martha Dalzell, of Ridge avenue, Allegheny, came home from New York on Sunday morning. Invitations for the wedding of Miss Dalzell and William Booth Trainer will be issued early next week. It is to be a home affair on November 2, and will be one of the most beautiful and brilliant of the autumn.

Pittsburghers at Arnold Wedding.

A party of Pittsburgh people will go up to Arnold this evening to be guests at the wedding of Miss Edna Moore and George Plumer Kline of Greensburg. Among them will be Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Curll, Miss Caroline Curll, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Richards and Miss Vernie Collord. The engagement of Miss Moore and Mr. Kline was announced some months ago by Miss Collord.

Notes of Society.

Thomas Boyd, Jr., of Pittsburgh, and Miss Maggie Kibler of Butler are to be married this week. They will make their future home in Allegheny.

An engagement announced in Sewickley is that of Mrs. Cornelia Elizabeth Becker and George H. Heiligan of the East End. The wedding will be an event of the fall.

Mrs. William G. McCandless and son, George M. McCandless of Ridge avenue, Allegheny, left last night for a month's visit to Hot Springs, Va., for the benefit of Mrs. McCandless' health.

The regular monthly meeting of the Allegheny County Women's Christian Temperance union executive committee will be held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the rooms in the Methodist Episcopal Publication building. Mrs. H. H. Forrest will have charge of the devotional exercises.

Mrs. Ida Marie Sandles of Braddock, who is to be married tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church of that place to George Eberle Rose, gave a dinner for the bridal party last evening. The services tomorrow will be performed by the Rev. William Pitt Turner, D. D.

The drill corps of Ascalon commandery No. 59, Knights Templars, has arranged for a series of informal receptions for the winter months. Four of them will be given on the following evenings: Thursday, October 13, 1904; Thursday, December 8, 1904; Wednesday, February 22, 1905, and Thursday, April 27, 1905. These receptions will be held at Braun's auditorium, South Highland avenue, and will be devoted to progressive euchre and dancing.

Opening Meeting of the Tourists.

Miss Kate C. MacKnight, president of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, and Miss Julia Morgan Harding, the president of the Twentieth Century club, were guests of honor at the opening meeting of the Tourist club yesterday afternoon. Invitations were issued to the presidents of all the other federated clubs in Pittsburgh and Allegheny, and only one, the Colloquium, was not represented, Colloquium having a meeting at the same hour. The assembly room of the Business Women's club in Arch street, Allegheny was filled with women, and a very enjoyable program was presented, consisting of addresses by Miss MacKnight, Miss Harding and Mrs. John Cowley, president of the club. Miss MacKnight spoke of her summer travel through England and France, dwelling particularly upon the social characteristics of the two nationalities as they appear to travelers among them. Miss Harding brought a greeting from the other women's clubs of the city. The music, which was especially enjoyable, consisted of piano solos by Miss Julia E. Doran, Mrs. Anson J. Dill and Miss Mary Ure, and songs by Mrs. Arthur Thatcher and Miss Marion Gaston. The Tourist quartet, composed of Miss Emma Foltz, Miss Evelyn Day, Miss Ella Day and Miss Alice Stephens sang several songs. After tea was served the club held a short business session, when it decided not to send a delegate this year to the meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women in Lancaster. Miss Stoner gave a report of the work of the members of the Tourist club in the summer playgrounds, particularly that of the Third ward, Allegheny.

Reception at Passavant Hospital.

The annual donation and reception day will be observed on Thursday at the Passavant hospital, Roberts and Reed streets, from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and from 7 to 9 o'clock in the evening. The Ladies Aid society will be in charge, its officers being: Mrs. Anna Y. Duff, president; Mrs. J. H. A. Kitzmiller, vice president; Mrs. D. H. Gissinger, corresponding secretary; Miss M. H. Schenck, recording secretary, and Mrs. J. H. Wattles, treasurer. Refreshments will be served afternoon and evening.

During the past nine months over 1,000 patients have been cared for at the Passavants, something over one-fourth of them being free patients. The increased demands on the hospital necessitated the purchase of new furniture, bedding, linen, medical and surgical supplies. The hospital is now more in need than ever of plentiful donations, and an appeal has been made especially to those who cannot contribute on a large scale. An opportunity will be afforded visitors on Thursday to see the hospital and its facilities, and inspect its methods of carrying on the work.

Studying the Early Masterpieces.

Members of the Colloquium club gathered yesterday afternoon in the parlors of the Pennsylvania College for Women to discuss the great masterpieces of painting. It was the first meeting of the club this year, and the hostesses were Mrs. R. G. Armstrong and Miss Janet Brownlee. During the business session immediately preceding the literary program, the club elected two delegates, Mrs. W. A. Bole and Mrs. Charles Felton Scott, to represent it in Lancaster.

Mrs. Guilliford B. Sweeney was the leader appointed for yesterday afternoon, and a discussion of the great masterpieces of mural painting was conducted by Mrs. Sweeney, Mrs. Wilbur Mathews, Mrs. Wenman A. Lewis, Miss Helen Lewis, Miss Jean Palmer, Mrs. W. A. Bole, Mrs. Harry Lawrence, Miss Grace Hamilton, Mrs. John Fremont Shafer, Mrs. Samuel Seymour and Mrs. John W. Pontefract. The artists represented were Raphael, Murillo, Rubens, Titian, Guido Reni and Leonardo da Vinci. The next meeting of Colloquium will be held at the home of Miss Jean Lyons in Rippey street, East End.

Whist Club Commences Season.

The Sewickley Valley Whist club has resumed its meetings for the winter. Yesterday afternoon the club was entertained by Mrs. George E. Tener of Beaver street. About 30 of the members were present.

Educational Rights of Women.

The Equal Rights association of Bellevue met last evening at the home of Mrs. A. Starr-Martin, in Meade avenue. The session was devoted to a discussion of the educational rights of women.

Salt Sand Produces Good Flow and Surprises the Operators

Down in Doddridge county, near West Union, the Castle Brook Carbon Black company has made a discovery that is a new feature for that district. When it drilled its test on the John Bland farm into the salt sand, at a depth of 1,050 feet, the well began to show oil and is estimated to be good for 20 barrels a day in that formation. The first in that locality to find oil in paying quantities in the salt sand. In the same district the Hope Natural Gas Company has drilled its test on the R. B. Davisson farm into the Big Injun and has developed a good gas pressure.

In the Littleton district, Wetzel county, the Hope Natural Gas Company has drilled its test on the T. C. Jackson farm through the Gordon and found nothing. It is now drilling to the fifth sand. In the Pine Grove district, drilled its test on the J. M. Phillips farm into the Gordon and has a good gasser.

In the same county, the same company has On Kinchelowe creek, along the lines of Harrison and Lewis county, the South Penn Oil Company has completed its No. 3 on the W. L. Hall farm and has a natural producer, good for 10 barrels a day in the fifth sand. The same company's second test on the J. A. White farm is the same kind of a producer in the fifth sand. In the same district, T. N. Barnsdall has drilled his test on the George Francis farm into the Gants sand and has developed a strong gas pressure. In the Salem district, Harrison county, the Greer Oil Company has completed its test on the M. A. and D. A. Samples farm and it is producing 60 barrels a day from the Gordon.

On the east side of the Folsom district the South Penn Company has completed its No. 7 on the Omer E. Hall farm to a depth of 3,234 feet and found nothing but a light show of oil in the Gordon. In the same district No. 3 on the J. J. Ashcraft farm is drilling at 31 feet in the stray.

On Bear Fork, center district, Gilmer county, C. T. Caldwell and others of Parkersburg have drilled a wildcat on the Melville Stump farm through all sands and found nothing but a light gas pressure. The casing has been pulled and the well abandoned. On Bartholomew run, Mannington district, Marion county, nine miles near Old Company's test on the A. F. Hays farm is producing 100 barrels a day and has not been any deeper. In the Wick district, Tyler county, the Carter Oil Company has drilled its test on the N. M. Ankrom farm 76 feet into the ig injun and at that depth has not found the pay. It will probably go to duster list.

In the Milton district, Cabell county, the Harshbarger Oil & Gas Company has drilled in its second test on the George Kilgore heirs' farm and the well produced 100 barrels the first 24 hours, from the Big Lome formation. The new well makes the 12th producer in the development and for the time being brings the total production of the pool up to 285 barrels a day.

On the Ohio side, in the Wolf Creek district, Washington county, the Pure Oil Producing Company has completed No. 16 on the J. J. Lorenz farm and has a 10-barrel pumper. The Hastings Oil Co., and the South Petroleum Company have completed No. 17 on the G. E. Morris farm and have a duster.

In the Newport district in Washington county, James Green & Co., have completed a test on the Charles Hays farm and have a show for a 5-barrel pumper in the Cow Run sand. In the Rays Run district, in the same county, Henning & Ewing have completed a test on the E. Miller farm and have a duster in the Big Injun. On McIntyre creek, in the Cross Creek district, in Jefferson county J. G. Allison & Co., have completed a test on the M. Ekey farm and have a duster in the Berea grit. In the Limestone Run district, in the same county, E. J. Jennings and Bros. and Freudenberger are due in the sand at an important test on the Pasco farm.

On Wolf creek, Morgan county, Postn & co., have drilled in their No. 4 on the Joseph Zumbo farm and have a show for a 25-barrel producer. The Chester Hill district the Ohio and Indiana Oil Company's No. 17 on the Joseph Yarnell farm is in and good for five barrels a day. Ross & Co., have completed a second test on the Hugh Ellis farm and have a duster. The Heasley Oil Company has completed No. 11 on the Robert Greene farm and had the same kind of luck.

North of Marietta, in Washington county, Samuel Neill has completed his test on the Charles Rowland farm and has a 10-barrel pumper in the first Cow Run sand.

South of Burgettstown, Washington county, Pa., LeComte & Co., have completed No. 6 on the S. C. and J. W. Farrar farm and have a small pumper. The Southern Oil Company's No. 10 on the same farm is a duster.

Miss Alice M. Smith, of Minneapolis, Minn., tells how woman's monthly suffering may be permanently relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have never before given my endorsement for any medicine, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has added so much to my life and happiness that I feel like making an exception in this case. For two years every month I would have two days of severe pain, and could find no relief, but one day when visiting a friend I ran across Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,—she had used it with the best results and advised me to try it. I found that it worked wonders with me; I now experience no pain, and only had to use a few bottles to bring about this wonderful change. I use it occasionally now when I am exceptionally tired or worn out."—MISS ALICE M. SMITH, 804 Third Ave., South Minneapolis, Minn., Chairman Executive Committee, Minneapolis Study Club.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

The Bellefield Dwellings

Bellefield—Center—Dithridge

THE BATH ROOMS IN THE BELLEFIELD DWELLINGS ARE PROBABLY THE MOST EXTRAVAGANTLY SUMPTUOUS EVER ATTEMPTED ON A LARGE SCALE.

The Bellefield Book may be had of the agents,

INDUSTRIALS WERE STRONG IN NEW YORK MARKET

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market yesterday displayed rather unexpected strength, even for a bull market. A half-score stocks reached the highest prices for the year, and during the greater part of the session the general railroad list ruled strong. The initial strength came from London, where quotations for American securities were higher, and were accompanied by buying orders approximating 50,000 shares. The advocates of a reaction counted upon Saturday's bad bank statement to bring in selling orders to take profits at the opening, and while there was large liquidation, the absorption of stocks was likewise large, and prices, as stated, advanced.

The industrials were relatively stronger than the railroads, with the exception of Reading which early advanced to 78, the highest on this movement. U. S. Steel common opened higher at 18⅝ and advanced to 19¼. The preferred stock opened ⅝ per cent higher at 76 and early in the afternoon advanced to 77⅝, the highest for more than a year. The sinking fund bonds advanced to 84⅝. All the minor iron and steel stocks were strong, with a noteworthy advance in Tennessee Coal and Iron, which reached 51¼. There was considerable bullish gossip on this group of stocks. It was stated that for the first 10 days of October the U. S. Steel Corporation had exported nearly 35,000 tons iron and steel products, and that the indications were favorable to total exports for the month of 130,000 tons, including 30,000 tons steel rails to Canada. It was also said that the corporation was considering the advisability of an advance of $1 a ton on certain products for exports. From Chicago came a report that the American Steel and Wire Company was still rushed with orders and that the outlook is good. Reports as to the condition of the market for copper were also very favorable, and all copper stocks were active and higher. In Boston the movement resembled the boom period which preceded the organization of the Amalgamated Copper Company. The stock of the latter advanced on the New York board to 63¾.

In the general railroad list the greatest strength was displayed by the Gould group, but the list did not retain its gains. Southern Pacific was helped by the report of earnings for August, showing a decrease in gross of $129,000, but an increase in net of $251,000. This showing is in strong contrast with the monthly reports last year, which showed large increases in gross and large decreases in net earnings. The granger group was all strong, while the eastern and middle western roads were steady to firm. During the latter part of the afternoon there was a decided falling off in the volume of trading, and prices reacted somewhat. The close was at substantial gains for the industrials and small net changes for the railroads.

Call loans were firmer during the greater part of the day, but the rate did not rise above 2½ per cent and closed at 2 per cent. Time loans were a small fraction higher.

Grain markets reflected the feeling regarding the government crop report—given in full in our telegraphic columns—and the continued heavy movement of wheat to primary markets. Receipts for the two days were 2,658,000 bushels, against 1,534,000 bushels for the corresponding period last year. The visible supply of wheat increased 3,221,000 bushels for the week, and the total visible now stands at 20,797,000 bushels, against 20,898,000 bushels a year ago. December wheat declined to $1 07⅝, but recovered to and closed at $1 08⅞. The government report on corn was also better than expected, and December corn sold off to 47⅝c, closing at 48c. Corn rallied slightly and closed higher for the day.

The active stocks in the local market were Manufacturers Light and Heat and U. S. Steel common and preferred, and all three issues were strong and higher. Manufacturers opened higher at 38 and advanced to 39, closing at 38¾ bid. Ohio Fuel Supply was also higher at 39¼. There were no transactions in Philadelphia Company, but the stock was firmer on the repetition of the report of a deal with the United Gas Improvement. Philadelphia common closed at 42¾ bid and the preferred at 45½ bid. U. S. Steel followed the advance in the east, the common reaching 19 and the preferred 77⅝. Crucible Steel held steady at 7, but the preferred was heavy and sold off to 42, closing at 42¼ bid. National Fire Proofing preferred was active within the range of 33 and 33½ and closed unchanged for the day. Just before the close of the market the dividend on 100 shares Fire Proofing preferred was sold at 75 cents a share. The regular rate is 87½ cents a share, and it is expected that this rate will be declared next Thursday. Westinghouse Electric sold to the extent of 700 shares at 83¾ to 83¼, closing unchanged for the day. At the call of local bank stocks Real Estate Trust sold at 226, a decline of 18 per cent from the last previous sale last May. The bond list remained quiet and unchanged.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

United States Steel stocks were again the leading feature of the market, both in New York and Pittsburgh yesterday. Public sentiment has entirely veered around from the position it occupied three months ago. Before the declaration of the July dividend the majority of traders were bearish and were predicting new low prices for both common and preferred. Now they are bullish. They justify the change in their position by the change that has taken place in the actual condition of the trade. A very conservative broker remarked yesterday after the close of the market: "Wall street was today predicting 80 for the preferred stock before the end of the week, and it would not surprise me if 90 were reached before the end of the year. I don't say that the stock will be worth 90, but if it is worth 80 it is worth 90. Perhaps I should put it a little differently and say if the corporation can maintain the regular 7 per cent annual dividend it is worth 90, and if it cannot maintain its regular dividend, then it is not worth 60. No one now doubts that the dividend was earned for the past quarter, or that it will be declared on the 25th of this month, and the only aspects in the trade is against fall as low as it was early in the year. It ought to improve from this time forward, and while prices for products will be lower than last year or the year before, the corporation will not be paying $20,000,000 per annum in dividends to the holders of the common stock. Besides this, the amount of preferred stock outstanding is likely to be further reduced by the conversion operation. I understand that the policy of the corporation will be to accumulate a cash working capital of $100,000,000 before resuming dividends on the common stock. At the present time it has something over $50,000,000 cash on hand. During its first year it earned something like $25,000,000 over and above dividend requirements. That was during a year when it paid more than $20,000,000 in dividends on the common stock. With three or four years of average prosperity, it ought to be able to accumulate $100,000,000 cash working capital, and then with the normal growth of the iron business, it should be able to go on meeting sinking funds and paying dividends on both classes of stock."

The revival of the report of negotiations for changing control of the Philadelphia Company, and the absence of a positive official denial of the rumors, did not have any particular effect upon Philadelphia Company securities on the local exchange yesterday, for the reason that there is very little floating stock in this market, and investment holdings are of a character that would not be easily disturbed by rumors. There were no sales of either the common or preferred stock on the Pittsburgh exchange.

Just before the close of the market yesterday there was a sale of the next quarterly dividend on 100 shares National Fireproofing preferred at 75 cents a share. The regular dividend is 87½ cents a share. After the transaction a trader bid 75 cents a share for the dividend on 5,000 shares, or any part, but there were no more offerings. Such transactions are common in Wall street, and are usually for the purpose of conveying the impression that a dividend will be reduced or passed. It is regarded as the cheapest of "bear" tactics. So far as the Fireproofing dividend is concerned, it is expected that the regular rate will be declared on Thursday. The last quarterly dividend was declared July 14 and paid July 25.

On the Pittsburgh exchange Union Steel bonds were offered at 91½ and accrued interest. There was no bid.

Trade advices were very favorable and pointed to an expanding demand for all lines of steel products. Special stress was laid on the large orders being placed by railroads all over the country for rolling stock and locomotives. This brought the railroad equipment stocks into the movement.

Regarding the rise in Missouri, Kansas & Texas stocks the past few days, a New York banker said: "I am told by one who has watched the trading very carefully for some time past that the buying has not been of a manipulative character but rather absorption. Today the preferred has been irregular, due to profit-taking by small interests who bought on Saturday. Important interests appear to be doing nothing today; it looks as if stocks will sell considerably higher within the next few months."

A Crucible Steel stockholder makes this suggestion: "It is likely that the bond proposition will be carried at the annual meeting on the 19th inst. However, I think it would be a good idea when the resolution comes before the meeting that an amendment be offered fixing the minimum price at which the directors shall be empowered to sell the bonds. The vote on such amendment would come before the vote on the main question, and it would be interesting to obtain an expression of opinion on the matter. I should say that sale should by price should be about 95, and that the bonds should be issued only as needed, from time to time. Such an amendment would be no reflection upon the board. When the Westinghouse Electric authorized an increase in its capital the resolution specified that the new stock should not be sold less than par. Had by so selecting the proper time, the directors were enabled to sell the entire authorized amount of new stock at a high premium."

The regular 1 per cent dividend on Rock Island preferred is payable November 1 to stock of record October 17.

According to the "United States Investor" the bond sales for September amounted to $17,-967,578, not including temporary loans, a decrease of $14,364,210 from August.

The head of a prominent New York drygoods house says: "September business was excellent and the volume of business during October is going to be fully as satisfactory. Buyers seem inclined to purchase only for the immediate future, but there is no accumulation of goods in any line. Export demand from China is small, but we are now shipping more goods to the west than we have done in over a year."

A sale of Tonapah Extension was reported yesterday at $1 90, the highest yet quoted.

May corn has broken about five cents a bushel since H. V. Jones of Minneapolis made his estimate of the corn crop at 1,900,000,000 bushels. This may be taken to indicate that very few people in the grain trade believe Mr. Jones was right in his estimate. Some of the largest grain houses in Chicago have been very persistent in their statement that Mr. Jones very much underestimated the crop. They advised against the purchase of corn at the higher prices, and they were very large sellers of the May option. They appear to have the best of the argument just now. It is stated that the failure of the trade to accept Mr. Jones' figures left his followers tied up with some 25,000,000 bushels of long corn. It is probable that this figure is very much too high, and that the full account in corn is now comparatively small. Mr. Jones sticks to his estimate, and he tells his friends that the movement of corn this season will show that the prevalent estimates of the crop are much too high.

Broomhall dabled that the wheat crop of Roumania is officially estimated at 52,400,000 bushels against 73,700,000 bushels last year, and a four-year average of 68,742,000 bushels. The barley, rye and oats crop are very small. The London Statist of October 1 has very bullish figures and conclusions upon the wheat situation. It estimates the requirements of European countries for the current year at 67,250,000 quarters. It estimates supplies of exporting countries at 52,650,000 quarters. To do this it estimates Russian and Danubian shipments at only 3,750,000 quarters less than last year while the Russian crop is 14,000,000 quarters less than last year, and the Danubian surplus is only about half that of last year. It estimates contributions from the United States and Canada at 8,250,000 quarters, it also estimates India 2,850,000 quarters in excess of last year, and Australia at the same as last year, but adds that in neither of these two latter countries are the crop prospects as good as a year ago. It estimates Argentina at the same as last year.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH.

IN WALL STREET.

Reading common also made a high mark by selling at 73.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The most important recent event in the Lake Superior copper district was the striking of the Kearsarge amygdaloid lode at the new shaft on the Allouez property. The formation was cut by a diamond drill some 300 feet below the bottom of the shaft, or at a total depth of 1,360 feet, as measured on the incline. While it was almost certain that the Allouez would find the lode, the fact that it has struck it will remove whatever doubt may have existed in the minds of the more conservative investors. Few mines in this or any other mining section have had a more varied career than the Allouez. First organized in 1859, it became a producer ten years later, but after eight years of operations the treasury was exhausted, necessitating the discontinuance of work. From 1877 to 1880 the mine was worked at a profit by tributors. During the following years the mine was operated by both the company and tributors, but never profitably by the former. After half a century of ups and downs the Allouez at last appears to have the making of a profitable mine.

An important find has been made on the south half of section 16, township 52, range 36, by the Wyandot Copper Company. The outcrop of a lode has been found in the bed of the Misery river and the few charges that have been shot off threw out some excellent rock. The formation is an amygdaloid, the rock being of a dark reddish appearance, associated with epidote calcite and quartz. The lode has a width of 70 feet. A gang of men is engaged in stripping the overburden preparatory to the sinking of a shaft. The Wyandot Company has secured an option on the north half of the section which will give it a length of outcrop on this lode of nearly a mile. This one-dollar assessment payable the 15th of this month should bring in $100,000, enough to permit of a fairly good exploration of the new formation and the one cut by a crosscut from the shaft on section 28.

The production of Lake copper for the month of September is estimated between 18,500,000 and 19,000,000 pounds, the Baltic, the Champion and the Osceola making new high records. At this rate the whole Superior mines would contribute upward of 225,000,000 pounds to the United States production for the current year.

The output of copper bullion from Utah mines for the past month was 3,689,336 pounds. The shipments were as follows: United States, 1,569,736 pounds; Bingham Consolidated, 1,086,-700 pounds and Utah Consolidated, 1,540,896 pounds. It is estimated that the copper in the matte that was sent out during the month amounted to fully 900,000 pounds.

The Utah dividend record for September was $282,500 as follows: Tetro, $3,000; Uncle Sam, $5,000; Annie Laurie, $12,500; Horn Silver, $20,000; Mammoth, $20,000; Gemini, $50,000; Daly West, $72,000, and Silver King, $100,000.

The cause for the advance on the Salt Lake exchange of May Day of fully 100 per cent the week past and of 400 per cent during the month of September is found in the important strike in the property. The shipments from the mine are being taken out in the course of development, and they bring from $700 to $1,000 a carload. The company recently bought a fraction of a claim adjoining their property for which they are under obligation to pay $2,000. The Western Union Telegraph has decided to extend its lines to the Tonopah camp.

A committee of the San Francisco Mining exchange, after a visit to Tonopah, has reported favorably upon a proposition to list Tonopah stocks.

Last week a ledge was struck in the Tonopah Midway mine which showed a width of 50 feet at the crosscut. The drift is being run in the direction of the Montana and Tonopah extension in the hope of striking the richer ore developed in these mines. The strike is said to be favorable to Golden Anchor prospects, which is controlled by Pittsburgh capital.

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—The market today seemed like the old times back in '98 and '99. All stocks opened strong, with large transactions and continued activity all day, closing at the top. All the traders liquidated at the opening and waited in vain for a chance to get back. This is a real copper market based on strong metal conditions and intrinsic worth in stocks. Copper Range was again the leader in activity, rising two points and closing strong. Atlantic and Allouez became active and are likely to become favorites again. Liquidation in Allouez has ceased. The market in Osceola was very erratic, selling up and down a point every few minutes.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The London tin market was again slightly higher, closing at £129 10s for spot and £128 17s 6d for futures. Locally, however, the market was rather easier as a result, it seemed, of rather freer offerings and a light demand, and spot closed at 28 25@28 45. Copper was unchanged at £58 12s 6d for spot and £59 15s for futures in the London market. Here it remained firm and about unchanged, with lake quoted at $13 00@13 12½; electrolytic at $12 87½@13 00, and casting at $12 62½@12 75. Lead was unchanged at £12 1s 3d in London and at £4 2s 6d 3o in the local market. Spelter was a little lower abroad, closing at £22 12s 6d, while locally it remained unchanged at $5 10@5 20. Iron closed at 50s 0d in Glasgow and at 43s 6d in Middlesboro. Locally iron was unchanged. No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $14 25@14 75; No. 2 foundry northern, at $14 @14 50; No. 1 foundry, southern soft, at $13 75@14 25.

SPECULATIVE SENTIMENT HOPEFULLY INCLINED

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The Herald this (Tuesday) morning says:

Speculative sentiment was hopefully inclined yesterday, which was reflected in a moderate improvement in prices. The movements of the day on the stock exchange were somewhat irregular, stocks receding at the last under the force of realising and distribution sales, after a strong opening and some early sharp advances.

Possibly the impetus at the start was devised for the purpose of sustaining the market in case of any fear on the part of the public arising from Saturday's unfavorable bank statement. Little attention, however, was paid to that feature either in the money or the stock market. Little change was noted in the character of the trading. Professional traders were most conspicuous in the dealings and commission houses complained of lack of public interest. The market itself was somewhat sluggish in the late trading.

Little developed in the way of news during business hours, and such news as did develop had little influence. Railway traffic returns, which came to hand were not important. Advices of the western merchandise movements were of an encouraging nature. After business hours, the really important news of the day developed in the shape of the government monthly crop report.

This gave the condition of corn as of September 1 at 88.9, against 84.6 last month, and 80.8 last year. Estimates of the yield on this percentage range from 2,484,122,540 to 2,463,-724,000 bushels of corn, or one of the largest crops on record. Conditions of wheat also showed up better than the recent pessimistic estimates. The total wheat harvest will be 686,085,000 bushels. This is a short crop, but is an improvement over the recent 600,000,000 bushels estimate.

All the iron and steel issues were strong and active yesterday under the leadership of United States Steel. The strength and activity in that quarter seemed to give impetus to the entire group, and Tennessee Coal and Iron, Republic Iron and Steel, Colorado Fuel and Iron and Sloss-Sheffield all scored good gains. The movement was associated with the improvement reported in trade conditions. Oddly enough, the most enthusiastic reports were put forth by an interest which was conspicuously in error in reporting trade conditions at the time of the reaction in the industry.

TRAGEDY IN REAL LIFE.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—William Jones of Mole Hill, Ritchie county, cut his throat with a razor yesterday in the presence of his brother a wife and died almost instantly. He had but recently been released from the Weston Insane hospital.

About a year ago his son, Creed, was assassinated in his home by some one who crept up to the window at night and shot from outside. A week later Ard Jones killed himself on his brother Creed's grave and left a note confessing that he had killed his brother.

BIG EXCHANGE DEAL REPORTED

SEPTEMBER BREAKS RECORDS

The Summerlea apartment house, one of the best buildings of its kind in the Twentieth ward, figured in a big exchange deal made yesterday through the offices of D. Behan & Son and H. R. Newlin & Co. The apartments are at Summerlea and Ellwood streets on a lot which faces 88 feet in the former and 100 feet in the latter thoroughfare. The building is three stories high, of pressed brick and terra cotta and was erected about three years ago. Title to it will be conveyed from J. T. Russell to Attorney N. A. Means, the consideration being $80,000. The apartments are arranged in six and six room suites, each provided with a bath and all the modern conveniences. The total rental is $8,760 a year, so that the property pays nearly 10 per cent on the price quoted.

In part payment for the apartments there was tendered a large block of vacant frontage in East McKeesport, which, it is reported, will be improved with good houses at once. This deal is another of the long list of transactions this year in which high-class apartment houses have been traded for vacant frontage or houses, the peculiarity of all the deals being that very little cash is transferred. Another deal is now articled for which will mean the disposal of a big apartment house in the East End for a price considerably over $50,000.

Made a Total of $5,077,579.

September broke all records for that month in Pittsburgh in building statistics, the total estimated value of the building improvements distributed by the city building inspector being $5,077,579. September a year ago furnished the next best record, a total of something over $4,000,000. It was in that month that the permit for the brick building was issued which brought up the total, as did the permit for the Carnegie institute addition last month. Besides this a permit was taken out last month for the Phipps store buildings in Sixth street and a large number of apartment houses and warehouses ranging in cost from $30,000 to $50,000. House building was also on the increase, and several lots of 20 or more houses were authorized. With the exception of the one large permit—for the Carnegie institute—the buildings was well distributed and showed a very marked improvement in the general situation.

A total of 214 new buildings were authorized, amounting to $4,969,864; also 50 additions amounting to $88,360, and 67 alterations and repairs, bringing the total to $5,058,224. In March this year 77 more permits were issued, the total being 388 for that month, but the total estimated cost was only $1,228,645. September of 1903 furnished a total of 260 permits for projects to cost $1,644,190. Last month the structures authorized were as follows: Sixty brick, 81 frame, 67 brick veneered, 3 steel construction, 7 brick and steel, 3 stone and brick, 3 ironclad and 1 steel and stone.

Will Build Big Hotel in Ohio.

Pittsburgh capital will shortly be invested in a big hotel at the Ohio magnetic springs in Union county, Ohio. Last year the property, which is well known in Pittsburgh, was purchased by McKee & Galbraith of this city. It is six miles from Delaware, O., and 36 miles from Columbus, by trolley line. One big spring supplies the mineral water which draws hundreds of rheumatics from Ohio and Pennsylvania every year. At present one hotel there accommodates about 200 guests, but it is taxed to an equal number. It is proposed to build a modern four-story hotel which will cost $125,000. Plans for this building are now being drawn by Architect Mills of Columbus, and work on it will be started this winter, it is said.

Contracts for building two schoolhouses in the Eleventh ward, Allegheny, have been awarded by Architects F. J. Osterling and S. T. McClarren to Rose & Fisher. One building will be erected in Shady avenue as an addition to the present building there, and will cost $50,000. The other will be a fireproof addition to the schoolhouse at Davis and Fleming avenues and will cost $40,000.

The board of education of Carnegie will receive bids till October 13 on the erection of a two-story brick addition to the Second ward school.

The foundation work has been started on the $50,000 brick school houses being erected at Bryant and Euclid streets, Bellevue, from plans by Architect W. J. Shaw.

Bought Four East End Houses.

Edward M. Evans has purchased four properties in the Nineteenth ward for a total of $24,700. From David E. Simpson he bought a house on a lot 25x150 feet, on the north side of Rosetta street near North Graham street, for $6,600, and another house on a lot 27x63 feet, on the south side of Rosetta street for $6,500. He secured from James H. Hall an improved property, 25x150.6 feet, on the north side of Rosetta street near North Graham street for $6,000. From Robert W. McKenzie he bought an improved lot, 25x122 feet, on the west side of Kirtland avenue, near Willard avenue, for $5,090.

Franklin township, W. C. Butterfield & Co. sold for George Schmitt to George E. Hutton, 24 acres, improved with a house and barn, in Franklin township, near Perrysville, for $3,500.

Baum street: John F. Stewart sold to the Atlas Land Company an improved lot, 50x120 feet, on the south side of Baum street, Twentieth ward, for $7,500.

Mathilda street: Donald McNeil sold to Louise A. Laurent an improved lot, 21x100 feet, on the west side of Mathilda street, Twentieth ward, for $6,500.

Frankstown avenue: C. M. Harbaugh sold to Kate Aranth an improved lot, 25x120 feet, in Frankstown avenue, near Murtland avenue, Twenty-first ward, for $4,400.

Dauphin street: Joseph J. Lee, of East Liverpool, sold to Patrick L. Sweeney an improved lot, 20x160 feet, on the north side of Dauphin street, near Atlantic avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $2,900.

Kirtland street: Ross J. Cavanaugh sold to Robert W. McKenzie, an improved lot, 25x123 feet, on the west side of Kirtland street, Twenty-second ward, for $3,000.

A permit was granted in Pittsburgh yesterday for a three-story apartment house to be built by Jacob Neff at 6708 Thomas street, to cost $30,000.

The Pittsburgh bureau of building inspection issued a permit yesterday to John White for a frame two-story dwelling in Lime street, Thirtieth ward, to cost $850.

Ellsworth Murphy, superintendent of the Allegheny bureau of building inspection completed his report yesterday for September. During the month 65 building permits were issued for buildings, the aggregate cost of which is put at $210,600. Of the permits issued 17 were for brick buildings, 49 for frame and three for brick veneer. For new houses 54 permits were issued and for additions 15.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices in response to steady cables and moderate receipts, shortly after the opening prices sagged off a partial five points. This was later recovered as buying seemed to become a little more general, and toward the close this demand was accelerated by reports of an advance in one of the brands of package coffee, and the market was finally steady at a net advance of 10@15 points, with sales reported of 38,750 bags. Including November at 6.70c, December, 6.70@6.75c; March, 6.85@7.10c; May, at 7.15@7.25c; July, 7.30@7.35c; August, 7.45c; September, 7.60@7.65c. Spot Rio steady; No. 7 invoice, 8⅝c; mild steady. Sugar—Raw quiet; fair refining, 3⅞c; centrifugal, 96 test, 4¼c; molasses sugar, 3½c; refined, quiet.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—In the drygoods markets buying is still moderate, but the opinion is growing more general that an improvement is bound to be realized in the not far distant future, owing to the large curtailment of production, taken in conjunction with the unusually large business which has been done for export. More interest is shown in the latter section and prices generally are firm.

APPLES ARE PLENTIFUL IN THE LOCAL MARKET

Matters were dull in the local markets yesterday, characteristic of Monday. It always takes the street a day to recover after Sunday. The feature of yesterday was the great receipts of apples and grapes. The grape market is holding steady and dealers differ as to their views of what it will be.

One dealer does not think the bottom will be reached in grapes before the 20th. Another said unless the weather got cooler within the next 48 hours, prices would begin to drop. He based his view on the fact that the weather is admirable for picking and the shippers are getting the fruit off to prevent it rotting on the vines. The result is immense shipments. Should a cold wave happen along, or a rainy spell, which would halt the ripening process, the shipments will slacken and give the market a chance to brace.

Apples are getting plentiful. Forty-one carloads of the fruit arrived yesterday, making 93 in stock. Apples show one of the greatest crops in years this season, and the farmers are overloaded with them. In Lawrence county they are selling at 10 cents a bushel for windfalls, the buyer to gather them. They are in great demand in the city, however, and the price is not likely to break much in the immediate future. While the fruit is cheap on the farms, the farmers are refusing to haul apples to market on the ground that they do not pay for the transportation and work. The cider mills are consequently busy.

There were 86 carloads of grapes in the local market yesterday and still the price remained firm. They were in good demand and dealers had no trouble in handling their stock.

In the grocery lines everything remained the same. Flour is quoted at $6.50 and $6.55, the same as last week. It is probable that a change will come about the last of the week, according to the views of wholesale dealers.

Reports from the several railroad yards in the city showed the following receipts of produce yesterday. Apples, 41 cars, making 93; bananas, 15 cars, making 20; cabbage, 18, making 44; cantalopues, 1, making 6; celery, 2, making 8; grapes 24, making 86; lemons, 2, onions, 4, making 22; oranges, 1; peaches, 1, making 11; potatoes, 30, making 90; sweet potatoes, 4, making 13; California fruits, 1, making 5; miscellaneous, 17, making 24.

HAY AND GRAIN.

RECEIPTS.

Receipts of hay, grain and feed at the several railroad yards yesterday were as follows: Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 10 cars hay, 1 car wheat, 6 cars oats, 1 car rye. Baltimore & Ohio, 1 car bran, 4 cars oats, 17 cars hay. Pennsylvania lines, 46 cars hay, 25 cars oats, 8 cars feed, 5 cars rye, 1 car wheat, 3 cars corn, 3 cars straw.

Hay and grain were in plentiful supply yesterday but the market held firm nevertheless. Hay showed no change, although the receipts were heavy, while yellow shelled corn and high mixed moved up a little. Straw, both wheat and oat, went down a half. The rye market remained steady and the quotations of last week still prevail.

Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe Revive Shakespeare's Old Love Tragedy at the Nixon.

Very many conditions conspired at the Nixon theater last night to give the first dramatic event of the season in that house very brilliant prestige. The coming of the dual star Shakespearean revival marks really the opening of the Nixon's season, and in order to give emphasis to this fact the house discarded its summer garb of cretonne, and with burnished globes and the richly luxuriant plush as a background for the splendid audience, made a picture of beauty and animation. It would be hardly fair to say that the audience, though a satisfyingly large one, was entirely representative. Not all the first-nighters were there, but a goodly gathering was assembled by the magic of two names in dramatic lore that have for years been almost household words. With Shakespeare's immortal love tragedy as the opening play, and E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe as the love-stricken children of the opposing houses of Montague and Capulet, the promise was quite sufficient to give the intelligent lover of the drama genuine thrills of anticipation. It is a difficult task to determine in how far these thrills were realized. Certainly there was nothing lacking in the warmth and cordiality with which the audience greeted its favorites. Both Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe were called again and again to the footlights, while that finely equipped actor, W. H. Crompton, and Mrs. Sol Smith's nurse, with its ripened art and gentle affection, were given almost as cordial a welcome.

The production is undoubtedly an impressive one. It marks the vigorous and ambitious art impulses of the younger generation of players. There is attention to detail, it is true, and much evidence of trained skill in the accuracy of ensemble effects. There is displayed, also, a creditable effort to restore the text and save from mutilation some of the finer of the old passages and scenes. This is commendable in some of its results and less praiseworthy in others. For instance, the restoration of the prologue with the accurate and scholarly reading given it by Mr. Crompton is a treat and serves to give a new touch of dignity to the events that follow in such rapid and tragic order. The broadening of the first street scene in which the hate of the two embittered houses is more clearly and succinctly set forth is also an aid to clearer understanding. The division of the acts into scenes does not always serve a good purpose, however, and the constant use of the big monogramed plush curtains is confusing and breaks rather gaudily in upon the thread of the story at too many places. This of course is necessary with the present arrangement of scenes, but I confess to being old-fashioned enough in the art tastes to prefer a steadier holding to the purposes of the player's art—the consistent revelation of the story. It is better even that a scene be eliminated or there be a quick merger of one scene into another, after the old style, than that we be constantly forced to gaze suddenly upon an expanse of plush curtain when thought and attention are riveted upon the thread of the story.

But these are minor defects in a production that is so rich and beautiful in its general aspects as to be a revelation of artistic thought, skill and industry. The time-honored balcony scene with its aroma of tender sentiment and dawning tragedy is shown in truly beautiful guise. It has taken modern stage craft to transform old Capulet's gloomy garden into a bower of apple blossoms, over the wall of which the daring Romeo climbs in full sight of the audience. This touch of modern elegance and richness is found again and again, not to the help of the text, of course, but as a setting for love scenes than which there are no more intense and tragic in all human literature. It is the gift that the new school of stage art has bestowed upon the master drama of an age when decorations were not available, nor, indeed, were thought to be necessary aids in the expression of the acted story. I have at this length commended the general impression of the production because it is one of the things that will dwell longest in the minds of those who witness this latest revival of the plays of Avon. If anachronisms creep into these latter-day scenic investitures what can be said in blame so long as they conform in richness and luxury so nearly with our modern ideas of stage pictures. It would be unkind, certainly in the present instance, to say that elaborateness of dress and electric shading serve to temper our sense of loss of the old scholarship and repose, the old certainty of portrayal. Perhaps we imagine these things to have existed where they did not. At any rate, the present genius for doing things richly and well and yet never broadly sacrificing the true spirit and touch of the dramatist, is found to a satisfying degree in this production of Romeo and Juliet.

When I leave the discussion of the inanimate aids to perfection in the present revival and turn to the human factors upon whom depend the real greatness of the production, I confess to mingled feelings of positive exhilaration and the most distressing disappointment. It is worth exulting over the fact that Mr. Sothern gives us the best Romeo of modern times. It is histrionically great, and, much to my surprise, is in temperament and spirit full of gracious charm and accurate reading. Here is a Romeo who seizes the key to the life of Shakespeare's despairing young lover, and from almost the first moment of his appearance to the last scene in the tomb develops consistently, step by step, the evolutions in a character that other Romeos have simply made sentimental moonshine mandlin. Mr. Sothern's Romeo, if it err at all, errs on the side of a too thorough and scholarly attention to the psychology of the role. There are here and there touches of a too subjective mind for one so rash as the young lover of Verona. But in all those respects that go to give us a manly lover, a passionate one, at times, and again the husband filled with despair and anguish, Mr. Sothern excels. His reading is sometimes a little strained, but even in this particular he surprises by the gracefulness of his utterance. The thought and feeling of the moment overflow into the cadences of his voice, and never has the modern stage heard love passages given with greater poetry of sound. Mr. Sothern is Romeo better, far better, than even his most ardent admirer could have prophesied.

I wish I could give a like meed of praise to the Juliet of his love scenes last night, and here is where disappointment is the keenest. It was Miss Julia Marlowe who only a few years ago created in the public mind the hope that Shakespeare's fair women would live on the modern stage so long as a Marlowe lived to give them form and expression. Her Juliet of today is still sweet and alluring, but all the old repose, the old certainty of charm and manner has been lost in the melodramatic schooling through which the actress has been called upon to go. Juliet now spreads out her hands in meaningless gesture. She whispers in sibilant, tense, melodramatic whispers and the old archness is too often lost in the evident striving for that effect. What is it that has thus robbed us of the best Juliet the stage has had since Mary Anderson deserted the footlights? It is not the loss of the power to simulate youth, for in this particular I saw no appreciable change in Miss Marlowe's impersonation last night. It was rather more in the absence of repose, in a loss of the old charm of reading and the old sureness of portrayal. If it be that "Knighthood," "The Cavalier" and "Colinette" have really been responsible for this change, then have we a mightier grudge against them than that they were unworthy vehicles for our whilom queen of Shakespeare.

The supporting cast was, with the exception of Mrs. Smith, Mr. Crompton and Rowland Buckstone, only fair and in one or two instances, positively mediocre. Mr. Hunter's Mercutio was both good and bad. His reading of the Queen Mab speech was unsatisfactory and amateurish, though later in the duel scene with Tybalt, he redeemed himself. The subordinate roles were pitched on too high a key for Mr. Sothern's Romeo, and there was altogether too much shouting and strenuous speech to chime harmoniously with the quiet beauty of the spirit of Romeo. The play was long, running to nearly 12 o'clock, but it was, in all the particulars I have named, well worth the time. Romeo and Juliet will be repeated this evening.

CHARLES M. BREGG.

Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe in Shakespeare's Comedy

IN A NUTSHELL

NIXON—Shakespeare splendidly put forward. A new and finer Romeo.

AVENUE—Comedy that comes close to farce. Will be better acted later on.

DUQUESNE—Capital musical comedy and—best of all—clean.

EMPIRE—Fine, old melodrama. Well played.

The performances yesterday of R. C. Carton's amusing comedy by the Davis stock company give promise of something better later on in the week. It is astonishing how difficult it is to give a semblance of reality to comedy scenes when the actors are American born and bred and the situations and humor are both British to the core. This is the difficulty at the Avenue, but such excellence, skill and intelligence will conquer the difficulty later on, no doubt, when the players can study portrayal rather than be always grasping for lines. In the case of "Lord and Lady Algy" there are two other difficulties in the way of the stock company. One is the fact that William Faversham, a Britisher born, has set the pace in the leading role; the other is that Carton's work is very hard to save from farce, and an unpracticed player in light comedy is always in danger of making a farce out of it.

Having noted these defects it is only fair to say that Mr. Courtenay plays Lord Algy with clever independence of Mr. Faversham and makes it amusing. In the supper scene Mr. Courtenay does not create quite so broad an illusion in respect to drunkenness. Few actors can pretend to be drunk with perfect simulation. Miss Kennark is admirable as Lady Algy. This admirable actress proves with every new character her charming versatility. Mr. Dailey's Bobazon Trudway suffers perhaps little from the disposition of the actor to make it farcical. The performance is also a little strained and pitched on too high a key. Mr. Wyngate makes an excellent Lord Quarmby. His peculiar deliberateness suits the part exactly and it is one of the best things he has done. Miss Alice Gale, in the funny role of Mrs. Vokings, with her amusing shepherdess make-up, contributes no little to the hilarity of the piece. One of the best things of the cast is the excellent portrayal of the role of Mrs. Tudway, "Flagy Dream," by Miss Margaret Dills. It is a capital piece of acting. Mr. McVay is sufficient, though a little older in make-up than is necessary, as the duke. Mr. Paulding's Mawley is another well-played part. This role is difficult to play, though by no means talkative.

The settings are handsome, and when the supernumeraries get more thoroughly into the picture, the comedy will be well put forward.

Duquesne—"The Errand Boy."

"The Errand Boy" brings a big bundle of surprises to the patrons of the Duquesne. He came without a herald of trumpets, but he delivered the goods last night and made 2,000 people happy. Billy B. Van carries the receipt book and takes signatures of those to whom he gives such generous packages of good humor, but he has a worthy retinue of assistants. Although it has been on the road less than three weeks it will doubtless be classed as the best balanced musical comedy of the year. Billy is no procrastinating errand boy. He is by no means slow and everything around him moves with a rush. The action of three lively acts has been compressed into two, and it is not surprising that the final curtain drops with a goodly portion of the company still before the proscenium arch so busy had they been and so absorbed in their work that they did not notice that they had wandered beyond the prescribed line of the footlights. "The Errand Boy" is the work of George Totten Smith. It has a typical musical comedy plot and environment that recalls George Ade's "Peggy from Paris," but the piece in every respect surpasses Ade's comedy. The exterior of a country grocery, the broad sides of barn doors and distant hayfields form the scene painter's scheme in the first act, and backwoods attire with backwoods manners are burlesqued in the most side-splitting manner. It is "rural" comedy in everything but the proverbial country drowsiness. Van used to be adjudged a first-class comedian when he did the variety and the continuous circuits, but give him good support and he is vastly better. The worst thing that could be said of him is that he has a suggestion of Harry Clay Blaney's gibberish, but he does things in his own original way and improves every opportunity to make his audiences glad they came to see him. Miss Rose Beaumont, who played important roles with Weber and Fields for three seasons, seems to be in more congenial company. Always a young woman of fascinating beauty, she sings with more spirit and shows the results of her liberation from the vulgarity that always characterizes Weberfieldian productions. Miss Blanch Latell has created a unique part of a country girl which drove last night's audiences into hysterics of laughter. Miss Florinne Sweetman, a dainty comedienne, puts new side lights on the "female detective," and Miss Edith Hart is a winsome and strikingly energetic soubret. Clem Bevins, as the village constable, has a masterpiece of Yankee makeup and plays the part with a fidelity to the character that would become even more dignified comedy. The music is new and several of the airs are certain to become popular. The dances are arranged for the most picturesque effect and the finale in the first act is an effective piece of novelty. All this is aided by bright costumes of fetching design. Altogether "The Errand Boy" is a welcome sojourner in Pittsburgh.

Grand—Vaudeville.

Two leading attractions are presented in the Grand vaudeville bill this week in Emmett Corrigan and Company and Lafayette, the impersonator and magician. Mr. Corrigan's sketch is a realistic picture of the inside workings of the race track world and the leading character—a jockey—was portrayed in an excellent manner by him. In addition to a good plot of love and pathos, a big mechanical setting of a dashing horse race scene adds to the interest. Lafayette, who is usually seen as an individual attraction, exhibited all his old cleverness in bewildering character changes and magic. Funny Charley Case, the blackface monologue man, and Josephine Gassman and her pickaninnies, and Jules and Ella Garrison are all attractions of the first class and pleased as well as ever. The rest of the bill is long and interesting, and includes acrobatics, trapeze work, juggling, singing and dancing and comedy sketches. One of the very best bills the Grand has had.

Empire—"At the Old Cross Roads."

"At the Old Cross Roads" drew a large house at the Empire last night. The performance while purely melodramatic throughout was free from cheap sensationalism and has an intelligent plot. The scenes are laid in the south before the war. Dayton Thornton, a plantation owner given over to oppressing his daughter by a second wife, denounces her as a negress on the day of her betrothal and meanwhile plots for the transfer of her possessions to a daughter by his first marriage. James M. Brophy, as Doc Kerr, a Mississippi steamboat gambler enacted his role with naturalness and freedom that was commendable; W. Bourke Sullivan, as Dayton Thornton took every advantage of his possibilities and Evelyn Selbie as the second wife and Gertrude O'Malley, as the suffering daughter, were well received. The stage settings are above the ordinary found in similar productions and the atmosphere of ante-bellum days prevails at all times.

Bijou—"Wedded, But No Wife."

Miss Selma Herman in the leading role makes any play much like the old-fashioned melodrama. The actress adheres to the old school and is not carried away with artificial mannerisms that go hand-in-hand with present day sensationalism. It is to be regretted that she is starred in a play that needed a suggestive title to attract the crowd to the box office. Miss Herman is good enough to please any lover of melodrama and the title might as well have been anything else. Sensational stage effects are tabooed in this attraction. There is no buzz saw, no tank, no wild animals, no trip hammer and a minimum of shooting. There is a very realistic snow storm scene and some very realistic confetti is sifted down upon the stage. With church choir music, however, this is an absolute relief and Miss Herman's emotional work has really an artistic setting. The support is excellent. James A. Heenan makes a thoroughly despised villain and Edward A. McHugh and Joseph King do comedy turns that are very much out of the ordinary rut. The other characters are in capable hands.

The Star—Vaudeville.

Large audiences attended the three evening performances at the cozy Star theater at Penn avenue and Butler street last night and goodly crowds witnessed both matinees. The bill is a varied one and introduces Strand and Strand in a Celtic sketch, their dancing being especially clever; Elizabeth Miller, who is a great favorite with Star audiences, this being her second week here in five weeks, possesses a finely cultivated contralto voice and is heard to advantage in some beautifully illustrated songs. The musical portion of the program is supplied by Dan Regan who plays on various instruments in a skillful manner. Maurice, a magician, does much that is mystifying, many of his experiments being new to Pittsburghers. An assortment of moving pictures by the Starograph completes this week's offering. This program will continue throughout the week at 2:30 and 3:30 matinees, and at 7:30, 8:30 and 9:30 every evening. Beginning next Monday the evening performances will open half an hour earlier—7, 8 and 9 o'clock.

Academy—Fay Foster Company.

After a show last week that rivaled the tunefulness and brilliant costumes of a first-class musical comedy, the Fay Foster company opened yesterday with an attraction that suffered in every respect by which comparisons could be drawn. Without a single new joke, with a chorus that moved about the stage like automatons and sang like phonographs and with old scenes and prosaic costumes, it makes a stupid entertainment. There are good people among the principals in the company, but they have little opportunity to show what they can do. The only redeeming feature in the performance is in the olio, and it is only ordinary. It might have been a novelty 40 years ago, but since the same tricks have been given to variety patrons ever since the Pullman car was placed on wheels, it is a late day to try to amuse people with this sort of fun even in popular priced houses. The show is the poorest that has been at the Academy in many months. Capt. Keller's zouave girls gave some evolutions that are familiar to patrons of summer carnivals; Arthur Yule sang well, Cunningham and Smith did some clever stunts, and Eddie Burns proved that some day he will be a good vaudeville actor, but beyond these there are few who anything out of the ordinary.

One of the "All Star" Cast.

Grace George, who is a distinguished member of the all-star company of the "Two Orphans," has been starring at the head of her own company for the past five years. She made her first appearance as a star at the Manhattan theater, New York, in a play called "Her Majesty." This was followed later on by "Under Southern Skies" at the Republic theater in New York. The latter play enjoyed a run of six months in the metropolis. Miss George afterwards took it on the road. Last season Miss George produced a dramatization of Peg Woffington, called "Pretty Peggy."

A Goodwin Play.

Milton Royle's comedy drama, "My Wife's Husbands," which was so well liked in Pittsburgh last season, when Mr. N. C. Goodwin presented it here for the first time, will be the attraction at the Avenue theater next week, with Mr. William Courtenay and Miss Jane Kennark in the leads, assisted by the full strength of the Harry Davis Stock Company, together with a production of unusual beauty.

Fortune Telling

does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness—womanly health. There is many a woman whose future seems absolutely unclouded who is marked by her own condition for future disappointment and distress.

The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dross.

Womanly health may be retained or regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I have taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Miss M. Fyfe, of Orilla, Simcoe Co., Ontario, "and two bottles of the 'Pleasant Pellets' as you advised for congestion of uterus, ovaries, and weakness, and can safely say that your medicine has been the means of restoring me to good health again which I had not had for over three years, until taking your medicine. I thank you very much for your kind and prompt attention to my letter asking advice."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

ALL THE EASTERN LINES ARE NOW ENJOYING INCREASED TRAFFIC

Traffic officials of all the eastern lines report a marked increase in the volume of freight of all kinds except grain. Nearly every road could use more cars if it had them, but there is a real scarcity of equipment only in a few cases.

Whatever shrinkage there has been in the grain and flour traffic has been made up on other classes of freight. The volume of traffic last week was decidedly larger than during the previous week, and little if any decrease is expected this week. Industrial activity is especially marked and there will be heavier shipments from the iron and steel mills. There have been temporary shortages of coal cars. In the Pittsburgh district the merchandise shipments have been very heavy, in fact consist what they were six weeks ago. The ore traffic the past month has been the heaviest on record.

All local officials report increased shipments, which bears out the prediction made in this column several weeks ago that the fall shipments would be exceedingly heavy and that before the end of the year the roads would have made up for the depression which visited the railroads the early part of the year.

Want Passes for Franchises.

The people of Missouri will vote in November on a constitutional amendment requiring all railroad or transportation companies doing business in the state to grant passes or transportation to the state officers, judges of all the courts, members of the general assembly and the superintendents or presidents of state institutions supported by appropriations. Failure to issue such transportation will be cause for the forfeiture of the charter of the road if the proposed amendment to the constitution is adopted.

Improving Passenger Equipment.

Officials of the Pennsylvania lines are arranging for the installation of new passenger equipment on a number of its through trains. The first step in this direction will be taken on the Ohio river division between Pittsburgh and Kenova. The trains of that division will be composed of new standard coaches and Pullman cars, commencing October 15. The cars have chairs and have just been turned out of the Pullman shops.

Car Service Report.

The fourteenth annual report of the Philadelphia Car Service association for the year ending September 1, has just been issued. It shows that the total number of cars handled during the year was 1,652,287, a decrease of over 10 per cent, compared with 1903. The total collections were $160,057 47, being a decrease of $31,838 34. Net collections were $158,445 30, and cost of operating association, $82,661 17.

New Manager for C. H. & D.

J. B. Yohe, general superintendent of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, who yesterday rounded out his twenty-first year with the road, received a large batch of congratulations from friends.

CURE OF WEAKNESS.

Bernarr McFadden, editor of "Physical Culture" and "Beauty and Health" lectured to an audience of over 1,600 people in Pittsburgh Carnegie Music hall last evening on "The Cause and Cure of Weakness." Mr. McFadden's lecture was illustrated by several of his best known exercises, including the proper method of breathing and walking. He advised the discontinuance of alcohol and tobacco, narcotics or stimulants of all kinds, and a thorough flushing of the body during sickness with water. He claimed disease of all kinds is but an attempt on the part of the body to cleanse itself, and that no person should suffer with disease if they would only follow the common dictates of nature by proper exercise, proper breathing and eating, and the proper use of clothing and water.

His Shot Proved Fatal.

FRANKLIN, PA., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Thomas Crane, a prominent resident of Utica, aged 30, died this morning from a self-inflicted bullet wound, received last week. Suffering from ill health he attempted to take his life by shooting himself in the heart. The bullet, after piercing the left lung, lodged in the muscles of the back. He leaves a widow and five children.

The Shoe that Fits

1/4 SIZES

We didn't make Regals in quarter sizes upon mere theory.

We know, and you know, that the old-fashioned half sizes make the fitting of shoes mere guess work. There is no certainty about it. If you are fitted—well and good; if you aren't—wrinkles or pinching—corns, callouses, discomfort.

Quarter sizes make every fit perfect. Here are 288 different fittings in every one of our 75 handsome new Fall models. The variation between one length or width and the next is almost a hair's breadth. Combining these with the great variety of shapes, we can fit any foot with the neatness and comfort of a shoe really made to measure.

We don't ask you to take our word for it until we have clinched the argument by actually fitting you.
